The Borden train was about three hours late due to heavy drifts arriving in the city at 10 o'clock. The Georgetown train which left at midnight to be stuck somewhere between Mount Stewart and Cardigan. The Murray Harbor train leaving the city yesterday afternoon at 3.30 was snowbound at the same hour near Hermitage.

The western train leaving here for Summerside at 2 o'clock was reported in heavy snow drifts between Freetown and Kensington. No trains at time of writing were moving west of Summerside.

An impressive ceremony took place on Sunday afternoon at the Prince County Hospital in the presence of the staff and a large group of citizens, when a Memorial Tablet was unveiled and presented to the hospital by the Ven. Archbishop of Halifax, on behalf of his many friends. In Memory of Margaret M. Green, who, giving her life in the epidemic of 1918, put on the charity which is the bond of perfectness Col. 13:14.

The late Father John C. MacMillan, D.D., was one of the most eminent clergymen of the Province of Charlottetown. Although for some time previous to his death he had been in retirement, yet he filled a very large place in the work of the church of which he was an honored member and possibly no superior. On great occasions, when he was in the enjoyment of good health, he was invariably called upon to deliver the address of honor. His originality of thought and felicity of expression touched the hearts and brought out a response from his audiences such as few orators ever attain. As a popular speaker he was in a class by himself. With a ready genuine wit, and a thorough appreciation of humor, he could illustrate and illuminate whatever he had to say with telling stories and apt quotations. No one could interrupt Father MacMillan without getting better than he gave, as he was a master of repartee, and some of his rejoinders will long be remembered by those who heard them as well as those who effected them. Father MacMillan was a native of Ireland and was educated in the shape of notes on his entry into the Prince of Wales College in 1881-2 he entered the Royal Seminary of Quebec for a course in philosophy. At the completion of his philosophical course he returned to Charlottetown to take up a position on the faculty of St. Dunstan's for a year. In the Fall of 1884 he entered the Grand Seminary of Quebec, where he remained for four years, to complete his theological course. On Dec. 22, 1888, he was ordained to the priesthood, returning to Prince Edward Island, afterwards to serve as curate with his venerable pastor, Father Francis. After recuperating from delicate condition occasioned by his strenuous studies at Laval, Father MacMillan returned and sustained a thesis in theology before the Faculty of the University with distinction, and received his degree of Doctor of Divinity, summa cum laude. Dr. MacMillan was regarded as one of the brightest minds that had passed through the Seminary. While engaged in the active ministry he completed his history of the only by his unusual ability in dealing with all questions, theological and otherwise, but by his evident sincerity as well. In his case, unfortunately, the dynamo was in fact in too frail a frame to be able to weather the storms and stress of the work and climate in which his life's work was cast. His first pastorate was at Palmer Road where he completed the exterior of the church but now almost that section of the country. After laboring successfully there for a comparatively short time, failing health necessitated a change and he was transferred to All Saints Parish, Cardigan, where he labored for nearly a quarter of a century, and gained laurels as a preacher, and orator, and writer. It was during his pastorate there that he completed his history of the Parish Church in Prince Edward Island, in two volumes, an invaluable work which contains not only an authoritative resume of the development of the diocese, but also gives a great deal of valuable information about the province generally which otherwise would have been lost. After nearly twenty-five years' service in that parish, where health necessitated his retirement, and since then he had been resident in the city, from time to time giving his services for the church and the community when called upon. Upon the death of Rev. Dr. MacMillan, the Scottish pioneers at Scotchfort, it was Rev. Dr. MacMillan to whom was entrusted the duty of preparing a memorial record of the emigration which he performed to the satisfaction of all concerned. When it was decided to organize a branch of the Knights of Columbus here, Rev. Father MacMillan threw himself enthusiastically into the project and to him is largely due the credit of successfully launching and developing this organization here. He was elected Chancellor shortly after his inauguration and was re-elected annually ever since. Father MacMillan will be missed probably more than any other pastor in the diocese, as he served for four distinct and was familiar with the work of every parish and had his history at his finger ends.

Sleep is Nature's Nerve Restorer

"THAT may be very true," you say, "but that is just," the trouble I cannot sleep." And that is just why we are going to tell you about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which is generally conceded to be the greatest of nerve restoratives. It is not a sleep producer in the sense of being a narcotic. But it does naturally and gradually restore the worn-out nervous system and in a few days you find yourself enjoying sound, restful sleep. Sleeplessness is, perhaps, the most outstanding symptom of nervous exhaustion. Without sleep there is no chance of replacing at night the nerve force used up during the day in the activities of life.

Without such aid as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you are doomed to physical bankruptcy. By using this treatment and taking as much rest as possible you will very soon find yourself on the highway to health. But a little patience is necessary. A condition which has been years in developing cannot be overcome in a day. Of one thing you can be certain and that is that with each dose of the nerve food you are supplying to the blood and nerves the elements of nature which are essential for the restoration of the human system. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 60 cts., all dealers or The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto 2, Canada.
