Lloyd George

The debate was started by J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the Opposition, who offered a vote of censure of the Government. Mr. MacDonald said that over a third of the unemployed were from the engineering and other metal trades, and shipbuilding, cotton and distributing trades. The engineering and iron and steel trades in the first nine months of 1923 had imported goods to the value of £19,000,000 and exported to the amount of £24,000,000. Tariff reform in such conditions offered no help for the unemployed. Bringing agriculture with £11,000,000 annually, he asserted, was of doubtful legality. Altogether today's session was a tame affair, contrasting sharply with other historic days when other Prime Ministers have had to expound policies of vital importance to the nation's destinies.

Meighen Sees Benefit

The past has already demonstrated that. As a direct result, Hon. Mr. Meighen was certain that an adoption of British preference for manufactured goods on a large scale would mean the immediate influx of factories into Canada from the United States, for the big industrial operators across the line would be keen to take advantage of the preference.

LARGE SHIPMENTS TO CUBA.

The Munson Line steamer Ubbergen sailed from here yesterday for Havana, Cuba, with a cargo of 37,500 bushels of potatoes and 1,000 bales of hay loaded by R. E. Mutch & Co., N. Rattenbury, Ltd., and H. Phillips and the Ward Line steamer Jakob Maersk is due in port today to load a similar cargo for the same shippers. The above firms are to be commended for their efforts in securing this valuable export business which is of great value to this province at the present time when there is so little local demand for potatoes and as the U. S. markets are cut off by the high tariff against Canadian potatoes. They complain very much about the congested conditions of the Railway Yards here owing to lack of accommodation for handling cars.

Pythian Bridge.

The Charlottetown Temple, Pythian Sisters, held a most enjoyable bridge party at Castle Hall last evening which was very largely attended. Mrs. W. C. Moore and Mrs. Wilfred Wright received. The Pythian Sisters have but recently organized here and last night's entertainment was their first social event. Further entertainments are being looked forward to with much interest and pleasure.

City Council Meeting

Your committee would recommend the following: The City Council give their sanction and approval of putting down the proposed rails, providing the city has the legal right so to do. And that safe-guards be made and provided in said permit, that the matter of laying the tracks shall not be any cost or charges at any time to the city, before or after the proposed tracks are laid. And also provided, if the proposal is carried out, ample provision shall be made on each side of Great George Street and along the north side of Lower Water Street, to carry off the storm water which now flows down the street, and is carried off by open gutter. On Great George Street by the construction of two (2) catch basins with iron grating inlets, and provided with outlet pipes of sufficient size and length, so as to carry the water to the river.

Fence Reservoir To Chancellor Stresemann

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A suicide-proof fence around the Central Park reservoir, favorite plunge for persons tired of it all, is planned by the city. The board of estimate will be asked to appropriate $82,000 to build the barrier.

Lord Curzon's Beauty prize

(By Dominion News Service.) LONDON, Nov. 16.—The pictures of three women, who in the heyday of their youth were accounted the most beautiful of society's leaders, form the subject of an intriguing little story in Lord Curzon's book, "Tales of Travel," just published. The scene is set in a "dark" bungalow in Northern India which was christened by the young Army officers who used to pass that way "The Pig and Whistle." Lord Curzon met a cheery company in the mess room of the bungalow and writes of it as follows: "I noticed on the bespattered walls of this primitive hostelry were pinned a series of portraits of famous English beauties, cut from the pages of illustrated newspapers. "There I saw the likenesses of a number of great ladies, whom I knew well in England—Georgina Countess of Dudley, Millicent Duchess of Sutherland, Lady Warwick, and others. "Each visitor had written his name in pencil against the portrait which he thought the most beautiful, thus offering his humble and innocuous tribute to Venus. "When I arrived the result was a tie between the three principal competitors, and upon my revealing that I knew the subject of all the portraits, I was invited to append my name to the most lovely, and so to award the apple. "I did so, but to whom I gave the prize I have never revealed nor would wild horses now induce me to reveal. It remains a secret buried for ever in the unwritten records of "The Pig and Whistle" at Banjil, in the Himalayan Mountains."

Great Composer To use Jazz

LONDON, Nov. 16.—"The only popular music the world knows today is American. I used Jazz" in serious compositions years before it ever became popular as dance music, Edward Elgar said today. "You will probably find a 'blues' dance in my next opera. The fox-trot it to the world of to-day what the minot was to the Court of Louis XVI. It is a great mistake to despise it." M. Maurice Ravel, the greatest living French composer, thus expressed his views on the "banana" school of music. He recently conducted a special concert of his own music at Queen's Hall. "Sir Edward Elgar, although great, is not a typically English musician," he said. "There has been no English music since the eighteenth century until the recent work of Lord Berners, Bax, and particularly Vaughan Williams. "London is too cosmopolitan a city to inspire such a vague art as music. But Newcastle was indeed a great inspiration to me. I visited several factories near the Tyne, and shall not forget the impression of beauty and force made on me by the marvellous machinery. then has to be put in quarantine for six months. That means payment to keep the dog at a veterinary surgeon's, and there is no one to accept the responsibility. The dog, therefore, remains tied up on the deck. The harbour men give it food, but it barks most appealingly when anyone passes the ship and its eyes plead as plainly as possible, "Please give me a run."

Dog Imprisoned On Derelict Ship

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Considerable feeling has been aroused at Dover by reason of the fact that he is the heir of the Earl of Southesk. The Princess is a daughter of Prince Royal Louise, widow of the Duke of Fife, who is a sister of King George. Queen Mary and the members of the Royal family and a large number of distinguished persons witnessed the marriage, which took place in the chapel of the Guards of the Wellington barracks.

FAREWELL RECEPTION

A large number of the people of Bedouque and surrounding country gathered in the Hall at Central Bedouque on Tuesday evening Nov. 13th to pay their respects and to give a farewell reception to Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Phillips who are soon to leave the Bank of Nova Scotia at Bedouque to take up their residence in Summerside. The chair was occupied by Rev. N. A. Whitman, Pastor of the Baptist Church of Central Bedouque. A short programme of music was rendered consisting of solos by Miss Sophie Henderson of Centreville, Mr. Noseworthy of the Bank staff, Mr. J. B. Lewis of Freeport and Mr. Gordon McCallum of Lower Bedouque. These selections were beautifully rendered and much appreciated. The chairman, on behalf of the communities represented read the following address and presented Mr. and Mrs. Phillips with a purse of over one hundred dollars. The address was as follows: Dear Mr. and Mrs. Phillips and son Lloyd: It is with very deep regret that we have learned of your early departure from us; though you stay in Bedouque has not been a long one, it has been long enough to form very tender ties of friendship between ourselves and you, and also to acquaint us with a sense of the value which you have brought to our community and of the loss which we are to sustain in your separation from us. We have learned to regard you as practically essential to every phase and department of our community life, and we realize that your going will leave a vacancy which will be very difficult, if not impossible, to fill. Mr. Phillips, you have proven yourself a leader in the realm of sport, and your efforts along this line have been greatly appreciated; you have also filled a prominent and important place in the business affairs of this, and surrounding districts, and have, in this respect, found a large place in the affections and esteem of the people because of your kindly disposition, your unselfish efforts to assist all who have sought your counsel and advice, and your willingness to sewe the public at almost any hour of the day or night. You have also won the respect and confidence of all by your honesty of purpose, and by your integrity and uprightness of character. We feel, therefore, that in your going away, we are losing not only a friend, but one who will be greatly missed in all departments of our community life and spirit.

Germany Arming Declares Foch

(Canadian Press) PARIS, Nov. 16.—Marshal Foch, who was present at the meeting of the Ambassadors' Council today, made a statement regarding military activities in Germany. He gave details of Germany's armament preparations, declaring that the Reichswehr had been increased far in excess of the effectiveness permitted and that the manufacture of war materials had been resumed in unoccupied Germany. Quantities of material had been ordered abroad, notably in Russia. Without being alarming at the present time, said Marshal Foch, these proceedings nevertheless were a menace which might become grave in the future.

WOLVES HAVE BECOME SERIOUS MENACE IN PARTS OF MISSOURI

(Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—Wolves are more of a menace this year than they have been within the last 40 years and the state and federal governments have combined to exterminate them. So troublesome have they become to livestock and poultry that a special appropriation of $15,000 for fighting them was made by the state. The biological survey of the Department of Agriculture is co-operating and bearing part of the expense of wolf trappers. The government has sent an inspector to select trappers, plan and direct their work and to receive requests from counties needing assistance. "Missouri wolf No. 1" was killed near Rolla, Phelps county, early in September, and since then wolves have been trapped in other counties.
