A Dutch Auction!

EVER hear of a "Dutch Auction" --Know what it is?
We are inaugurating one today in this store.
The idea is this:

An article is placed on sale ticketed at regular selling price. Each day it remains unsold its price is rdeuced a stated amount. That's a "Dutch Auction." For instance. with $20.00 as a starting price, next day's price would be $19.00, and so on, until the article is snapped up by somebody afraid to wait for further reductions for fear somenody else, equally interested, would secure it.

Now, then, here you are!

Our East window contains a handsome 3 piece parlor suite. It's regular price is $25.00. It's price reduces $1.00 each day until sold. Today's price is $23.00.

Our West window contains another very elegant 3 piece parlor suite. The regular price is $65.00 and it reduces $2.00 each day it remains unsold. To-day's price is $61.00

THE ROSS RIFLE.

One of the hardest things for the general public to find out is the true amount of merit and demerit of the Ross rifle, which is being manufactured at Quebec on a large scale for arming the Canadian militia. It cannot be said to have met with unqualified approval by the officers and men who nave used it, and in some cases the objections have been so many and so grave as to amount to a practical refusal. On the other hand there are those who assert that it is one of the very best rifles extant. The Government has been strongly censured from time to time for having made advances to the Ross Rifle Company far in excess of what are justified by the contract, and this is now forming the public to find out is the precise subject of investigation by the Public Accounts Committee at Ottawa.

From the testimony of Col. Wurtele, formerly in the employ of the Company, but since last September acting for the Government, it appears that the Company has expended $1,250,000 in its plant over $900,000 in wages and $300,000 in materials and expenses. The Government had advanced in all $1,186,776, and had already received and accepted 33,000 rifles, while 2,000 more are waiting inspection, 2,500 to 3,000 are complete in the factory and the balance of the contract are ready to put together. Col. Wurtele further stated that the delays in providing the rifles within the terms of the contract were caused by the many changes ordered by the Government, over eighty distinct changes having been made, which involved a practical reorganisation of the machinery. The Company had been entitled to a further order from the Government in September but had not got it, and unless it came to hand the factory would be closed in the spring.

Col. Wurtele admitted that wherever he had met an English army officer he had met gn enemy of the Ross Rifle Company, but attributed this to the rivalry of English arm manufacturers, and affirmed that but for the changes and interference the company would now be making rifles for other colonies. It seems highly desirable that Canada should be able to make her own small arms, and it would be regrettable to have so important an industry closed, the want of which in a warlike emergency might prove most serious. But behind this lies the important and unsettled question of the real merits of the Ross rifle. We want the best, and if we are not getting it in the thirty or forty thousand rifles already made and paid for a huge and costly blunder has been made.

At a recent election in Newton Abbott, England, a Chamberlain defeated a Liberal. This will please some Canadian advocates of the Chamberlain policy. But if Britain hereafter becomes a prolectionist country, will it not involve the imposition of duties on Canadian products in the end?—with, of course, higher duties on foreign products. That course once entered upon might be full of danger. The protection policy wherever it has been entered upon is rapacious. In the colonies it did not spare the Mother Country. Once developed in the Mother Country it might not spare the colonies.

It is not surprising that there should should come a warning from Paris that a plot exists to blow up the United States fleet when it reaches Rio Janeiro. Paris like New York revels in sensation. It is unlikely that any such plot exists. No public property is so carefully guarded as a ship of war in a foreign port. We have seen a French cruiser putting out her torpedo netting in Charlottetown harbor. There was no danger, but there was caution. Every precaution will be taken to guard the American fleet on its way to the Pacific, and the plotters, if there be any outside the newspaper offices, are well aware of the fact.

SLEEP ON.

Sleep on, for I know 'tis of me you are dreaming,
Sleep on, till the sun comes to give you a call,
Though the pride of my heart is to see your eye beaming,
Yet still to be dreamt of is better than all.
For then tis' to yours that my heart's always speaking,
And then tis' the spell that enchains it gives way,
And reveals all the love that I never when waking,
Could get round my tongue in the daylight to say.

Yes, sleep on, mavourneen, my joy, and my treasure,
Not often does sleep get a comrade so fair,
And no wonder it is that his eye takes a pleasure
To watch by your pillow while you slumber there.
Then sleep—softly sleep, till the day dawn is breaking,
And peeps in to give you a smile and a call,
For though great as my joy is to see you when walking,
Yet still to be dreamt of is better than all!

HAD THIRTY-TWO BOILS ON HIS BACK AT ONE TIME.

TWO BOTTLES OF BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS CURED HIM.

Boils are simply evidence of the bad blood within coming to the surface.

Just when you think you are cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery.

The only way to rid yourself of boils, pimples, and all skin blotches and blemishes, so that they will never return to bother you again, is to have the blood thoroughly cleansed of all of its impurities.

For this purpose there is no other blood medicine to equal Burdock Blood Bitters.

It has been on the market for over thirty years, and in that time we have received thousands of testimonials stating positively that it will cure the worst known cases of boils.

Mr. James Combs, Eden, Ont., writes: "I think Burdock Blood Bitters a great medicine for boils. I had them so bad I could not work. I had thirty-two on my back at one time. I used only two bottles of B.B.B. and they completely cured me. I cannot recommend it too highly.
