

FEEL MISERABLE ALL THE TIME

Headaches and Tiredness Ended by "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

Some people suffer for years with Headaches, without ever trying to find out what is the CAUSE of the pain. They get all run-down, and seem to think this weak, depressed feeling is the result of the headaches. As a matter of fact, chronic Headaches are the result of poisoned blood, due to faulty action of the bowels, kidneys and skin. "Fruit-a-lives" stops headaches because it regulates the bowels, kidneys and skin—frees the body of waste matter which poisons the blood—and thus keeps the blood pure and rich. As Mrs. Michael Coulis of Killaloe, Ont., writes—"I used to feel tired out and run-down and had severe Headaches. After using "Fruit-a-lives" the headaches and tiredness quickly disappeared and for two years now I have been in the best of health." And you? Do you suffer? Mrs. Coulis shows you the way to get well—take "Fruit-a-lives." 25c and 50c. a box—at dealers everywhere.

Men Marooned By George Marsh

THE STORY

Down the Missinabi to Moose, up the coast to Fort Albany, the man who had gone into the north to find health and the solution of his problem in separation, was accompanied by doubt and self-censure. It had been unfair—brutal—this wrenching himself from the sure appeal of her personal charm. But in fairness to the future, it was imperative. A year would clarify his vision—prove her hold over him unbearable or make him a free man. However, notwithstanding the bitterness of her farewell, the first mail to reach him in the early months of his apprenticeship in the fur trade had brought letters patently not those of renunciation. On the contrary they dwelt in detail on plans for his future homecoming and the wedding; were gay with gossip; related with frank pride and rumor of a knight-hood for services to the government during the war with which the name of Charles Guthrie was being coupled; at times, to his surprise, approached the warmth of the old days.

In the autumn Garth had been sent north with Etienne Savanne, a veteran servant of the company, to winter at fur post at the mouth of the Elkwan. When the Christmas mail from Albany was sighted on the white river trail, the mingled feelings with which Guthrie watched the approach of the dog-team bringing word from home—from her—were the cause of puzzled self-analysis through the months to follow. In July when he sailed into Fort Albany in his York boat with his fur packs, his year on the silent west coast was up. The mail he found waiting his rival brought the news that he was now brother of Sir Charles Guthrie; announced the decision of Ethel and Clara for an August wedding on the return of the exile; dwelt at length on the rise in Guthrie's steel; and disposed of his health in the casual surmise that it had been fully restored by the year in the open.

The last had drawn a bitter smile from the man who read. Pages for the personal affairs of the writers, and a line for the lungs he had brought back from the Hun drive for the Channel ports. So they were waiting in Montreal, were they, for his return, to bend him to their petty ways—shape him into a business machine, like Charlie—when he had breathed the stinging air off the ice-fields of the bay; seen the caribou drift across nameless lakes at dawn; camped under a canopy of stars while the aurora biazoned the north; wakened to the raucous chorus of the Canadas and watched the "wavies" rally their legions in the autumn? How blurred, after this, the once poignant memory of Ethel Falconer was growing! How petty seemed the obsession of Charles Guthrie for money and power to the man who had found in the peace of the west coast an opiate for his doubt and disillusion.

With no attempt at defence of his decision to remain for another year, Guthrie wrote home, and without regret had sailed out of the delta of the great Albany with Etienne, bound for Elkwan.

The man who had lain beside his sleeping dog with his thoughts while the wind roared through the alders, hammering the anchored tent, and the rain beat its intermittent tattoo, sat up, and placing the candle lantern at his elbow, drew a letter from his pocket and read: "Dearest Garth: "I don't know what to say—I'm simply stunned. Either you are still ill—are deceiving us, or take this method to humiliate me before your family and the world in the hope that I shall voluntarily give you up. Of course, if you no longer love me, there is nothing to be said. Do you love me still, Garth dear? So long as you do, I shall wait.

"Devotedly—until you wish it otherwise. ETHEL."

This had been her answer to the burning of his bridges—utter abandonment of her pride, and he had once thought her proud. Nevertheless, each new reading of the letter brought to Elkwan by the fall packet a fortnight before had quickened the memory of what this girl, vibrant with life and physical charm, had meant to him—this girl who had humiliated. Often standing before her vivid likeness in his quarters he had gazed at the alluring face, the faultless modeling of neck and shoulders, and marveled at the spell which held him in the north while such loveliness waited his return. She still had power to stir him, but his moods of self-censure and remorse were short-lived. The north had won.

Lingering Colds Lay Havoc in System Weakened By Colds

Physicians advise that the chief danger of this year's epidemic lies in the after-effects. Colds attacking the weakened system so often lead to bronchitis, sinus trouble, pneumonia, or even meningitis. This is especially true of children or old folks. These colds must be checked immediately. And yet too much dosing may upset the digestion which is already disturbed by the toxins of influenza. Vicks Vapo Rub is especially valuable here. As it is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold without upsetting the most delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

flap to break into furious barking. "Shut up, Shot! Etienne's dropped in for breakfast," called Guthrie. Presently, weighted down with his load of wet geese, a bent figure pushed through the alders accompanied by the leaping alreale. "Good morning, Etienne! You had a bad night of it in the bush." The wiry half-breed cached his load on the platform above his head, and grinned. "I mak good camp een de spruce wid beeg fire, an' roast some goose." With difficulty the men boiled their tea and kettle of goose; then, to avoid the flying sand, went into the tent to eat. "We ought to be starting for Elkwan, Etienne. I don't like to leave her too long, sick as she is." The swart face of Etienne Savanne grew grave as he nodded. "She nevaire see de snow once more." "That's why I hate to leave her alone with old Anne. I'd never forgive myself if—" Guthrie paused to stare at the tent wall. CONTINUED

CARDIGAN HEAD SCHOOL

The semi-annual Public Examination of Cardigan Head School was held on the afternoon of January 30th with a fair attendance of parents and rate payers, including School Officials. The pupils were examined in the different subjects by their teacher J. D. Fraser and showed by their prompt and correct answers that they had been carefully taught during the term.

After the examination of the different classes some complimentary remarks were made by those present congratulating the teacher on the excellent work performed during the term. A vote of thanks was also tendered to the teacher for his painstaking work with the scholars.

The teacher then expressed his thanks to the rate payers and others for their attendance at the examination. He also spoke about the necessity of the scholars attending regularly as he was trying to do his best with them. After the teacher treated the scholars and all those present to an abundant supply of home made candy a very pleasant afternoon was brought to a close.

If Food Disagrees Drink Hot Water

With Magnesia to Neutralize Acid and Stop Indigestion. Gives Instant Relief.

When food lies like lead in your stomach and you have that full, uncomfortable, bloated feeling, it is because of insufficient blood supply to the stomach, combined with stomach acidity and food fermentation. In such cases try the plan now followed by thousands of former sufferers from indigestion by simply taking a teaspoonful of pure Bismarcked Magnesia in half a glass of water, as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water draws the blood to the stomach and the Bismarcked Magnesia, as any physician can tell you, instantly neutralizes the acid and stops the food fermentation. Try this simple plan and you will be astonished at the immediate feeling of relief and comfort that always follows this simple, harmless restoration of the normal process of digestion. People who find it inconvenient at times to secure hot water and travelers who are frequently obliged to take hasty meals poorly prepared, should always take two or three five-grain tablets of Bismarcked Magnesia after meals to prevent fermentation and to neutralize the excess acid in their stomach.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

ANIMALS OF LONG AGO

IV. "TERRIBLE LIZARDS" Among the animals which used to roam over North America were the Dinosaurs or Terrible Lizards. They were of the lizard family, but some of them grew so large that they might not have wanted to admit having such small relations.

A three-horned lizard (After Knight).

Certain of the Terrible Lizards were no bigger than a cat or a dog. They weren't very "terrible," and I mention them only in passing. The ones which interest us more are those which were giant size. Among the skulls in museums are some which belonged to the Three-Horned Terrible Lizards. Two of the horns pointed out from above the eyes. The third horn was above the nose. The bony "armor" around the head gave a fine protection, even though there was only a small brain to protect.

In a museum at Washington, D. C., is a skull which I am sure you would like to see. It belongs to a Three-Horned Terrible Lizard and has special interest because one horn was broken while the beast was alive.

UNIVERSITY DEBATES

SACKVILLE, Feb. 4.—An interesting debate was staged in the Eutheriot Hall this evening between the Mt. A. team which is to meet the Western debaters and a team from the faculty. Prof. Guy was the leader and had with him Rev. Dr. Philip of the Sackville United Church and Prof. Ross Flemington. Myron Oliver (Leader) of Trenton, N. S.; Ken House of Sydney Mines and W. R. Fraser of Trenton, N. S., composed the student team. The subject was "Resolved that this House oppose all kinds of censorship" the one chosen for the debate at the end of Feb. The more experienced gentlemen were evidently surprised at the depth of reasoning and good presentation of the student debaters. It is interesting to note that both Professor Guy and Flemington have led Mt. A.

teams in their student days. Dr. Philip won his Q by debating for Queens against Toronto in 1902.

Keen competition always marks the debates preliminary to choosing final teams. This year eighteen men competed for places on the intercollegiate team to meet the University of New Brunswick in Sackville in March, and another to meet the Agricultural College in Truro. Following are the names of the six men from whom the final teams will be chosen: Fred Wigmore, Emerald, P. E. I.; Archie Humble, Truro, N. S.; Howard Oxley, Halifax, N. S.; Art Organ, Plymouth, Eng.; Fred Young, Hampton, N. B.; Gerald Stewart, of Campbellton, N. B. The final teams will be known after a debate between teams headed by Wigmore (Affirmative) and Organ (Negative).
