FOOTBALL ROMANCE LEADS TO ALTAR

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—A romance beginning on a trans-Atlantic liner and having a second chapter at a college football game culminated in the Little Church Around the Corner today, when Miss Belle Van Gelder, daughter of a former prominent railroad official, became the bride of William D. Thomas of Evanston, Ill. While a sophomore at Dickinson College several years ago Mr. Thomas went to Europe on a cattle boat and returned on a liner as captain's messenger. Miss Van Gelder and her parents were on the return ship and the two became acquainted. Later the young woman attended the football game in Philadelphia between the University of Pennsylvania and Dickinson College teams. Young Thomas was one of the Dickinson ends and scored the only touch-down that his team made that day. But in doing so he was seriously injured and was taken to the hospital, where he was nursed by his future bride, who had seen and applauded his brilliant play.

INCORPORATION OF COMPANIES

Justices of the Supreme Court of Canada rendered opinions last week on the references in regard to the powers of the Parliament of Canada and the legislatures of the provinces in the matter of incorporating and regulating commercial companies. The opinions are somewhat intricate and leave some of the issues in doubt.

Questions 6 and 7 with replies thereto by the Chief Justice Sir. Charles Fitzpatrick and Sir Louis Davies will be of some interest in Prince Edward Island, especially in view of a discussion, bearing on this question, which took place in the provincial legislature last session. These are given below:—

Question 6.—Has the legislature of a province power to prohibit companies incorporated by the Parliament of Canada from carrying on business within the province unless or until the companies obtain a license so to do from the government of the province, or other local authority constituted by the legislature, if fees are required to be paid upon the issue of such licenses?

Question 7—Is it competent to a provincial legislature to restrict a company incorporated by the Parliament of Canada for the purpose of trading throughout the whole Dominion in the exercising of the special trading powers so conferred or to limit the exercise of such powers within the province?

Is such a Dominion trading company subject to or governed by the legislation of a province in which it carries out or purposes to carry out its trading powers, limiting the nature or kinds of business which corporations not incorporated by the legislature of the province may carry on, or the powers which they may exercise within the province, or imposing conditions which are to be observed or complied with by such corporations before they can engage in business within the province?

Can such a company so incorporated by the Parliament of Canada be otherwise restricted in the exercise of its corporate powers or capacity, and how, and in what respect, by provincial legislation?

Sir Charles Fitzpatrick's reply to these questions is as follows:—

Questions 6 and 7. Answer:—The right of the province to restrict the operations of the Dominion companies by the imposition of a license fee was based upon the decisions of Bank of Toronto v. Lambe, 12 A. C.; Brewers and Malsters' case, (1897) A. C., and the Manitoba Liquor License Case, (1902) A. C., and these cases are undoubtedly authority for the exercise of the licensing power where the license is a bona fide exercise of the taxing power of the province, but it was clearly established by the case of La Cie Hydraulique v. Continental Light and Heat Co. (1909) A. C. 194, that a province cannot exclude a Dominion company from its territory and it cannot do indirectly what it is precluded from doing directly, and to require a license to be obtained not for revenue purposes, but in reality to shut out the operations of such incorporation, is not within the power of the provincial parliament. The province might well require that foreign corporations should be registered and file evidence of their corporate powers, names of officers and other details respecting the internal affairs of the company for registration purposes, and impose penalties for non-compliance with such legislation by way of fine; but such legitimate exercise of its powers is quite a different thing from legislation which, under the disguise of a license requirement, is intended to prevent, or has the effect of preventing, the operation of foreign companies within the territory of the province.

Sir Louis Davies replied as follows: Questions 6 and 7.—I find it difficult, if not impossible, to give satisfactory answers to either of these questions in the form in which they are put. In the first place, one would require to know which of the several classes of companies the Dominion Parliament can incorporate is referred to; and, in the next place, what are the special prohibitions or restrictions of the local legislatures to which the questions relate. Are they companies incorporated under the enumerated powers, of the Dominion or under the general powers; and if under the latter, do they refer to and embrace companies so incorporated on a subject matter which has risen to be one of national importance? The two classes of companies, namely, those within the Dominion Parliament's enumerated powers, and those within its general powers, on subject matters of national importance, would seem under the principles for the construction of our Constitutional Act laid down in the prohibition case of the Attorney-General for Ontario vs. Attorney-General for Dominion, A. C., p. 348; and confirmed and explained in the late case of City of Montreal vs. Montreal Street Railway, A. C. 1912, p. 333, to be incorporated under Dominion powers which are paramount. At the same time, and while such companies could not be prohibited or restricted in the exercise of powers so conferred (Toronto vs. Bell Telephone Co., 1905, A. C., p. 52) they are subject to taxation levied bona fide by the provincial parliaments under their powers of taxation (Bank of Toronto vs. Lambe, 12 A. C., p. 575) and the contracts they may enter into in the provinces respectively in the carrying out of their powers are under the control of the provincial legislatures, as explained in Citizens' Insurance Co. vs. Parsons, A. C., 1909, 9,)194. I think it undesirable to attempt to answer these questions with further particularity until some concrete case arises for our decision in which the nature and extent of the proposed provincial prohibition or restriction clearly appears as well as the particular class of Dominion incorporated companies whose operations are claimed to be either prohibited or restricted.

MACAULAY WON HALIFAX ROAD RACE

The Halifax Herald Ten Mile Road Race held in Halifax on Thanksgiving day was won by Victor Macaulay, in 55 minutes 53 4—5 seconds. The race had 52 starters and was witnessed by about twenty thousand people.

Macaulay's time is the fastest ever made in the Herald and Mail road race.

Cameron's time of 56.16 1-2, over a slightly longer but less difficult course, was fully equalled Macaulay and all the other records for the distance smashed to smithereens. He will wake from his recuperative sleep to find himself famous.

A dark horse he was indeed. His name, so far as known, was never mentioned as a possible winner.

FAINTING BERTHA TO BE RELEASED

HASTINGS, Neb., Oct. 21—"Fainting Bertha" Liebbke, for a number of years a familiar figure in the criminal records of the middle West, will be released from the State insane asylum tomorrow, when her sentence for robbery will have expired. The woman was confined for a time in the State penitentiary at Lincoln, but she gave the officials there so much trouble that doubts were raised as to her sanity and she was transferred to the asylum here. Her sobriquet of "Fainting Bertha" was given her by the police many years ago because of her ability to fall into a genuine swoon whenever she feared arrest or other because of her ability to fall into a genuine swoon whenever she feared arrest or other trouble. She now declares she has picked her last pocket and sincerely intends to follow the straight and narrow path after her release.

ARREST HUSBAND OF LILLIAN RUSSELL.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 20.—A. P. Moore, husband of Lillian Russell and editor of the Pittsburg Leader, was arrested early this morning in the Anderson Hotel after a fight in which several friends of his are said to have interposed in his behalf. He was held in $5,000 bail on a charge of libel made by J. G. Armstrong, a republican who wants to be Mayor.

The Leader stated a short time ago that only the intervention of Mr. Armstrong's friends kept him from attacking a smaller man, Harry Malone, who had said to him:—

"You're nothing more or less than a cheap squawker."

Mr. Armstrong was beaten in the non-partisan primaries by Stephen G. Porter by 302 votes, and the November election is to determine which of the two shall be Mayor. Mr. Armstrong, according to an affidavit made to-day by Malone, said in a barroom:—

"I'm an old cheater myself, and I'm not going to let any one cheat me."

Thereupon Malone interjected his opinion, and a brawl began.

Affidavits were published also from the proprietor of the saloon and several others to the effect that brawl did not occur.

Mr. Moore's paper to-day declared that it would publish more about Mr. Armstrong, stating:—

"The barroom episode will fall into insignificance when the rest of his record is exposed, as it will be."

BAPTIST CONVENTION

(Special Correspondent to The Guardian.)

AMHERST, N. S., Oct. 21.—Monday was a very busy day at the Baptist Convention in "Busy Amherst." Rev. J. H. Jenner, Campbellton, N. B., led the opening devotional service. The Home Mission report for Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Isfand was read by Superintendent, Rev. I. W. Porter, Wolfville, N. S. He was able to show a good record for his Board during the past year. A fine spirit of co-operation and harmony had prevailed. Weak, struggling interests had been fostered. The Home Mission work had made satisfactory progress, but there was much that had not yet been done, which the Board hoped to do this year.

The Home Mission report for New Brunswick was submitted. The Superintendent Evangelist, Rev. C. P. Wilson, B. D., had done splendid work. He was formerly a pastor on P. E. Island at Cavendish. Many fields had been assisted by Home Mission Funds. A good year's work had been done. New churches had been organized and new church edifices erected. All the churches are supplied with pastors except one small interest.

The report of the Board of Ministers' Annuity was read by Rev. G.A. Lawson, Moncton, N. B. It showed a slight advance in the amounts given to retired ministers and their widows and families, but pleaded for greater liberality in the support of those who had labored in the ministry and who needed help. It was hoped that a special canvas would be made this year to increase the capital account of the Annuity Fund.

A splendid platform meeting was held in the evening. Rev. I. W. Porter, Superintendent of Home Missions for Nova Scotia and P. E. Island, was the first speaker. He gave a clear and comprehensive statement of the need of Home Mission work. Dr. Slater Matthews, Chicago University, gave a very fine address on the Social Gospel. Dr. Matthews captivated his audience by his wit and held them by his thought. His broad outlook and his evangelistic spirit made the message especially acceptable to the Baptist constituency of the Maritime Provinces, who believe in a gospel which is individualistic and cooperative and evangelical. Dr. Matthews believes that the church of Jesus Christ has a duty to the community as well as to the individual, but he put the emphasis of all the work on the regeneration of the individual soul by the grace of God. He exalts Jesus Christ as the divine Son of God and the only power that can lift man out of sin. He emphasizes social regeneration by Jesus Christ. It was most assuring to hear a leader in the religious thought of the world holding so closely to the New Testament and declaring that it contained all that was essential for the regeneration of modern society as it did for the days of the Roman Empire.

Rev. H. G. Mellick, Lawrencetown, N. S., a native of East Point, P. E. I., gave a splendid address on Western Baptist Mission Work. He had been Superintendent of Western Mission for a number of years and so knew thoroughly what he was talking about. He showed the tremendous advance which Baptists have made in Mission work since the days when he began.

The Finance Committee of the Convention brought in a report which will make some radical changes in the finances. There will be one Treasurer from this time on, who will receive all money from the Maritime Convention for Denomination purpose. Rev. J. W. Manning, D. D., Wolfville, N. S., was appointed to this office. The Foreign Mission Secretary, Rev. M. E. Fletcher, St. John, N. B., will act as Finance Agent for New Brunswick, and Rev. I. W. Porter, Wolfville, N. S., will act in the same capacity in Nova Scotia and P. E. Island. They will do this work in addition to Superintending their work in missions. The Finance Committee has had its functions enlarged and will take the organization of a Board in the work of the convention. Members will be appointed for a term of years and not as formerly each year. This will give stability to their work. A. W. Sterns and Rev. Z. L. Fash are the representatives on the Board of Finance for P. E. Island.

The convention still has a large amount of business on hand, but it is likely an all-night session will finish it at midnight to-night.

MORE EVIDENCE IN EATON CASE

(Canadian Press)

PLYMOUTH, Mass., Oct 21.— Reference to a "wealthy lover in Chicago," who wanted Mrs. Jane May Eaton to leave her husband, was introduced to-day by the prosecution as showing a possible motive in the trial of Mrs. Eaton, charged with the murder of her husband, Rear Admiral J. G. Eaton.

Evidence was given in the testimony of Mrs. Marshall Bursey of Washington, D. C., who said that eight months before the death of the admiral, Mrs. Eaton told her of the Chicago man and his proposal. According to Mrs. Bursey, Mrs. Eaton did not disclose to her the name of the alleged lover but said he owned much property and had promised to leave it all to her. Mrs. Bursey said that it was while Mrs. Eaton was in Washington following the birth of a shild to her daughter, Mrs. J. Kris, that she made this statement regarding her Chicago friend, adding that she was afraid that the admiral would poison her. Mrs. Eaton told the witness that Admiral Eaton attacked her several times at night. At one time she awoke to find him injecting medicine into her arm.

Mrs. Sarah R. Ducher, clerk of the Investigating Bureau of Children and Guardians, in Washington, said that while calling the attention of the district court to the case of a child who was not receiving proper attention at the orphanage, Mrs. Eaton asked her to destroy all records in the case, saying her name was Owens and that she was the grandmother of the child.

Later, Mrs. Eaton gave other names but finally admitted that she was the wife of a naval officer. The case was finally settled and Mrs. Eaton took the child.

The testimony of these two witnesses occupied the greater part of the afternoon session, the morning being consumed in hearing neighbors of the Eatons, nearly all of whom recalled instances in which Mrs. Eaton had talked about poisons and had made assertions that her husband was insane.

How Mrs. Eaton tried to trail her husband's footsteps by scattering talcum powder on the attic stairs was described by Frank S. Booth, a Rockland optician.

HEAVY SNOWSTORM IN FORT WILLIAM.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Oct. 20.—The first heavy snowstorm of the season came on suddenly yesterday and in a few hours two inches of snow covered the streets and roofs of Fort William and Port Arthur. WILL TREAT TEDDY LIKE A MONARCH.

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 20.— The steamer Vandick, with Colonel Theodore Roosevelt aboard, arrived off Rio Janeiro to-night, but owing to tempestuous weather, according to a wireless despatch, she will not enter port until midnight. Colonel Roosevelt and his party will come ashore at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Elaborate preparations for the reception of the ex-president have been completed, but the official program will not be decided upon until after Col. Roosevelt has been communicated with personally. The government hopes that the Colonel will be able to remain in Rio Janeiro during the entire week, and apartments in the Guanabara Palace have been placed in readiness for him as the guest of the government.

Dr. Lauro Muller, the foreign minister, and Col. Roosevelt, to-day exchanged felicitations by wireless.

SCHOLARS SHOWERED TEACHER WITH APPLES.

GUELPH, Ont., Oct. 15.—Apple showers are the newest wrinkle in Guelph. It was tried at the King Edward school yesterday, and Miss Bailey was the teacher aimed at. The classes had formed this afternoon, when one little lass snapped her fingers and said, "Please, teacher, May I say something?" The answer was in the affirmative. The little Miss rose and said, "All ready." At this word every youngster in the room produced a big red, juicy-looking apple and rolled it towards the teacher's desk. When Miss Bailey had gathered up the windfall she had two schoolbags full.
