

RESTORED TO GOOD HEALTH

Mother of Eleven Children Praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Her Interesting Experience

Buckingham, Quebec.—"I am the mother of eleven living children, and my baby is five months old. I am only 38 years old and I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and my nerves. I knew of it from my sister, Dame Edouard Bellefeuille of Ramsayville. For five years I was in misery and was always ready to cry. Now I am so happy to have good health. My daughter, who is 18 years old, has also taken it and will be happy to recommend it to all young girls. Dame WILLIAM PARENT, Box 414, Buckingham, Quebec. Why suffer for years with backache, nervousness and other ailments common to women from early life to middle age, when Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will give you relief?"

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 250,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use.

INSIDIOUS EYE STRAIN

We use this adjective advisedly.

Sufferers from Eye-strain may have perfect vision and therefore do not suspect the presence of any eye defect.

The motive power of the entire human organism is Nerve Energy.

Normal eyes, it is computed utilize about 20% of this Nerve Energy, but when Eye-strain is present, a much larger proportion is required. Hence defective eyes, through their consumption of an excessive amount of Nerve Energy may seriously affect the functioning of other organs of the body and produce ill health.

Mrs. Rogers is widely known for her "Joan at Halfway" and her "Stories of the Land of Evangeline," the latter a group of Acadian folklore tales, some of which have been adopted into the school readers of England and Scotland as well as in her own and other provinces of the dominion, and which are also used as supplementary reading in many schools of the United States.

Enforcement of Law And Prohibition Commissions

Premier Stewart speaks plainly and clearly. These are his words:

"Take the matter of crime generally. We have there the great weight of public sentiment behind the enforcement of the law. If a man commits a crime, everyone is interested to see that detection and punishment follow. But has it been so in the case of Prohibition? As early as 1917 it was found that the burden was so great upon the Department of Justice in this Province that a Commission was appointed to enforce the law so as to relieve that Department of the Government from such an onerous task.

From that time up to the present we have had three consecutive Commissions, and a great deal has been recently said and written with regard to the present Prohibition Commission. It has been said by the partisan press that this Government cannot escape the responsibility of the enforcement of the Prohibition Act by hiding behind the Commission; that this Government dismissed the previous Commission and appointed the present Commission, and dragged the whole matter into party politics, and is therefore responsible for the conditions existing today.

With regard to those Commissions generally I have just this to say, that I believe that all three Commissions, and that every member of each one of those Commissions, has brought to bear upon the discharge of his duty every bit of energy, ability and honesty he possessed. I believe that the Commission have given unstinted and sincere public service in the discharge of their duties.

I will say further, and I want to give this answer to the criticisms of the partisan press, that this Government did not dismiss the last Prohibition Commission. Their term of office expired under the Statute, and the present Commission was appointed in due course under the provisions of the law.

I have this further to say, that this Government has never, in the slightest degree or for one moment, interfered with the duties of the Commission. We have never attempted to dictate to them or to interfere with their work in the least degree. I say that this Commission has had the most perfect freedom of action in every respect and that from the beginning of their appointment up to the present they have performed their duties to the very best of their ability.

CANADA'S DIAMOND JUBILEE

1867—1927

Oh! glorious land, it is for thee Our voices raise in loud acclaim;

Mount Stewart Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McKenzie returned to their home in Summerside Thursday evening last.

Services in the United Church were conducted by Rev. Mr. K. Charman and were well attended.

Services in the Presbyterian Church were held at seven o'clock conducted by Mr. Merle Ramage, student pastor, and were well attended.

We welcome back Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Coffin who arrived on Wednesday morning's train from one of Boston suburbs where they spent the winter.

We regret to learn of the illness of Mr. Lyman Jay, Fanning Brook. Mr. Jay is at present staying at the home of his sister Mrs. Wendell Glover and is under the skillful care of Dr. Martin.

Meetings of the Presbyterian W. M. S. and Ladies Aid Society were held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Clark and were well attended. The secretary of each society gave a splendid report.

Mr. McKenzie was engaged in preparing the interior of the house on the Bert Dwyer farm under the Soldiers Settlement Board plan, for Mr. and Mrs. Wray and family who have now settled there. Mr. McKenzie intends returning next week to finish the work interiorly and exteriorly.

A regular family reunion was held Sunday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Jay when Messrs. Artemas Jardine, Conductor C. N. R. William, who is spending a vacation here, and Mrs. P. L. Coffin, Savage Harbor, brothers and sister of Mrs. Jay. The night was spent in singing the old and honored psalms, paraphrases and hymns that never grow old.—(F.)

A very painful accident happened to Mr. Robert Jay, Fanning Brook, on Wednesday last. Mr. Jay was hitching one of his horses and had the reins on his arm when the animal bolted, knocking him down and dislocating his shoulder. He was taken to the house and medical aid hastily summoned by phone. Dr. Toombs hastily responded and now has the patient under his care.

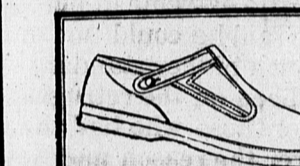

Shortcake.

To make shortcake for four persons, sift together two cups flour, two and one half teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons sugar and one tablespoon salt. With a fork, cut in one-third cup shortening. In a cup beat an egg and add enough milk to make the cup two-thirds full. This will require about a half cup milk. Bake in gem tins in a hot oven.

IN MEMORIAM

MRS. R. F. TANTON

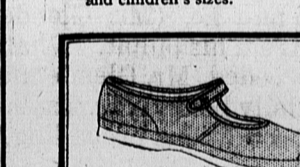

A slight tribute to the life and memory of the late Mrs. Robina Fillow Tanton who passed away at her home 49 Pearl Street, Everett, Mass., surrounded by her family and loved ones, who though realizing her frailty, for her health for the past four years had not been as they would wish it to be, yet they had hoped that with the tender care and nursing which she was receiving that she would be spared to them for a few years longer, but the call came suddenly while sitting at the table, enjoying her evening meal, without time for pain or suffering, the spirit was wafted away from the tired frail body and was taken to a Home where sickness and sorrow, pain and suffering cannot enter in. The late Mrs. Tanton will be remembered here by many who knew her in her early life which was spent at Bidford and Northam where her husband the late Henry Folland carried on a mercantile business up till the time of his death, after which she and her family of five daughters and two sons, removed to the United States where they have since made their home, but she always retained a deep affection and yearning love for "The Island" the land of her birth, and visited it and renewed old friendships on many occasions. Kindness and love were the keynotes of her character. A singularly winning personality, endeared her to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her hospitality was known to all and many a homesick youth or maiden who had left their home and gone to seek their fortunes abroad found at her hospitable table and cheery hearthstone that touch of home for which they yearned. That motherly kindness which meant so much in a land of strangers. There are left to mourn the loss of one whose place in their hearts

CHILDREN run more miles, kick harder, and scuff more toes than grown-ups, and naturally wear out more shoes.

And so Fleet Foot shoes have been built from the study of the wear and tear that growing boys and girls give shoes. Fleet Foot Shoes are built with DOMINION thoroughness and reinforced in the places where the heavy wear comes. They wear longer and give more protection to little feet than ordinary shoes.

Mothers—Fleet Foot Shoes are the most economical footwear for summer. They are most comfortable too, and allow little feet to develop as nature intended.

MR. CHARLES MOUNTAIN

The death of Charles Mountain occurred at his home at Alma on Nov. 4th, 1839, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Mountain (Ann Donald). He came to Montrose with his parents and settled there about 75 years ago. He was a carpenter by trade and a skilled workman. He is the last surviving member of a large family and leaves to mourn his loss one son, John E., at home and six daughters, namely: Mrs. H. S. Crockett; and Mrs. Alvie Mountain, of Alma; Mrs. Annie B. Wood, Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Frank Simpson, Hamilton; Mrs. James Stewart, Ellmsdale; and Mrs. B-M. Cunningham of Hudson, Mass. His wife predeceased him seven years ago. The funeral was held on April 22nd, the service being conducted by his pastor, Rev. Mr. Elliot, of Ellmsdale, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Joan Kelr Thompson and Rev. Dr. J.J. Sidey, who preached the funeral address. The pall bearers were his four nephews, James; David, and John Barbour, and Wm. Mountain and the remains were laid to rest beside his late wife in Montrose cemetery. Mr. Mountain was well and favorably known by a large number of friends and relatives on the Island, loved by all he came in contact with and resided in Alma 52 years, known to the younger generation as "Uncle Charlie" or "Grandpa". A strong Liberal in politics, ever ready to converse on the great issues of the day. Mind and body alert until the last great call, he will be much missed in the community and home. The floral tributes were: Phil low, "Father" from the family; Crescent from the grand children; Wreath from the nephews and nieces and a beautiful spray from the Alma Women's Institute.
