IN MEMORIAM

GEORGE R. VESSEY (Died: Feb. 1, 1937)

The brittleness of the slender thread that binds the mortal to immortality has seldom been so truly exemplified as in the unexpected death of George R. Vessey, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus W. Vessey, of Spring Park, who passed away at the Charlottetown Hospital on Monday February 1, 1937.

The young man was taken suddenly ill on the preceding Friday morning while getting ready to attend his classes at the Prince of Wales College. After being attended by a physician, he was taken to the hospital the same afternoon, where everything that medical skill and careful nursing could do was done, but he failed to respond to treatment. He passed away peacefully by the rites of the Catholic Church.

The late Mr. Vessey who was not yet out of his teens, was a young man of many fine qualities. He was very popular in athletic circles, was a good hockey and baseball player, and a general favorite with all his companions.

After attending Spring Park School, in July, 1935 he matriculated into Prince of Wales College, which he was attending for his second term. At this institution he was known as a very quiet and industrious student, and was highly esteemed by all his associates. A bright and successful future seemed to be in store for him; but a higher power than man's deemed it otherwise.

There are left to cherish his memory, besides his loving parents, two brothers, J. Ledwell, and Cyrus W. Jr., and one sister, Norma, to all of whom is extended the deepest sympathy.

The funeral service which was attended by a large number of his former schoolmates and students of Prince of Wales College, was held in St. Dunstan's Basilica on Wednesday, February 3rd. The funeral mass was celebrated by Rev. J. W. MacCardie. After the service, interment took place in the Catholic cemetery. Rev. Patrick MacMahon, D.D., officiating at the grave. The pall bearers were: Gordon Gallant, Everett Gallant, Michael Campbell, Lloyd MacNevin, Harold Garnhum, and Reginald Whitlock.

The following tributes were received:
