

A New Partner In The Firm--Prowse Bros Limited And Santa Claus

This store has always been managed by the Prowse's--First by Mr. L. E. Prowse and since it became an Incorporated Company, by the three brothers jointly viz L. E. Prowse, B. C. Prowse and W. B. UP-TO-DATE JOKES.

A woman who liked to pose as a wit sat at dinner between a bishop and a rabbi.

I feel as if I were a leaf between the Old and the New Testaments, she said to the rabbi.

Yes, madam, he replied; that page is usually a blank one.

The American—Why did you leave your Italian hills?

The ex-Brigand—Too tame. Why, I only killed two people a month there, but since I became a chauffeur it's a poor month when I can't land twenty in the hospital.

Lady of House—What caused you to become a tramp?

Ragged Rogers—The fam'l physician, mum. He advised me to take long walks after me meals, and I've been walking after 'em ever since.

Visitor—I saw your husband in the crowd in town today. In fact he was so close that I could have touched him.

Hostess—That's strange. At home he is so close that nobody can touch him.

A purchaser of a riverside property asked the estate agent if the river didn't sometimes overflow its banks.

Well, replied the agent, it isn't one of those sickly streams that are always confined to their beds.

LEMON SAUCE.

Take three eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of hot water, one-half table-spoonful of butter, the juice of two lemons and the rind of one.

Stir these ingredients together and just before serving plunge them on the fire and stir all the time until the mixture is as thick as syrup. This sauce is delicious with all kinds of puddings.

THE SKYSCRAPER RESIDENCE.

It is not New York's tallest office building this time that is drawing attention but its tallest private residence the skyscraper-mansion being constructed at 10 West Fifty-fourth Street for John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

The architectural design is in Italian renaissance. On the ground floor will be a large vestibule entrance opening into a spacious reception room, with an office and breakfast rooms upon the same landing. The second floor will contain the drawing, music and dining rooms, and the library will be on the third floor with the owner's suite. There will be a large sun parlor on the front portion of the roof, and a glass-enclosed playground at the rear. The Lecturer Popular Mechanics Magazine contains a picture of this skyscraper house.

ALWAYS READY

"Don't let him give you any back talk."

"There isn't any."

"RE? What?"

"I say there is none. He never is in arrears with language."

EXPLAINED.

"I have absolutely nothing to wear!"

"What is your idea of nothing to wear?"

"Any amount of old clothes."

WHAT COULD HE?

He left his umbrella home.

A fine one, spick and new.

The rain came down like cats and dogs.

So what was he to do?

He wasn't much of a rustler, if you have to ask that question.

LEARNING THE TRADE

"How do you pronounce butter-ine?" asked the grocer's new clerk.

"The last syllable is always silent," replied the grocer.

COOKING POTATOES FOR HOGS

Potatoes can be fed to hogs with good results, but they should be cooked first. In experiments it has been found that four lbs of cooked potatoes are equal to one pound of grain feed. The potatoes should be fed with grain as alone they form an unbalanced ration. The grain fed should not be cooked as the raw grain is more digestible.
