

Charles Baulard is no stranger to the Western Front. For he served France—and was decorated by France—as a soldier in the 1st World War. But this time he is doing his shooting with a camera instead of a rifle. Baulard, pictured in his uniform as an officially accredited photographer, will cover the Western Front for NEA Service. He is a veteran member of the photographic staff at the Paris office of NEA and Acme Newspictures.

NEUTRAL BUT

The Heisingers had been bombed. Do so, students marched to the Finnish legation to express their sympathy. Government officials conferred in Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen. A foreign office spokesman in Sweden said his country was in a state of preparedness and no new measures were needed. Many Danes felt the invasion was a personal blow because Finland was a neighbor and new dangers seemed looming for the Baltic neutrals. (Unconfirmed reports circulated in Oslo that Soviet Russia had demanded three naval bases on Norway's Arctic coast. The Norwegian coast on the Arctic Ocean is separated from Russia only by Finland's narrow corridor to northern waters.) Fund collections started in many areas for Finland's war refugees. Unless their governments prevent it, many Danes, Norwegians and Swedes are expected to go to Finland as volunteers. In Stockholm it was thought possible a Swedish statement might be forthcoming tomorrow from the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Saint John Police Faced With Mystery

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Nov. 30—(CP)—A skeleton charred beyond identification and found in ruins of a log cabin destroyed by fire near the Sand Cove road, at the city outskirts, presented police with a mystery tonight. The cabin had been occupied by Leonard Van Horne, 63-year-old longshoreman, but officials could not say definitely that the remains were those of the elderly waterfront worker. However, he has not been reported seen since early last evening. An inquest will be held at a date yet to be set.

FEW AMERICANS TRUE GOURMETS

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(CP)—Mr. Average American doesn't know anything about food according to 300 chefs who met recently at a four-day congress here. The fault lies in his education, they believe, and they are going to try and do something about it. Most Americans are confused by the terms French or Italian and never learn to eat fine dishes because they are afraid of their names the epicureans say.

TO REDECK BRIDGE

Hillsboro Bridge will be re-decked during the coming winter, the provincial department of highways announced yesterday. Work would be delayed until February as it would be necessary to close the bridge to motor traffic and horse drawn traffic and it was anticipated the harbor would be sufficiently strong to permit travel. Secondary work during February would be confined to replacing the wooden planking and ties for the railway tracks. No definite estimate of the cost of the work was available yet. Mr. L. B. McMillan, deputy minister of highways, said, "It is officially however, estimated to be more than $11,000. A portion of the cost is borne by the Provincial Government and the remainder by the railway."

Charged With Funeral Disturbance

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 30—(CP)—A charge of disturbing persons assembled for the purpose of burying a body was added today to the original charge placed against six persons who were returning to Windsor from a funeral last Saturday afternoon. The case of the three Windsor men and three women came up in court today and was adjourned until Dec. 7. Everett Quirk, president of the Victoria memorial association, laid the first charge at the funeral ceremony for Mrs. Francis Gatacre. He claimed the three men and three women gathered about the coffin and refused to allow the returning to their automobiles and started dancing and chanting. Quirk said the six pounded and kicked the casket, swayed the hands and started to throw the flowers around. The six persons Mrs. Wright, Miss B. A. charge of disturbing persons. Present Croson, William Wright and Sam Robson, were rounded up by the mourners and held until police arrived. They offered no explanation of their action.

Dissenters in U. S. Stage Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—The dissenters in the United States President Roosevelt's early Thanksgiving staged their own celebration of the holiday today. In 23 states which clung to the traditional Thanksgiving in November despite the president's proclamation of Nov. 23 as Thanksgiving, church services were held, and families sat down around the festive board in the customary observance. It was a "second Thanksgiving" in three other states—Colorado, Mississippi and Texas—which satisfied all schools of thought as to which was the proper day by observing both. Festive dinners and entertainments were held by Plymouth, Mass., resident, who staged a pageant depicting the first Thanksgiving of the pilgrims, and designed to "save the day" from emptiness and desecration. Governors of 43 states helped Plymouth observe the day by sending their representatives to grace the tables at a great feast which climaxed the pageant.

BEST EFFORTS NEEDED TO WIN WAR

KINDERLEY, Sask., Nov. 30—(CP)—Canadians must be told that nothing but their best effort is good enough to win the war and as "we are the best equipped powers, we must prepare as if we had to fight the lot of them." Hon. W. D. Herridge, leader of the new democracy movement, said in a speech prepared for delivery here tonight.

"Today we are only fighting Germany," he said. "But when Hitler is confronted with defeat, he will reach out for allies. If Hitler will pay any price to beat the British Empire. Always remember that."

Mr. Herridge spoke at a convention called to nominate a Social Credit candidate in the Kinderley Federal By-Election occasioned by the resignation of the Social Credit member, C. J. Elliot. No date has been set yet for the by-election. He said he felt his views were worthy of consideration by Parliament and added: "I would like to see the opportunity of my being in Parliament and to work there for their adoption. I do not ask for an acclamation but only for the right to contest this constituency. The government should not deny me that right. Democracy is faulty if it works that way."

Favors Conscription

The new democracy leader reviewed his attitude to Canada's part in the Allied war effort and repeated his contention that universal conscription of man-power, industry and finance should be invoked.

He also reiterated his belief that Canada should assume new Empire leadership and demand a conference of British commonwealth nations in London without delay to remake the Empire along democratic lines of high efficiency and to set up an Empire War Council.

Full Powers

The measure which the chamber finally approved extended indefinitely the "full powers."

Britain Plans Secret

Just what Britain will do could not be determined at this stage. Britain is under no obligation to give Finland assistance. Even if she wanted to, it would be extremely hazardous to do so because of Finland's remote geographical position and the necessity of focussing Britain's attention on the war with Germany.

Might Aid Allies

On the other hand, it is conceivable that closer economic relations between Russia and Germany would make any appreciable difference to Germany's export because of transportation difficulties and a lack of sizeable exportable surpluses of vital products.

FRENCH GIVE DALADIER WIDE POWER

PARIS, Nov. 30—The Chamber of Deputies tonight extended Premier Daladier's power to rule by decree for the duration of the war.

The final vote of confidence in the Government was 318 to 175. Daladier agreed to resign Parliament a month to ratify his decrees—if Parliament happened to be in session. Otherwise, he refused.

"Democracies find themselves in the presence of other regimes which can act rapidly and in secret," he said. "I cannot continue my task unless the powers I ask are voted."

On the final vote and on an earlier finance committee amendment which sought to force him to summon Parliament every month regardless of whether it was in session, Daladier stated the life of his government and won both times.

The debate was carried on behind Chamber windows blacked-out against the possibility of air raids.

Red Fleet Moves

The red fleet moved westward in the Gulf of Finland and seized the Finnish island of Seiskari and other coastal cities and towns. Viipuri, a city of 75,000 population, was like Helsingfors, set afire by repeated bombing attacks from the sea.

Helsingfors Burning

By nightfall the sky over southwestern Helsingfors was red with the glow of burning buildings. Several apartment houses and the Helsingfors Institute of Technology were blasted apart by the bombs. Several bodies were recovered in the streets.

(The Danish radio broadcast a Finnish news agency report that 200 persons had been killed in a raid at 7 p.m. (1 a.m. AST). The bombing during the day appeared to have been aimed at the central railway station and the post office but the bombs missed both those marks. Tonight a third of the city was strewn with broken glass.

Foreign minister Elias Erikko was scheduled tonight to speak to the United States but was refused radio relay through Germany. Finally he spoke on a relay through Stockholm and Geneva.

"Once and for all I wish to say in all my speeches that Finland hasn't wanted war, has no desire to be a threat to anyone and has no desire to become the instrument of a third power," he said.
