I was talking to that Grattan top who had lost Grattan, Oliver Grattan and Emily Grattan over to Charlotte's Good Will Race meet...

Our tracks down East seem to be under-rated by the people up here. The horses are not drivers, but they are...

I heard them talking about the time the Yank was up here in charge of Ernie McTague, so you see your Island horses and horsemen are not forgotten by the followers of the Sport of Kings...

Written on the score card which came with the letter, "Was talking to Robert Taylor, formerly of Lunenburg, at the track, and the old Patrick Direct 2:07 3-4 down east some years ago..."

Speaking of an Anglo-Soviet publicity committee meeting in London, Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky declared "Hitler's blitzkrieg in the east has completely failed..."

No Quiet Winter. Speaking at an Anglo-Soviet publicity committee meeting in London, Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky declared "Hitler's blitzkrieg in the east has completely failed..."

At the northern flank the situation still is "especially tense" after the Germans were repulsed in a powerful attempt to break through, presumably near Kalinin...

At the southern flank, near the munitions-making town of Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, fighting also increased in intensity, with the Germans battling to maintain their initiative...

The Moscow radio quoted a Tass dispatch as saying that "bloody fighting is now in progress in central, northern and southern sectors..."

Recalls bout 33 years ago

In a recent issue of the Herald in Jimmy Power's Scrap Book, reference was called to a bout held in the Arena at Halifax between John "Twin" Sullivan and Jim Pendergast now a well-known resident of Kensington, a fight in which Pendergast lost a close decision...

Recalls bout 33 years ago

In a letter to a Charlottetown friend W. P. Callaghan, of Summerside, states that although losing the decision that time he has it in mind that Big Jim afterwards beat Sullivan in Fairbanks, Alaska or Dawson City. Talking about the Halifax fight Mr. Callaghan considered that Jim should have won the decision when he nearly had Sullivan knocked out in the closing round...

Recalls bout 33 years ago

Jim is now well past the prime of his athletic career that saw him partake in events the world over but to old times his feats are well remembered and today Big Jim as he is affectionately called, is always an interested spectator at sporting events. He has many pleasant memories to look back on and his prowess has gathered for him a great collection of medals and trophies that now adorn his comfortable home just outside the town of Kensington...
