THE PRINCE EDWARD.—Commencing at the matinee in the afternoon the Prince Edward Theatre had good houses yesterday. Of paramount interest to most of the patrons was the showing of the fourth instalment of the serial photoplay "The O'Hearts." It was the part continuation of an excellent play of this, termed "The Problem Play of the Age." It was an instalment of exceptional entertaining quality and should not be missed. "The Decision of Jim O'Farrell" was a splendid drama, admirably portrayed. "Her Indian Brother" was a second excellent dramatic presentation. "The Lady in Black" and "Baby Indisposed" gave the audience a splendid opportunity for a hearty laugh. Mr. Cairns rendered a stirring patriotic song entitled, "The Front," in very fine voice. Two new reels, one of which contains views from the Front, will be shown to-day in addition to the above.

THE PEOPLE'S.—Considering the other attractions last night, the patrons of the People's Theatre filled all every seat in the large and comfortable hall. An excellent two-reel feature, "The Silent Witness," held the close attention of the audience. It was the story of a young broker falling in love with the stenographer. Both are discharged. Another clerk, who was found to be dishonest, was discharged about the same time. He swears vengeance and goes to the office, where he finds his former employer dictating letters to a stenographer. He shoots him and the stenographer's lover coming in shortly after is accused. He is indicted by the jury, but the stenographer, now working in a dictaphone factory, finds a record on which is found evidence of the murder. The record is handed to the police and the guilty party is soon brought to justice. Another of those interesting and mysterious Cleeck deductive stories created great interest, the mystery not being unraveled until the very last. "Our Mutual Girl" in this series, returns to York and is shown on a visit to the renowned Blackwell's Island. A Vitagraph comedy, with John Bunny, Billy Shea and Flora Finch in the cast, supplied all kinds of merriment. Mr. Parks in a vocal selection was heard to good advantage and is quite a favorite among the People's patrons. Last night the Harmony Duo appeared in a refined singing act and on their first appearance captivated the audience. A feature of the entertainment that cannot be overlooked was the music by Mrs. Tomlins, whose interpretation of the films is perfect, playing the proper music at the proper time. It might incidentally be mentioned that she celebrates her fifth anniversary tonight to-night. This, in itself, is a recommendation of her qualities as a musician.

NO WELCOME AT CAMP FOR MISS PANKHURST.

TORONTO, Nov. 30.—The one and only disappointment of Miss Christabel Pankhurst's visit to Toronto was her failure to secure an audience of the second contingent at the Exhibition grounds yesterday. Miss Pankhurst left Toronto last night for New York, but before her departure she said she had been much disappointed at her inability to secure an audience at the military camp. Accompanied by her secretary, Miss Barton, the British suffragette arrived at the grounds just after the men were of parade, and there was no one to receive her. A civilian, of course, has no rights in a military encampment, but Miss Pankhurst had been hoping for an opportunity to talk to the men. Apparently there was some misunderstanding about the time the visitor should arrive, which was responsible for the plans going awry.

But Miss Pankhurst did "inspect" part of the camp. In the kitchens she saw a number of the soldiers at work and some one called, "Men, Miss Pankhurst!" There was no response until some one at the other end of the room called "Votes for women!" at which the tollers turned around, looked at the visitor, and resumed their work.

HERCIC IRISHMAN SAVED REGIMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—A new story of a British encounter with the Prussian Guard was told by a corporal of the Warwickshire Regiment, who is now at home wounded. "The night the Prussian Guard attacked us around Ypres," he said, "it was only by the merest chance and a fine piece of heroism that we were warned in time. There was an Irishman of the King's Liverpool Regiment who had strayed out of bounds to meet a girl whose home was off the line of attack. Coming back late, he stumbled on the Germans stealing quietly toward our position. Without thought of consequences to himself, but only concerned for the safety of his comrades, he dashed toward the spot where he knew our guard to be to give the alarm. The Germans spotted him, and a cavalry patrol was at his heels instantly. He had a good start, but toward the end he was hit in both legs. Coming back late, and is now in the base hospital, pulling through."

A NARROW ESCAPE FOR CROWN PRINCE.

PARIS, November 30.—Details of the German Crown Prince's narrow escape from the French dragoons after the Marne defeat were given yesterday by a French civilian who, disdaring the prohibited placards, succeeded in making the trip on a bicycle within four miles of the German trenches on the western fringe of the Argonne forest. Before the battle of the Marne, the Prince was at St. Mezheld, for about a week. With the Princess he occupied aateau, belonging to a rich drug manufacturer, M. Garaudel, who gained considerable notoriety some years ago by trying to get a huge poster advertising a cough specific attached to the Eiffel Tower. When the Germans retreated, the Crown Prince and Princess retired to a small village of Montfaucon, in the Argonne where they lived for some days in a large house, which previously had been prepared for them. Learning of this, the French made a furious dash on Montfaucon, which they surrounded with a regiment of dragoons, and captured several hundred German soldiers, but the Royal Party had flown. The raiders found a new subterranean passage, eight hundred yards long, connecting the house with a by-road at the farther side of a small wood. There according to natives a motor war always waiting during the Prince's stay. It is further asserted even this would not have saved him from capture if the mayor of Montfaucon had not run to warn him when the French entered the village. For this treachery, the mayor subsequently paid with his life.

BETWEEN 400 AND 500 OF THE AUSTRIAN SHIPS ARE BOTTLED UP.

OTTAWA, Nov. 30.—The Government has received from the Colonial Office a new list of German and Austrian shipping captured or bottled up by the British. The list shows that the British navy has in three months, up to the end of October, succeeded practically in sweeping the commerce of Austria and Germany from the seas. Between four and five hundred ships are accounted for in the list. By far the greater number are German ships.

FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE FORCED TO RETURN TO UNITED STATES.

PORTLAND, Oregon, Nov. 30.—Fugitives from justice from the United States are being forced to return to this country as a result of war conditions in Canada, according to Clarence L. Reames, United States district attorney here. Careful watch kept on foreigners by Canadian authorities and the fear of conscription are the contributing causes. Mr. Reames received a telegram today from Fred Brantner, who fled to Canada after the issue of a federal indictment charging Brantner, J. W. Logan and Dan J. Connors with using the mails to sell fraudulent claims on the Oregon and California railway land grant. Logan and Connors are now serving terms in the federal penitentiary. Brantner telegraphed from Vancouver that he would surrender himself on December 2nd.

FAMOUS VOCALIST TO TAKE UP ARMS.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Chronicle says: It is something of a lead to the waverers among our young men that one so gifted and popular as Mr. Kennerly Rumford should have given up his engagements in several parts of the world to train himself for duties at the front.

The famous artist has been singing Sir Frederic Cowen's and Mr. Harold Begbie's song "Fall in!" to the young men of Sheffield, Brighton, Huddersfield, Sunderland, Eastbourne, St. Leonards, Guildford, Blackheath, Blackpool, and Manchester, and now he has decided to practice what he has been singing, and "fall in" himself! A man in the prime of his life and strength, who can still earn large fees in spite of the effect of war upon the concert world, with a distinguished wife (Mme. Clara Butt), beautiful children, and a beautiful home, Mr. Kennerly Rumford makes an ordinary sacrifice to his King and country. The example he is setting should help enormously to convert the many young men who have no pressing reason to hold them back from joining the colors.

Mr. Charles Mott has been specially engaged at the Coliseum to sing "Fall in!" at every performance next week, beginning on Monday. The song is also being sung by Mr. Lloyd Chandos every evening at the St. James Theatre before "His House in Order." The "Fall in!" march is performed by the following Guards' bands: the Grenadier Guards, Royal Horse Guards, 1st Life Guards, 2nd Life Guards, Coldstream Guards, Scots Guards and Irish Guards; and also by the band of the Royal Sussex Regiment.

12-YEAR-OLD GIRL IN SUNBURY COUNTY WANTS TO FIGHT.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 30.—Marie Louise Charrier, twelve years old, of Three Tree Creek, Sunbury County, wants to wear a soldier's uniform and fight for her native la belle France and the Allies. She wrote a letter to Mr. E. C. Bonin, the French Consul General for Canada, asking for a uniform for herself so she could go and serve her country, and the letter was read at a recent meeting of prominent French Canadian women at Montreal. Much interest was aroused by the young lady's letter and the fine patriotic spirit it showed, and the Consul General wrote the girl's father asking what his daughter planned to do, and saying that everything would be done to allow her to be of any assistance that was possible, but asking for the girl's ideas.

The letter from the French Consul General came as a surprise to the parents, who were not aware that the girl had offered her services. Little Miss Charrier's family immigrated to Three Tree Creek from France a few years ago.

TWELVE CANDIDATES FOR RHODES PRIZE.

TORONTO, Nov. 30th.—There are a round dozen candidates for the Rhodes scholarship, open to members of Toronto University, and preliminary examination has already been begun by the Senate to select the lucky man. The final choice will be made on December 11th, after President R. A. Falconer's return. The scholarship, which is for three years training at Oxford University, is one of a series arranged for by the great Imperialist, the late Cecil Rhodes of the British South Africa Company, whose name is perpetuated in that vast tract of land, Rhodesia. The scholarships are open to Britishers throughout the Empire, and are awarded on general thoroughness and sportsmanship rather than on academic knowledge alone.

TOOK NORWEGIAN STEAMER'S COAL.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—Reuter's Christiana correspondent says that a cablegram received there from Antofagasta states that a German cruiser stopped the Norwegian ship Helicon in Chilean waters, and compelled her to give up her cargo of coal. The captain of the steamer reported that the port side of the Helicon was badly crushed during the transfer of the coal, and that the vessel must dock for repairs.

The Merchants Anxiety Over Acorn and Brown's Great Slaughter Sale of Clothing That there is real concern among the clothing merchants of this city in regard to the values we are offering in overcoats, is proved by the extra amount of newspaper space used by them since we announced in a modest way that we were going to save YOU money on your new winter overcoat. THEIR ALMOST SUPERHUMAN EFFORTS to convince you with Printer's Ink that it was presumption on our part to challenge their right to YOUR trade, remind us of the efforts of the Great German War Machine to annihilate the little British Army. WE ARE NOT VERY BIG: But we are dispensing the biggest values in overcoats that were ever offered to the men of P. E. Island, and it will take more than Printer's Ink to make you buy a coat in any other store if you call and see what we are offering. Our Values are Irresistable We honestly believe that we have sold more coats during the past week than all the other stores put together--WHY? Simply because every man who has compared values declares that ours are without a doubt the best for the money they have ever seen. And Your Coat is Here Don't forget to call for it. This offering is in a class all by itself. Through it you have the privilege of selection from one of the largest Canadian manufacturers at a price that does not cover the cost of production.
