PATHEPIC RECORDS OF THE DEEPS.

—BRIDGEPORT, Cal., Nov. 5—An old assay certificate found on the body of Dr. J. D. Miller, who died in the shaft of his mining claim, 12 miles north of here, told two stories when it was deciphered in the coroner's office here yesterday. One side told of gold in Miller's shaft. The other bore the penciled record of the man's seven days imprisonment ended by death by noon on Friday, Oct. 12.

—Hay Wire Brace, McKay & Co., Summerside, have exceptionally good quality at low price. 11-3rdtu2w.

—Fox Netting Brace, McKay & Co., Summerside, can supply all widths in the different gauges from a big English shipment, just received. Telephone, or mail your order quickly. 11-3rdtu2w.

The body was found last Saturday with the left leg pinned against the side of the fifteen-foot shaft by a mass of rock. Miller stood upright as slightly inclined, and he must have seen the sun, which stood on the meridian, as he wrote the last line of his diary.

"Friday noon—Thirteenth; no hope. The certificate was folded and had been replaced in his pocket book.

The daily record follows:

"Oct. 6—Frank Yparraagarre 'Sweetwater: If help does not come send this message to M. C. Miller, wife, Harrisonburg, Va., and write what to do with body.—J. J. D. Miller."

"This occurred Friday morning, October 6. It is now Saturday noon. No help yet. Why did this come? Sunday night—It is cold and long.

God help me. I forgive mother. Monday—It is noon. Why did Dick forget? A drink of cold water would taste good. Am getting weak. Tuesday night—The end is near. Don't see how Dick can forget me. Wednesday night—Guess tonight will be the last; no hope; the end near. Thursday's record is illegible. Friday noon—Thirteenth. No hope. The 'Dick' referred to is Richard Burns, a teamster on the Yparraagarre ranch, where the two men had been employed together. The body was found by Barnes. Miller came to California about a year ago from Virginia. An unsuccessful attempt was made by the authorities to communicate with his widow in Harrisonburg yesterday.
