A Young Man's Safe and Profitable Investment

At the age of twenty a certain young man started to work.

His father wanted him to adopt a compulsory savings habit, and advised the young man to take out a Mutual Life Insurance Policy.

The father agreed to pay half the premiums on the $10,000 policy for the first five years to give the boy a good start, as the annual premium of $476.50 was a big part of the young man's salary at that time.

The young man took out the policy. That was 20 years ago. Today he is a man of 40. And he has just received in cash from the Mutual Life $3,345.10 MORE than he paid in premiums.

If you are a young man in the twenties, ask the Mutual Life agent about the policies similar to the one mentioned.

FINE RECEPTION.—On a beautiful evening in the early part of June, there assembled upon invitation of Mrs. W. E. Curtis, a large number of friends to a reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis in honor of Mr. Robert Weeks the titled step-dancer. A short programme, in which several old-time fiddlers took part, was first in order. Mrs. W. E. Curtis acted as accompanist for the different selections. Besides Mr. Weeks, Messrs. Reagh Younker, and Reavers Stewart, gave some fine violin performances. An address suitably replied to by Mr. Curtis was read by the host. A beautiful band, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Weeks by Miss Etta Younker. The following gentlemen from Charlottetown helped in several ways to make a pleasing entertainment. Major McKenzies, Mr. Ed Saunders and Mr. Jenkins, Mr. Edgar Shalmer, who originated the idea and also a song were much enjoyed. Dr. Robins delightfully entertained and had to reply to an encore. A song by Master Owen Curtis, a recitation made for the occasion by W. E. Curtis and an exhibition in step-dance by Mr. Weeks completed this part of the entertainment. A well-filled purse was handed by the guests to Mr. Weeks as a slight token of appreciation of his success, along the lines of old-time dancing and fiddling. The Young Peoples Society gave some excellent violin selections for some waltzes. The songs of Mr. Nelson Kent were much enjoyed by all. The tables in the spacious dining room were set up in the customary style of the hostess. Dancing which formed the remainder of the night's entertainment, was carried on until the dawning light appeared.

Appetite!

When you see an elderly man eating his dinner with the relish and enjoyment of a school boy, watch him help himself to Mustard. If it is not on the table, he will very quickly ask for it.

Those who acquire the habit of eating Mustard—of keeping their digestion keen and their appetite young—show a decided preference for freshly mixed Mustard.
