An attempt at robbery which took place on afternoon recently at the P. E. I. Railway has been a matter of discussion lately. A certain party who was going east had laid his valise which contained goods of considerable value, near his feet. Just as the Murray Harbor train was pulling out he missed the grip and immediately started after the southern train. He found his property in the possession of three individuals, who, on seeing the owner of the property, laid no claim to it but were rather disconcerted. The identity of the parties is unknown.

A magnificent life size portrait of the late Colonel Longworth, done in India ink, may be seen in the show window of the Cooke Studio on Queen Street. This artistic piece of work exhibits the high point to which the photographer's art has reached and shows that this studio is well to the front in all that is latest and best in photography. An excellent photo. of a lady done in water colors is also a splendid sample of this line of the firm's work. Persons wishing large portraits, either in India ink or water colors will benefit by calling at "The Studio Where Baby is Always Welcome."
