Little Hope

unequipped for ice breaking are carrying doctors, nurses and urgently needed supplies to the Viking survivors, but there seemed to be little chance of reaching the Island tonight. The next step perhaps a hazardous one, will if possible be undertaken at daylight tomorrow by combined sealing crews, who, under order of the Hon. H. B. C. Lake, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will start across the treacherous ice with physicians and supplies. Simultaneously the Viking crew on Horse Island will walk out to meet the rescue expedition, taking along injured members who will then be conveyed back to the Sagonia, while the injured men of the crew return to the Island with supplies most urgently needed.

Conflicting reports as to the number of survivors and missing have been made since the explosion, messages today indicated the Viking's complement was 155 instead of 142 as first stated. Latest advices gave 131 survivors and twenty two persons still missing. This, with the two bodies discovered today would complete the total of 155. Six survivors on the Sagonia would leave 125 on Horse Island.

Patrick Bartlett of Brigus was found dead today by searchers on the Sealer Eagle. Another body washed ashore was believed to be that of Robert Bartlett, of Marysville. These have been the only dead found to date, and in the absence of more information the other twenty persons, including Edward Cronin, a twelve years old boy, stowaway of St. John's can only be listed as missing. The discovered clothes bag and jacket of Bosun Carter indicated his life also might have been forfeited but a third body remains to be found.

Today saw another trio snatched from death. Late this morning the sealing ship Bothic picked up a dory containing W. G. Johnson, master, watch; Alfred Kean, mate and Fred Best, a native of Newfoundland and assistant to the moving picture party on the Viking. These men, suffering injuries, but not in a serious condition were transferred to the Sagonia, which also has on board the trio rescued yesterday, Harry Sargent, actor and explorer, and two members of the Viking Crew. Sargent, rapidly recovering, is in better condition than the other rescued men. The missing include Varick Frisell and A. E. Penrod, Sargent's companions in the motion picture venture as well as Dr. W. J. Roach, and the Viking's chief, second and third engineers.

Captain Abram Kean, Jr., whose condition previously was said to be improving, was reported very ill on Horse Island today. He advised the Government that medical aid and food were urgently needed by the survivors, and stated that the women residents had become exhausted as a result of their attempts to care for the scores of men flung upon the Island without warning. The steamers Eagle, Neptune, Beothic and Ungava, which abandoned the seal hunt to assist the Viking personnel were continuing their vigilant search for additional survivors tonight. Reaching the scene of the explosion, parties from the Neptune and Eagle found the ice strewn with wreckage, personal belongings and numerous articles from the Viking. No sign of life could be detected.

Concentrating on relief work, the Government has stopped transmission of press messages from Horse Island and the various rescue ships off Cape Race today reported a 25 mile northeast wind and cloudy weather conditions, presumably similar on the northeast coast. Tonights forecast however, was ominous, with a prediction of easterly gales snow and rain. Such weather might result in a fatal postponement of aid to those on Horse Island and make death almost certain for those still missing. As it is, little hope is held that these latter twenty two persons could have existed without food or warmth during the seventy two hours already elapsed.

COMPANY WILL BREAK TEN MILLION DOZEN EGGS

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 18.—Ten million dozen eggs will be cracked and either frozen or powdered by the Train Egg Products Company here within the next five months. The company, one of the few of its kind in the country, sells the liquid and powdered eggs to bakers, candy makers and manufacturers of ice cream, noodles and macaroni. Eggs from Missouri and Kansas are preferred because the yolks are a deeper yellow and the whites of thicker consistency. The eggs are packed in 30-gallon cans and then frozen before being shipped.

Health Board

to keep them up to the highest standard.

2. The City will have the benefit of the services of two full-time health officers, both specially trained for this work.

3. The public health nursing service which is now being carried on in the City, by the Red Cross Society will be continued.

4. The tuberculosis work now being carried on by the Provincial Board of Health, the Canadian Tuberculosis Association, and the Red Cross Society, will be continued.

5. The venereal disease work now being carried on by the Provincial Board of Health will be continued, and I wish to point out that out of 53 cases treated in 1930, 42 of them reside in Charlottetown, and the expenditures for the past year amounted to nearly $1,000.00. Charlottetown's share of this can be realized.

6. The present meat and milk inspection will be retained for work in Charlottetown at the same salary. If his services will be required elsewhere in the Province, he will be paid extra for this out of the Provincial Board of Health funds.

The sanitary inspector now employed by the City will be retained. As his salary does not appear under Public Health expenditure, it has not been taken into account in estimating our budget.

7. The active services of the present Health Officer of the City will not be required as the services of the two full-time health officers will be available.

We are very sorry for this, as Dr. McMillan has been wonderfully helpful to us from the beginning, five years ago, of our participation in health matters in Prince Edward Island. However, we hope it is his opinion as it is the experience elsewhere, that it has a detrimental effect on practice away in excess of the $300.00 salary.

8. The meat and milk inspector and the sanitary inspector will be under the supervision of the City Health officers in their official capacity as such.

9. The City Board of Health would retain jurisdiction over the health activities as at the present time and the Health Officer would submit reports at its monthly meetings.

10. The City last year expended salaries (exclusive of Sanitary Inspector) $2,375.00. If the City continues to provide its own sanitary inspector, who would be subject to the supervision of its Board of Health and Medical Officers of Health, the requirements of the new augmented Provincial full-time health service would be met by the payment of $2,000 to the office of the Provincial Board of Health, to make up a total of a $30,000.00 budget a year, and thereby the city will be relieved of the salaries of Health officers and food inspector.

11. The City would pass a Minutes-in-Council appointing Dr. Creelman as City Health Officer, and Dr. B. C. Keeping as assistant health officer and continue to appoint as necessary from time to time the officials replacing them in their provincial positions, and also that any additional staff, such as nurses, sanitary inspectors, or clerks, would be permitted to carry out any rules, or by-laws of the City, if the Health Officers so desired at any time under authority as provided by by-law or as agents of the officers authorized.

12. The Canadian Tuberculosis Association will retain a committee to work as an advisory committee in conjunction with Dr. Creelman, consisting of Mr. Reid of the London Life, Mr. V. R. Smith of the Confederation Life, and myself.

13. That the Chief Health Officer be informed of any proposed appointments for replacement in or increase to the personnel of the health service staff, so that he may advise on qualification, but not control.

14. The Canadian Tuberculosis Association stipulates that the reorganization shall follow approved plans of activities.

The above is submitted for your further consideration as being the clearest view, in a detailed way, that can be given at the present time. (Signed) R. E. WODEHOUSE.

The foregoing purports to be extracted from Dr. Wodehouse's letter of January 29, but contains amendments by the Council. Dr. Creelman explained that there would be two full time health officers in the Province, one of which would be located in Charlottetown. There was considerable discussion in the Council as each item of the plan was read.

Dr. McMillan expressed the opinion that the project would be a good one for the city. Dr. Creelman did not know whether or not an increase in amount would be required of the City in the years following.

sition a good one, and if it means an advancement in public health service it would be worth the increased expenditure.

Several councillors wished to know if the Council would have any influence in the appointment of the officers.

Dr. W. J. P. McMillan believed that in the event of a change of government Dr. Creelman would not be dismissed, as that official is paid from different sources.

A resolution of acceptance of the plan, to be submitted to Dr. Creelman was moved by Councillor Foster and seconded by Councillor Reardon.

GREAT LOSS

His Worship Mayor Prowse referred to the great loss which the City has sustained in the passing of Mr. J. P. Nicholson, who was for a great number of years City Engineer. Memorials of his work stand in all parts of the City. His Worship said: His guidance will be sorely missed by the Council, to the members of which he was a valuable personal friend.

A resolution was passed expressing the deep sense of loss felt by the City Council in the death of Mr. Nicholson, and extending sympathy to the members of his family.

His Worship read a letter from four ministers of the Crown at Ottawa acknowledging receipt of the brief re railway taxation, and stating that they would give the matter full consideration.

NO ALTERATIONS

Councillor Dougan stated that he had received tenders for the renovation of the Market Building.

His Worship stated that he had cautioned the council not to make a hasty decision in the matter of the proposed alterations as it might be a serious thing for the city to rent offices in competition with those who have offices to rent. It was understood that when the new library was built a rest room would be provided there.

Councillor Holman stated that he had changed his former favourable opinion on the matter. He had made a personal investigation he stated. In the basement of the library there is an excellent public toilet. The reading room of the library is an excellent place to rest, and provides a good rest room.

Councillor Blanchard stated that he also had changed his opinion. He stated that the proposed changed quarters would occupy one-third of the building.

Councillor Foster opposed the proposition as last year the City had a deficit, and should now retrench. Councillor Reardon concurred with the expressed opinion of the other councillors. His Worship instructed the city clerk to advise the president of the Tourist Bureau that no change would be made in the Market Building this year. In answer to a query Councillor Foster stated that the annex to the City Building would begin as soon as weather conditions permit.

CRITICIZE ELECTRIC CO.

A number of the councillors very strongly criticized the action of the Maritime Electric Co. in discharging a number of employees, local men of long records of service.

Councillor Foster stated that in view of the fact that the Maritime Electric Co. derives a revenue from the city they should not discharge local men and replace them with men from the mainland. The matter should be taken up with Mr. Coleman, the Maritime Manager. There is not much employment at the present time, and it might be necessary to pass a resolution of censure, the councillor said. The men were dismissed without a moment's notice.

Councillor Holman stated that he had received accurate information to the effect that among those discharged was a man employed in the company for thirty years, while another man has been obliged to take a minor position. The council, he believed, should protest vigorously, and unless there is very good reason for dismissal the men should be put back. It is the right of the Council to protect citizens, and the Maritime Electric is a public service company, not a private firm. The Maritime Electric people have a franchise which expires in a few years, and the Council can make other arrangements for getting light and power. Members of the staff who now remain do not know what moment they will be dismissed.

Councillor Kennedy thought that a resolution sent to Mr. Coleman might clear up the matter. Councillor Burke referred to the fire a few days ago at the power plant which was extinguished by quick action of the staff, and prevented a disaster. He believed that the council should object to the stand taken by the company.

Following the discussion the resolution of protest was passed. His Worship thought the proposition of protest was passed.

THE LAMPSON ARE AGAIN FUR SALES DEADLOCKED AT LONDON

Of interest to our readers will be the following report of the sale of silver fox skins at Lampson's fur sales held at the sales rooms in London during February. The offering of over 27,000 skins was the largest that has ever been made in London, and taking into consideration the huge quantities of skins which have been sold elsewhere, we think it bears remarkable tribute to the popularity of this fur that we were able to dispose of practically the whole offering without difficulty.

As was expected, prices are considerably lower than last year and we fear that in many cases the breeders may be disappointed with the result. If, however, they had been present at the sale and could have seen the crowd of buyers and heard the animated bidding, we have no doubt that they would have agreed that we acted in their best interests in meeting the market.

The offering was on the whole of fair quality and color, but did not contain a large proportion of fine specimens. This was perhaps as well as it was a noticeable feature of the sale that the decline in the case of the more expensive skins was greater than in those of medium price, whilst inferior of all sorts sold at full prices and even advanced in some cases. The highest price obtained was $275.00 for a large 3-4 silvery of fine quality received from Norway. The black slight silvery and 1-4 silvery, which have at recent sale been somewhat low in price, now sold comparatively well and these are only about 15 per cent lower than in November. The 1-2 silvery, 3-4 silvery and full silvery, which last season were in best demand show more decline and these are now about 25 per cent lower. All inferior sorts were in strong request and are somewhat higher than at the November sale. It is believed that the present range of prices will be maintained at least until the May sale, as there will no doubt be a considerable smaller offering.

The total number of skins offered were 27,286. The highest price paid for one skin was $275.00 for a fine quality 3-4 silver. Fine skins declined 25 per cent. A number of slight silvery sold were 2,935 at this average price of about $30,000 highest price $60,000, 1-4 silvery skins sold 4,065 average price $45.00. Highest price $175.00, 1-2 silvery skins sold 4,330 average price $55.00. Highest price $210.00, 3-4 silvery skins sold 5,406, average price $55.00. Highest price $275.00. Silver skins sold 1,267 average price $53.00. Highest price $175.00. Black skins sold 1,751, average price $30.00. Highest price $80.00. Inferior sorts skins sold 6,791 average price $20.00. Black slight silvery 1-4 silvery and 1-2 silvery declined 15 per cent, 3-4 silvery declined 25 per cent. The market for inferior sorts remained firm. The average price for Canadian cross fox skins is now about $35.00 and the highest figure realized at the sale was $90.00. Cross fox skins had declined 20 per cent. The offering was of better quality than for some time past and at the decline the demand was quite strong. Prices are likely to be maintained at the coming sale. The next sale of silver fox skins will be May 11th. Cross fox sale about April 30th.
