Harvest Thanksgiving

O ever bounteous King,
Our praise to Thee we bring,
Thou who dost crown the seasons
of the year;
Receive the thanks we pay
Upon this festive day,
As we within Thy sacred courts appear.

From Thee all blessings flow,
All gifts to Thee we owe,
Creator of the earth and starry sky;
Bright sunshine and cool showers,
Sweet fruit and fragrant flowers
Reflect Thy grace and beauty,
Lord most high.

The precious stores we gain
From fields of golden grain,
In silent speech proclaim Thy love
divine;
And all the gifts which we
Now offer unto Thee,
Proceed from Thee; we offer only Thee.

Great God, receive the praise
Which unto Thee we raise,
In thanks for all Thy care and
gifts of love;
Grant us to love Thee more
And bring us to adore Thine unveiled presence in Thy home above.

more an office-holder talks about resigning his job, the tighter he clings election will, of course, be noted by the people of this Island Province. Many more effective laws for the prevention of the liquor evil than prohibition can be obtained it is to be hoped that our teachers and our clergy and our societies generally will second the efforts of our press in impressing the minds of our youth with the dangers that lurk in the intoxicating cup, and that all will unite to strengthen the hands of those commissioners, judges, magistrates, policemen and other constables, whose duty it is to administer the law as it is and punish bootleggers and others who dare to break it.

ful pair of Russian boots, but if the King's daughter ever wore them no one saw her. Princess Mary, incidentally, wears rubber boots during rainy weather.

Garters with cases for holding powder and puff, and others with clips for holding handkerchiefs, are among the latest fashions for English women.

Shawls worn by the fashionable in the New York parade, make a color array that is something for a chorus to vie with in brilliance. They not only are those imported from Spain with their heavy embroidery or other striking importations from China and Japan, but are made from gorgeous weaves in metal cloths or woven with designs in brilliant. Some of these shawls dazzle the eye with the play of light on their encrustments of crystal or metal designs.

Mrs H. M. Stewart was at home to her many friends Friday afternoon. Mrs Stewart was assisted in receiving by Miss Heber Clarke, while little Miss Helen Higgins opened the door. The room was prettily decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and lighted with yellow candles.
