TOO "SCIENTIFIC"

There is a time for "scientific bidding," and a time when the exchange of detailed information with partner is too revealing to the enemy. Let's consider a case from a recent team-of-four contest:

9-5A

South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠Q 5 ♥J 9 8 4 ♦A K 9 4 ♣K 7 5
♠J 9 6 4 ♥7 ♦Q 6 3 2 ♣Q 8 6 4	N W E S	♠K 10 3 ♥7 2 ♦10 5 3 ♥J 10 5 ♣10 3
	♠A 3 ♥A K Q 6 4 ♦8 7 ♣A J 9 2

The bidding at one table of this team-of-four match was simple and direct, as follows:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

At this table, West, with nothing to guide him, fumbled uncertainly among his three four-card suits and finally came out with the sheer guess of a low club. After that, of course, the declarer was absolutely safe, making his own five hearts, three club tricks, two diamonds, one spade, and a club ruff in dummy.

At the other table South and North figuratively took the opponents by the hand and showed them how to defeat six hearts! Here the bidding was:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

The extensive cue bidding indulged in told West in no uncertain terms that he had better lead a spade, since he was familiar with the tactics of both opponents and knew that both of them bid "honestly" — that is, that the club bid by South and the diamond bid by North were designed to reassure each other that controls were held in those suits. Hence West led his fourth-highest spade. The queen was put up from dummy but East smothered it with the king, and from that time on this South player was in difficulty. He could have made the contract by playing "double dummy", by not having second sight, he tried a normal club finesse, up to his own jack, and when West took this trick he wasted no time in laying down the spade jack.

This was one case in which, after the jump heart raise by North, South's best action was a direct leap to six hearts.
