QUEEN'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Head Offices In New Prowse Block—Charlottetown.

The mail train arrived last evening at 10.15.

The Northumberland arrived last night at 8.30.

The tide will be high tonight at 9.20 and tomorrow morning at 9.

Mrs. (Rev.) Maxwell, Durham, N. S., is visiting relatives in the City.

Augustine McInnis of Earnscliffe has returned from a visit to West.

Mrs. Wm, Harper of Glace Bay formerly of this City is ill of typhoid fever in the hospital at that place.

Rev. H Nicholl preaches in Orwell Head and St. Andrews Churches, Orwell at the usual hours on Sunday Oct 6th.

Any boy wanting to learn the printing, or who has had some experience, should call at The Guardian at once. An exceptional chance for the right boy.

The death took place in Crapaud yesterday at 3 a m, of Mrs Jesse Leard aged twenty-four. She leaves to mourn one child and husband. The funeral will take place today at 3 o'clock.

The Buster Brown page which is appearing from week to week in The Guardian is growing in popularity. In tomorrow's comic section Buster is especially naughty and receives in a good natured way chastisement of a serious nature administered by his much enduring manner.

The St. Paul's Church was beautifully decorated with flowers, fruit, leaves, etc, for the Harvest Home service which was held last evening. Quite a congregation was present and the sermon by Rev. A W Mitchell, rector of Kensington, was most suitable. The music by the choir was a pleasing feature and the entire service was one of thanksgiving and praise.

The marriage took place in Calgary, Alta, on Sept 25th last of Beginald Stewart son of Ewen and Mrs. Stewart of this City to Miss Ruby Alice Jameson of Calgary. Mr. Stewart has a large circle of friends in this Province who will wish him much happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside at 343, 14th Avenue West, Calgary, and will be at home to their friends after Nov 1st.

Word has just been received of the death at Grand Rapids Michigan, on Sunday last of Mrs. Jabez Barnard, formerly of Charlottetown. Mrs. Barnard was a sister of Edward Moore of this City Bertram Moore who is now on a visit here and James St. C. Moore of Eldon. She lived to a good old age, being in her 88th year, was a good mother and lived a noble Christian life. She has been in poor health for some months and was fully prepared for the passing to another life and to receive the welcome "good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of thy Lord." Mr. Barnard predeceased his wife seventeen years ago.

There are two broadly different view points for the study of human life, and especially its frailties, follies and failures. The contrast is set forth in a saying of the laughing philosopher Democritus in brerply to the weeping philosopher, Heraclitus: "The world is ridiculous and I laugh at it; it is deplorable and thou lamentest over it." Last evening another laughing philosopher, Hon. J. H. Fletcher, held the close attention of a large audience in the school-room of the First Methodist Church while he discoursed upon Sowing Wild Oats. He gave his auditory at least three laughs to the minute, with much that was serious, wise and impressive, eloquently disposed between. The feather that guides the arrow to its mark may be a joke, a witticism, an ironical phrase, or a touch of sarcasm. Mr. Fletcher is an expert marksman, and out of his full quiver every arrow struck home. The lecturer is privileged to use some weapons that are denied to, or withheld from the armory of the preacher and a wing-shot of so sure an aim as Mr. Fletcher can "shoot folly as it flies". His wisdom is sugar-coated with wit and apt illustration, but only those who fear to laugh could fail to appreciate the moral lessons which were so cleanly yet pleasantly conveyed. Mayor Paton presided with his usual genial urbanity. Rev Dr Dobson and Bertram Moore who respectively moved and seconded the vote of thanks, did not, as some times happens, err on the side of fulsome laudation. Mr Fletcher in acknowledging the tribute spoke feelingly of this being probably his last visit to the Island.

THE IMPORTANT THING.

S. E. Kiser.

You boast about your pedigree,
You tell me that your blood is blue
But is your line family,
Entitled to be proud of you?

Your uncle, whose proud name you bear,
Whose deeds are ever on your tongue,
Does he go boasting everywhere
That from one source you both have sprung?

You trace your lineage to one
Who crossed with Conquering William's crew,
But what great service have you done,
And are your kinsmen proud of you."

Advertisers will kindly bear in mind that The Guardian cannot undertake to insert in following issue any "changes" of ads received after one o'clock each afternoon.

Paton & Co., intend holding their annual fall millinery opening this evening. The store which will be most tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, pretty millinery trimmings and the light weight fall goods, will present a charming appearance.

The Exchequer Court yesterday morning continued the hearing of the land case of William Gordon (farmer). Judgment was reserved. David Shaw's case was next taken up. Judgment was also reserved. Daniel McGregor's case late in the afternoon was called and commenced and will be resumed this morning.
