Honored By Visit Of Vice Regal Party

The Rev. D. L. Griffiths now of Quebec, who was pastor of Belfast, P. E. I. Church up to last October, writing to a Charlottetown friend this week, states in the course of his letter, "Last Sunday A. M. we had the surprise of our lives, when we were informed that Lord Tweedsmuir would be at our morning service, as he was spending a day or two at the Record Mansions a few miles away. It all turned out to be correct for a few minutes before eleven I had the joy of welcoming the Governor General at the door of our church in Leggett's Point. He was accompanied by his son and Mr. and Mrs. Reid. I suggested to the Governor General that he read the Scripture lesson, which he did admirably as one to whom the did was not a strange book. Like most men of true greatness, he is a good listener. My son Kenneth sang a solo during the service "How lovely are Thy dwellings" and His Excellency thanked him at the close of the service. I can assure you that the unexpected visit of the distinguished man will be long remembered in this community.

Grey Owl Would Employ Indians Save Wild Life

WASKEBU, Sask., June 28—(CP)—An earnest plea for stricter wildlife and forest conservation measures and suggestions that men of his own race be engaged in this work, were made by Grey Owl, internationally-known Indian naturalist, author and lecturer, in an interview here in Prince Albert National Park, 45 miles northwest of Prince Albert.

With his wife, Grey Owl will leave here soon for Eastern Canada to finish his motion picture "The Trail", which gives a panoramic view of the Canadian Northland. Later he will lecture in Canada, United States and England. The naturalist, who first attracted notice by training beavers, is still fighting for the cause of these hardy creatures of the waterways, and his two pet beavers, Jelly-Roll and Rawhide are aiding him.

"Let the beaver thrive and they will conserve the water," said Grey Owl. "Allow them to be destroyed through excessive trapping and poorly enforced regulations and conditions of our lakes and streams will grow steadily worse." He referred to present alarming low levels of some northern lakes.

"Beaver should be allowed to increase ten-fold, a hundred-fold and then trapped selectively in proper seasons, under properly devised and strictly enforced game laws, if we are to retain the waterways of our Northlands." Such work should be entirely divorced from political consideration he said, and the Indians should be put to work nurturing the North and carefully protecting its inhabitants. "Why not let them help the great cause by putting them to work at the job they love?" he asked.

In almost all cases forest fires were due to the carelessness of man, he said, and the Indians with their great knowledge of the North, could help in the great preservation cause.

"I appeal for human understanding and sympathy and tolerance," he concluded. "Let us be more Canadian-minded. In a properly administered North we have the greatest asset any country ever had."

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, June 28—J. L. Steele of Russell, Ont., tonight was elected Grand Master of the Black Chapter, British Columbia, at secret sessions which saw the Chapter pass a resolution protesting recent dissolution in Quebec of "mixed" marriage.

Grand Master Steele succeeds Richard McKee of Saint John who retires from the office. The resolution deploring the marriage annulment reads: "That this Most Worshipful Grand Black Chapter of British America respectfully draws the attention of the Hon. the Minister of Justice to the (recent) action of Judge Twyler of the Supreme Court of the Province of Quebec (Chief Justice J. H. Fortier of the sessions of the peace at Three Rivers) in annulling a marriage contracted in the province of Ontario and in expressing its absolute opposition to such action, respectfully requests that steps be taken to end such interference with the rights of the province of Ontario."

The resolution, a spokesman said, was carried unanimously. On behalf of the Chapter Sir Richard Squires, former Premier of Newfoundland, presented a silver rose bowl to Lieut.-Col. Sir William Allen of Belfast, Northern Ireland, Supreme Grand Preceptor of the Grand Black Chapter of the British Commonwealth, who brought greetings to the meeting. Other elections included: Deputy Grand Master, J. A. McCallum of Campbellton, N. B.

Lack Of Interest In Legislation Convener Says

"In presenting this report regarding the Questionnaire on Legislation prepared by Mrs. W. J. Reid, Kinkora, I am somewhat surprised at the lack of interest in this interesting and important subject, as only eighty-eight replies were received," Mrs. John McGuigan of Hope River, convener of legislation, said in her report at the 24th convention of Prince Edward Island Women's Institutes last week.

"However, it is encouraging to find the majority of answers show the members gave considerable time and thought to their replies." "In regard to the first question, eighty-one replied in the affirmative. All the sections of question two and three were answered very completely, as was question four. Very many helpful suggestions were given in reply to question five, and one Institute added that the members thought that this Questionnaire was one of the most interesting that they have answered."

"From the response to this questionnaire, Legislation does not appear to be a subject which interests the majority of question two and three, but it is a subject to which no class of persons in Canada can be indifferent. No one can properly discharge the duties they owe to the public, to themselves, nor to their families without in some degree possessing a definite knowledge of the laws by which all are bound, and the obligations resting upon each as an individual."

"We should give thought and consideration to the subject of government and how it functions. The intelligence of the government depends on the general intelligence of the voters. If the legislature, and the government are to enact wise and proper laws, the people must not only vote, but must vote intelligently, and to vote intelligently they must be informed on public problems. Good government and wise laws are the consequence of an intelligent voting."

"We know the world is in a far from happy condition, that the midst of plenty there is poverty; that our resources are being used to greater use for the benefit of mankind, and that unemployment must still be solved. Man's laws governing our economic, industrial and national life has somehow fallen short. Only study, discussion and experiment can better them. We, through our legislation programs are doing our bit. May we continue to do so and no one will doubt that by opening the windows of intelligence to wider visions, the rural woman will help raise the whole standard of community living."

ROTARY

"Boys' work is the most important work in the community, and adults who are best adapted to do this work have a tremendous responsibility and a wonderful opportunity. Rotarians should spend their time and energy on behalf of the youth of Charlottetown."

This was the statement made by Nelson MacEwen, a Montreal National Boys' Work Secretary of the Canadian Y.M.C.A., Montreal, in addressing the Rotarians yesterday.

Mr. MacEwen is a native of Charlottetown, being a son of the late Douglas MacEwen.

He discussed first, "What is boys' work?" and second, "The rights of boys." Boys' work "does not mean taking out a group of boys or amusing them. It does not mean lecturing, rescuing and uplifting them, checking up on them, but it means social engineering in the motivation of boyhood."

The social engineer supervises the social mechanics at work, provides blue prints as it was, and directs work among boys.

The speaker then discussed the home group, play group, the school and church group, and the community group. He commended the Y.M.C.A. for its Hobbies Show.

Work among individuals and organizations were also dealt with. All boys' work agencies should come together in a great community force to care for the boys. Boys have a right to healthy recreation, skill rather than intensive competition being the objective. Damage is often done by too many prizes.

They have a right to camp, to belong to something; they have a right to education, the right to a philosophy of life.

Rotarian A. M. Belcher was in the chair, and the guests were John C. MacKay, of Sydney, a native of Bradabane, and R. W. Beckett.

The annual report of Secretary Mould showed the total membership of the club 62, a gain of three. The monthly average attendance was 84.4 per cent. Sixteen addresses were given by Rotarians and twenty-four by non-Rotarians. There were 46 visiting Rotarians and 193 guests entertained.

Ex-president J. M. Murley retired from office, and president-elect Neil MacLean took his place.

PROSPECTORS FAIL TO REACH NAHANNI EDMONTON, June 28—(CP)—Wild and mysterious, the Upper Nahanni country of the northwest Territories near the Yukon boundary where the Liard and Nahanni rivers meet, has defeated another effort to get the gold which many prospectors believe is plentiful there.

Frustrated in an ambitious attempt to establish a base where at least five men are reported to have met mysterious deaths, J. H. Mullolland, leader of the prospecting trek, returned to Edmonton to organize a second expedition. With eight white prospectors and a tribe of Indians, Mullolland travelled 1,000 miles by scow down the Mackenzie, Liard and South Nahanni rivers when ice blocked the way and forced their return to Port Simpson just when they were within sight of their goal.

The veteran trapper and trader set out from Fort McMurray, Alta., in July, 1936, with his partner P. Field, resident of the Nahanni country for 20 years. On the voyage which was intended to place them within striking distance of the supposedly verdurous Nahanni area, 40 tons of supplies were carried. It had been planned the party would live off the land during the winter and then plan placer gold.
