Buying Investment Securities By Mail.

We wish to impress upon you the fact that you can do business with us—and with the utmost satisfaction—no matter where you live and no matter how small or large the amount of funds available, for investment. Wherever the mails go we can do business.

The requirements of individual investors differ so widely that it is out of the question preparing a number of cut and dried suggestions that will meet the requirements of all who make inquiries regarding investments. For this reason we ask intending investors to give us an idea of the amount of funds they have available for investment, whether they desire Government bonds or municipal debentures, high grade bonds or stocks. In many cases investors leave this point entirely to our decision. In such cases we are guided by the circumstances of those making the investment. We take pleasure in answering all inquiries regarding investment.

DENIES FALSE EVIDENCE USED

Attorney Declares Allegation of Deal to Secure Acquittal of Hattie LeBlanc Is False

BOSTON Sept. 25.—Attorney Melvin M. Johnson emphatically stated last night that the charge made by Attorney Samuel D. Elmore in the Probate Court, East Cambridge, that false testimony knowingly was used to acquit Hattie LeBlanc was untrue. Mr. Johnson refused to comment further on the Probate Court hearing.

"In fact," said Mr. Johnson, "it is not up to me to say anything, I know nothing about the matter, except what I have just read in the newspaper accounts. I do not know what witnesses the charges were directed at, nor whether the matter will be carried further. I have received no official notification."

"Then you will not go so far as to say that the charges are untrue?" Mr. Johnson was asked.

"Oh, of course, they are untrue, but I do not care to discuss the matter further at this time."

Mr. Almore's statements were made yesterday in the Probate Court, East Cambridge, before Judge McIntyre, on the petition to be allowed $11,472.29 for counsel fees and expenses in connection with the Glover will and other cases.

Mrs Lillian M. Glover, wife of the murdered laundryman, appeared to protest against granting the petition. She was represented by Attorney John Coulthurst.

Mr. Elmore explained on the witness stand some of the items calling for the amount of money or which he petitioned. He wanted $1005 for Fletcher Ranney's services. $232 for a stenographer, $2200 for one assistant, $128 for another, $2106 for expenses, $5000 for his own services and $1000 to prepare for the next will case, the latter sum not to include counsel fees.

After reviewing the affairs of the Glover household and the conduct since the murder, Mr. Elmore stated that the Glover brothers arrayed themselves in behalf of a young person whom they never had seen.

"Astoundibg as this may seem," continued Mr. Elmore, "there were other facts that I need not mention to convince that a trade had been made between the interests of the defence of Hattie LeBlanc and the contestants of the will."

After relating his work in connection with the case, Lawyer Elmore said: "Among the things that I have secured—and I have an affidavit of it—is the acknowledged confession of Miss LeBlanc."

He stated that he secured the alleged confession from a private confession, and pointed out the following entry on his ledger to verify:

"February 21, to E. Leon Von Rahr, detective, $50."

The witness then stated after reviewing the testimony in the murder trial, he had come to the conclusion that false testimony knowingly was used to acquit Hattie LeBlanc of the charge of murdering Clarence F. Glover. Mr. Elmore declared that he had affidavits to prove all his assertions.

On cross-examination Mr. Elmore admitted that he knew that Mrs. Glover's interests had been reduced, but didn't know how much.

Mr. Elmore said that he had attempted to arrange matters looking forward toward a settlement of the will, and that he believed that the Glover brothers would settle for $3000 or less, and that they had all they wanted.

He testified that when an attempt was made by Attorney Carney to settle the will contest, last April, before the trial in the Supreme Court, he gave an itemized account of his expenditures and that they amounted to between $10,000 and $11,000 at that time.

Seymour Glover, one of the beneficiaries, declared that Elmore was never counsel for him, although he had asked his advice on different occasions.

He said he never had made an attempt to settle the will of his own accord, but that when, after conference last spring. Mrs. Glover offered him $5000, then $8000 and finally $10,000, he refused and wanted $12,000 for his share, out of which he was to pay the brother's counsel.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Miss Matilda Moisant and Miss Harriet Quimby will compete against Mlle. Helene Dutrieh, at the International Aviation Meet, September 23 to October 1 inclusive at Nassau Boulevard, Long Island. The arrangement for their positive appearance was closed last night between Timothy L. Woodruff, General Manager, and Alfred Moisant. This assures the greatest women's contest in the history of aviation.

Mlle. Dutrieu is now on her way to America on board the steamer Provence, which will arrive here Friday night or Saturday morning, bringing with her a racing Farman, built especially for her by Henry Farman, Miss Moisant and Miss Quimby will use a Bleriot type of monoplane built by the Moisant Company. They use a Gnome motor of fifty horse power.

There wll be at least three days of the meet on which the programme will include races between the women now entered.

PEORIA, Ill., Sept. 22— President Taft in a heart to heart talk here yesterday with the different Republican factions in Illinois defined his status as to progressiveness, pleaded guilty to being a poor politician, acknowledged again that his ambition had lain in the direction of the office of Chief Justice rather than the Presidency, admitted that he undoubtedly had made many mistakes, but asserted that as president he had tried to do what he thought to be right. What the future held for him he did not know; he would go ahead doing the best he could.

Mr. Taft declared that he was not allied with the extremists of his party, either Conservative or progressiveness, bdt had tried to take a middle ground between the two.

"But we in the middle of the road people believe we are the real progressive," said the President, "because you do not make progress niin great strides, you make it step by step."

The speech made by the President was the most significant and interesting of his trip thus far, He still was downcast by the ddefeat of the Reciprocity Agreement in Canada, but his only reference to that subject was made earlier in the day when he addressed the working men in a local manufacturing establishment where farming implements are made.

"I was sorry to hear that in Canada they do not care to have closer commercial relations with us" said he "If reciprocity had been adopted we could have gotten our agricultural implements into Canada at a substantial decrease. But I guess we can get along."

NEW YORK, Sept. 22—An attempt to get "brain twists" out of a boy's mind by cutting open his skull was made yesterday afternoon in the Volunteer St. Gregory Hospital in Gold street. It was said last night by Dr. Kirsch that the oheration itself had been successful and that it was hoped the young patient would be restored to a normal state, but that cannot be told definitely for several weeks.

Charles F. Gastiger, ten years old, is the boy. His father is Charles Gastiger of No. 312 Stanhope street, Brooklyn. Several years ago young Charles was struck by a trolley car. His head was wounded, but he soon apparently got over the trouble.

Strange symptoms began to develop more than six months ago. First there was a strange trembling of the hands. This was attributed to overstudy and general nervousness. But the trembling grew more pronounced and extended to the rest of the body. One day the boy fell in a convulsion. "I believe he is epileptic," said a doctor.

But other and graver signs appeared. The boy would lose memory whenever he had a "spell" and would talk vaguely. Another surgeon was brought in. He thought paresis was develouing side by side with epilepsy. The incipient paresis produced a semi paralysis. It became more and more difficult for the boy to use his limbs regularly. At intervals he lost control of them altogether. When he was taken to St. Gregory's Hospital for observation several days ago, Dr. Kirsch summoned Dr. Joseph H. Forbes and other surgeons. They found signs of an old wound on the boy's head. The X-rays were applied and revealed the true cause of the "brain twists."

When the trolley car struck the boy the force of the collision was exerted in so strange a way that the inner table of the skull was broken, yet the skull's centre wall was not fractured. Therefore, the fracture had escaped the notice of the surgeons.

The inner fractire had let the skull sag and press upon the brain. In time the thick outer covering of the brain adhered to new bony growths that formed inside the skull in its natural attempt to heal itself.

The injury was over the motor centre of the brain, and the gradually increasing pressure affected the motor faculties until the brain lost control of limb movements. The paresis had developed because of the bone pressure.

Having determined that the boy's epilepsy was not of the inherited type, but rather the kind called "Jacksonian epilepsy," which comes from brain hurts, the surgeons decided they must open the head and chisel off the new bony growths.

That was what was done at the operation which was performed by Dr. Kirsch and witnessed by nerve and brain experts from the other hospitals. Dr. Kirsch says Gastiger's brain gradually will grow back to a normal condition, now that the pressure is gone, unless it develops that the operation was put off too long.

MT. ALLISON NEWS

Sackville, N. B., Sept. 23,—The position of professor of Physics in Mt. Allison University, made vacant by the resignation of Dr. McKay, has been filled by Guy G. Becknell, Ph. D., of Goshen Ind. Dr. Becknell graduated from the North Western Military Academy in 1897. He took the degree of B. S., in 1904 from the North Western University, and in 1905 the degree of M. S. He won a scholarship from the same University in 1902 and a Fellowship in 1905. He was Hororary Fellow of Clark University in 1909 and Research Assistant of Prof. A. G. Webster.. He was Senior Fellow of Clark University in 1908 and 1911, taking the degree of Ph. D. this year. He has taught in the Goshen public schools of Goshen, Ind., and in the Elkhart Normal School of Elkhart, Ind.; was assistant instructor in 1906 in Purdue University and instructor in Physics in 1907 and 1908. Dr. Becknell is spoken of as being an absolutely straight-forward and clear-headed fellow, a man who will prove a real acquisition to any institution that is fortunate enough to secure his services. He has a fine English style both in written and spoken discourse. This combined with the high grade of his scholarship in both Mathematics and Physics has made him a very successful teacher. When he held the Fellowship in Physics at North Western University he made a very beautiful investigation of the Ionization of the Electric Arc, which was published in the Physical Review. He is said to be clear, courteous and interesting, always dignified, and will command the respect of every studenta in his classes, from start to finish. Prof. Webster, of Clark University, speaks in the highest terms of Dr. Becknell, who will undoubtedly prove a splendid acquisition to the University Faculty.

Mt. Allison University popened Thursday and classes begin on Monday. The Residence is full to overflowing and new students are still arriving. The Freshman class will probably number between fifty and sixty.

OBITUARY.

At De Sable, on Aug., 26th, there peacefully passed into the "great beyond," Lydia May Ferguson, aged two years and seven months. She was the daughter of Marcus and Mrs. Ferguson, and although so young in years, will be greatly missed by her parents, brothers and sisters. She was the joy of the home, so young, so tender and so fair, but :—

Nipt by the wind's unkindly blast,
Parched by the sun's directer ray,
The momentary glories waste.
The short-lived beauties die away.

So blooms the human face divine,
When youth its pride of beauty shows;
Fairer than spring the colours shine,
And sweeter than the virgin rose.

Let sickness blast, and death devour,
If Heaven must recompense our pains;
Perish the grass, and fade the flower,
If firm the word of God remains.

GUS EDWARDS AT B. F. KEITH'S, BOSTON.

Gus Edwards, the celebrated song writer and composer, guthor of "Sunbonnet Sue," and over a hundred other popular hits, will be the principal attraction at B. F. Keith's Theatre next week. Last season Mr Edwards invaded vaudeville with his big Song Revue, carrying a company of thirty-three singers, dancers, and comedians, and eight elaborate scenes. It met with tremondoue success in every city on the B. F. Keith circuit, and proved such a drawing card that Mr Edwards was persuaded to make another tour this season with a new and even more pretentious production. The 1911-1912 edition of The Song Revue, as it is called, surpasses in spectacular beauty and originality even his great act of last year. For this offering Mr Edwards has written a number of new songs that are declared by those who have heard them to be the catchiest he has ever turned out. One of them is "My Italian Romeo," sung by Mr Edwards and thirty Italian boys and girls in a stage setting representing a village in Southern Italy. Another big novelty is "By the light of the Silvery Moon," introduced in a scene showing a beautiful sylvan lake after nightfall. Mr Edwards is supported by Lillian Boardman and a company of forty people. Other big features will be Salerno, the European juggler; Marie Gardner and Grand Stoddard in "Vaudeville Frivolities;" Harlan Knight & Co. in "The Chalk Line;" The Thunderbolts, English musical comedians; The Heim Children; and Melrose, the clown with the tables and chairs.

"Sovereign" Cashmere Hose and Half Hose will outwear all other makes.
