RUFFIANS TORTURE THIRTY CHILDREN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—In the forty-eight hours ending at six o'clock last night thirty girls and boys had applied at Bellevue Hospital for treatment for what they called fox bite, and as a result the police are seeking two young men who apparently have delighted in inflicting an odd torture upon the children.

In each instance the arm of the child had been bared almost to the elbow and while one of the young men held the arm out in a straight position his companion would rub a cap or piece of other cloth up and down the arm vigorously, until there was a hemorrhage through the inflammation skin, or until the skin itself had been rubbed off.

MADE WORLD'S RECORD.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—When Joe Wood, Boston's star pitcher turned in a season's record of thirty-four victories to five defeats for an average of .872 last week, he set a pitching mark which has never been reached in modern times. Reulbach, of the Chicago Nationals, came the nearest to it with .826 in 1906, while Mathewson's best made in 1904 was .814.

Mathewson, however, has twice won more than 34 victories in a season. He took 35 games in 1904 and 37 in 1906. In his long career Mathewson has collected 313 victories against 143 defeats an average of .686.

OBJECTS TO LINK WITH DR. COOK.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The linking of Dr. Cook's name with his, caused Dr. Vilhjalm Stefansson, the explorer, to announce yesterday that, if necessary, he was willing to go before a body of men to settle permanently his statements regarding the blond Eskimos he discovered in Victoria.

Stefansson, who is at the American Museum of Natural History, said he had been informed by scientific men abroad that in the absence of more detailed matter regarding his discovery efforts had been made, especially in Denmark, to class him with Cook. There would be no object in my part to make claims I could not substantiate, said the explorer. I have no lecture tour at stake. I am busy preparing a report to be submitted to the museum when it is completed.

TO IRON SILK WAIST.

Silk must be ironed quite damp, or it will have a rough, unfinished appearance. Use a moderately warm iron and place a piece of muslin between it and the right side of the silk. A hot iron yellow the silk and gives a crimped, rough appearance. After passing the iron over the muslin, take it away and iron the silk to make it have a good gloss. Any lace should be ironed on the wrong side, as lace should not have a gloss. If the hot iron, were put directly on to the surface of the wet silk, the silk would stick to the iron and this would make a shriveled look, hence the need of the muslin.

Begin ironing with the collar-band and neck, then the sleeves. Use a sleeve-board for ironing the sleeves. After ironing all the small parts, begin with one side of the waist and iron the whole of it. Silk should be ironed quickly and carefully, so as not to make creases, as it is almost impossible to get them out. If the waist is trimmed with lace and lace insertions, gather up the lace in the hand, dip the fingers into some starch and put it on the lace. Squeeze out the starch, being very careful that it does not touch the silk.

For the insertion spread it out on the hand and put the starch on it evenly with the fingers. Put the starched parts carefully on each other, when rolling the waist up in a cloth. Ironing the slip wet gives it a smooth and glossy appearance, but should the waist get dried before it is ironed, dip it into clean cold water and roll it in a cloth. Do not sprinkle water over it, as that would make it look rough and blotchy when ironed. When finished, fold the waist neatly without creasing and put it out to air.

LLOYD GEORGE DEFIED BY THE DETECTIVES.

LONDON, October 7.—The war between the doctor and Chancellor Lloyd George over the National Insurance act continues. The medical men are still holding out for better pay under the government scheme, and 6,042 doctors have already resigned their appointments. The doctors assert that without their aid it is impossible to put in force the medical benefit provisions of the act. The government is now considering the possibility of dispensing with their services and organizing a national medical service to take their places.

The original plan was to pay the doctors $1.08 yearly for each insured patient, with drugs and other allowances, bringing the amount to $144. Discontent and refusal to accept this allowance, demanding at least $2.94 for each patient. Several efforts have been made to effect a compromise but without avail.

SMILE A LITTLE.

Smile a little day by day. As you pass along life's way, it will surely make more clear Paths that now are dark and drear. Discontent and churlish ways, Cast o'er life a hurtful haze, Shutting out the good and true, Making dark the skies of blue.

Smile a little while you may. Smile at work as well as play. Let your face ne'er wear a frown, Let your troubles gently down; Angry words but wound the heart Like the subtle poisoned dart— So in every little while, Breathe your face into a smile.

WOMEN PEARL-DIVERS.

The pearl divers of Japan are women. Along the coast of the bay of Ago and the bay of Kokasho the thirteen and fourteen-year old girls, after they have finished their primary school work, go to sea and learn to dive. They are in the water and learn to swim almost from babyhood. They are, except in the coldest season—from the end of December to the beginning of February. Even during the most inclement of seasons they sometimes dive for pearls. They wear a special dress, with the hair twisted up into a hard knot. The eyes are protected by glasses to prevent the entrance of water.

A boat in command of men is assigned to every five or ten women divers to carry them to and from the fishing grounds. When the divers arrive on the ground they leap into the water at once, and begin to gather oysters at the bottom. The oysters are dropped into tubs suspended from their waists. When these are filled the divers are raised to the surface and jump into the boats. They dive to a depth of five to thirty fathoms without any special apparatus, and retain their breath from one to three minutes. Their ages vary from thirteen to forty years, and between twenty-five and thirty-five they are at their best.

THE FASHION IN GIRL NAMES.

Since the accession of Queen Mary as Queen Consort of England there has been a great run upon her Christian name at the fonts of the churches. Names come and go with Kings and Queens, but there can be no doubt that Royalty in these days is baptisimally no longer the attraction that it was. Even King Edward was not successful in reviving the once great popularity of his old English name. People nowadays think more of the novelty of a name than its historical associations. But King Edward could boast that he popularized one name, for until it became known that the pet name of the Prince of Wales of the second half of the nineteenth century was "Bertie" that name was almost unknown in Britain, although as the surname of a family of patricians it had been extant for centuries. In the matter of female names Adelaide and Caroline gave place to Victoria and Alexandra, neither of which were native names; but unless we are much mistaken Mary is likely to have "a long run." Mary is the Queen's daughter, it is beside the home by the pretty daughter of Her Majesty's brother, the Duke of Teck. Mary is likely to have a tremendous vogue for very special reasons ten years hence.

ENGLISH PARLIAMENT MEETS.

LONDON, October 8.—The House of Commons assembled more or less regularly yesterday for the autumn session, which was begun to be regarded as the inevitable annual fiction. It was evident at the outset that the anxiety over the Balkan overshadowed domestic matters of which the report of the Titanic disaster was placed in the first business program.

CUT THIS OUT AND PASTE IT UP

Almost every day The Guardian receives orders by mail to insert news matter of an advertising nature. In most of these cases the senders, who are frequently not known to any member of the staff and who have no account in the advertising department, write "Please insert the following and oblige," thus apparently implying that they think the items will be inserted free. Only a few weeks ago a reader wrote asking that his advertisement of Farm for Sale be inserted free from day to day until he cancelled it, as he is a subscriber to The Guardian. In this connection it may be said that the subscription price is not sufficient to even pay the actual cost of paper, ink, presswork, mailing, bookkeeping and other expenses of the Circulation department proper, and thus subscribers have no privileges of free advertising and are on the same footing as non-subscribers. Seldom ever does the sender state whether the item is to appear Daily, whether for one or more times in either Daily, or in both, whether as a display advertisement, announcement, business local, classified ad or otherwise. When for church or charitable purposes they seldom ever say so, or do not enclose sufficient money to pay for same, all of which will be returned by first mail in the event of the item not being chargeable, or if more money is sent than necessary to pay for the item the surplus will be returned at once, there being greater discount for cash with order for advertising of churches & than for regular business. In all such cases the Advertising department communicates with the sender as quickly as possible by mail or phone, often paying the messenger service to get them to the telephone if not too far distant, thus saving all possible time. People write this office to know if News, Letters to Editor, etc., are charged for, and to all such there is but one reply—all items etc. of a money making nature, even though they be somewhat of a news nature, are chargeable. For instance, the advance notice or notices of a concert, lecture, pie social picnic, etc., are in the Morning Daily or in the Evening chargeable if there is an admission fee, silver collection, sale of pies or sale of food or refreshments, etc. Advance notices of purely religious services, open to the silver collection, are not chargeable. The particulars of any of the above, after they have been held, are, however, news and thus not chargeable. The news of any past, present or future business, which is still being conducted, is chargeable, if it is apparent that the object is to make the business more widely known and thus increase its success. Various accompanying death notices are also chargeable. Even items which are actual news and not chargeable but once in either Morning Daily or Evening Daily or both are chargeable for more than one insertion, as they are thus not news. The above facts are given for the purpose of assisting persons who have items, etc., to mail to this office, so that delay and disappointment will be avoided.
