Child Dies As Result Of Train-Car Accident

Mr. And Mrs. Leslie Rice of Bedford In Serious Condition; Soldier Injured Also.

Two-year-old Jackie Rice is dead and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rice of Bedford, are in a very critical condition in the City Hospital as a result of an accident in which their automobile was struck by the eastern train about 11 o'clock yesterday morning. A fourth passenger in the Ford coupe, Pte. Leo Hachey of Barriefield, Ontario, is also a patient in the hospital with a broken leg and a fractured ankle. At a late hour last night, Mr. Rice was still unconscious.

The young son of the driver of the car passed away in the hospital about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. The father was believed to be suffering from a skull injury while his wife who had regained consciousness a while after the accident, was believed to have suffered internal injuries.

Pte. Hachey, who was here on a short leave and was enroute to Charlottetown to return to his unit in Barriefield, suffered multiple bruises as well as the fractures to both legs. However, he was reported to be improving and his condition was not believed to be serious.

It is believed that the view of the car driver was obstructed as he neared the crossing and he did not notice the train which was slowing down for a stop at Bedford station, with the result that he ran into it. Police said the car was not working well at the time. It was badly wrecked by the impact of the collision. Las fall a delivery truck was demolished when struck by the train at the same crossing but the driver escaped serious injury.

Pte. Hachey's wife, a sister of Mr. Rice, remained at the Rice household yesterday morning. She has been living with her brother for some time.

Mr. Rice was working in the Halifax dockyards for the past few weeks, and arrived home Saturday evening along with Pte. Hachey to visit his home. He planned to return to Halifax again. A year ago he moved to Bedford from Sturgeon and was appointed Postmaster there. During his absence his wife had been carrying on this work.

More Canuck Troops Reach Great Britain

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, Sept. 1 — (CP) — Their battle-thirst whetted by the story of Dieppe, thousands of Canadian troops sailed from here recently in a convoy whose safe arrival overseas was announced tonight.

In the movement were large numbers of troops from Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia, including auxiliary troops such as service and medical corps men, ordnance and provost corps groups. And with them sailed, too, the first detachment of the women's division of the Royal Canadian Air Force ever to go to Britain for duty.

The group of about 40 airwomen was under section officer Patricia Griffin of Winnipeg.

Army nurses made up another contingent of Canadian women bound for adventure overseas. They were accompanying the 17th General Field Hospital and the 12th Light Field Ambulance unit, the latter under Maj. M. A. Cavereil of Victoria.

Two chaplains made the voyage. Just as eager to get across as the youngest rookie were tall, bronzed Maj. W. A. Askey of Winnipeg, Protestant; and stocky Maj. Ewan MacDonald of Alexandria, Ont., Roman Catholic.

Both padres wore the ribbon of the Canadian efficiency decoration. Maj. Askey received his in August, while Maj. MacDonald had been presented with the decoration earlier.

A provost company of 30 men was aboard. Burliest of this miniature police force was Tiny Pocock of Montreal, a towering giant of six feet, seven inches who totes 285 pounds on his huge frame.

Making the trip overseas for the second time in this war were Maj Ken Tremain of Montreal and Maj R. G. Rudolf of Toronto. Tremain, a former football player at McGill Uni... was an artillery man w... out over early in the ...

War Situation Last Night

(By Kirke L. Simpson, Associated Press War Analyst)

Military and political developments from Egypt to Tokyo indicate that Hitler knows a crisis is at hand in Russia.

Another Russian winter is only weeks away. And so far as weather portents can be assessed in a world so topsy-turvy with war that even the weather is a military secret, an even worse Russian winter than the last is in prospect. Hitler, in calling upon the Germans for new sacrifices, has warned them of another racking war winter ahead but has sought to brighten the prospects with assurances that victory lies just beyond it.

* * * * * * *

As this is written there seems small doubt that the Axis master has launched his final effort to smash Russia or render her impotent before the Russian winter is upon him. More than his flair for showmanship dictated the the orders that sent Nazi-Fascist forces in Egypt lunging forward again as the fourth year of the war opened. It must be more than mere coincidence that a Tokyo war cabinet shakeup on that date ousted the negotiator of the flimsy Russo-Japanese non-aggression pact. Hitler appears beckoning his Nipponese accomplice to the victory feast in Russia that he has foretold.

* * * * * * *

The Togo resignation as Japanese Foreign Minister looks like the most ominous indication to date that, at Berlin's bidding, Japan is about to strike at Russia. As Japanese ambassador to Moscow, Togo negotiated the non-aggression past which paved the way for Pearl Harbor. He was rewarded with the cabinet portfolio he has now relinquished, probably as a personal face-saving preparation for Japanese violation of the pact.

That cabinet upset follows a startling Nipponese retreat in China. All in all, Japan seems preparing for an attack on Russia, timed to abet Hitler in his effort to erase Russia as a threat before winter comes or Anglo-American forces in the west are sufficiently rallied and equipped for a full-scale second-front effort.

Belfast Out Of Bounds For A. E. F., Is Ruling

U. S. Military Authorities Seek To Avoid Trouble With Outlawed I. R. A.

BELFAST, Sept. 1—(CP)—United States military authorities, taking extraordinary precautions to avert trouble following the discovery of two illegal caches of arms and explosives allegedly intended for Irish Republican Army attacks on American and British soldiers, tonight declared this Ulster City out of bounds for the A. E. F.

The order was issued as the hour drew near for the execution of Thomas Williams, 18-year-old member of the outlawed I.R.A. and Northern Ireland police drafted police from the surrounding countryside for patrol duty in the Ulster capital to put down any violence.

A final appeal to reprieve Williams, who is to be hanged tomorrow, was turned down tonight by the Duke of Abercorn, Governor of Northern Ireland.

An official statement denying the reprieve said the Governor-General "has decided the law must take its course."

Immediately afterwards police were stationed at all street corners near the prison to prevent demonstrations. A group of children who assembled outside the prison and knelt in prayer were ordered to disperse.

They marched toward the centre of the city, singing I.R.A. songs.

The police who said they believed the explosives and arms were to have been used against American troops pointed to an I. R. A. manifesto in which the outlaws reserved the right to clear Northern Ireland of the A. E. F. by "whatever measures present themselves."

An explosives dump was discovered outside Belfast Sunday night and seized after a gun fight. Finding of the arms cache was disclosed today.

The I. R. A.'s scale of preparations, as disclosed in a police statement, suggested to some authorities that an outbreak similar to the 1916 Easter rebellion was perhaps planned or that a plot was on foot to conduct intense guerilla warfare.

(In England, the trouble in Belfast caused Scotland Yard to place special guards "until further notice" on all government buildings to guard against bombings.

(The ability of the Germans to maintain a legation in Dublin and to have a free run of Eire to contact travellers from Britain for purposes of espionage and to gather essential weather reports, has long been a source of irritation to the Allies.

(Informed sources therefore said the current difficulties might bring the entire matter to a head.)

Williams is to be hanged for the slaying of a constable last Easter morn, and authorities feared the day might turn into a "black Wednesday."

Every Pound Of Scrap Metals Needed Now

(By James McCook, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP)—Canadians have the option of producing every pound of scrap they can find or doing without some of the near-essentials and ornaments of their communities and homes.

F. B. Kilbourn, steel controller in an interview with The Canadian Press today, said munitions and supply officials are "worried" about supplies of scrap to keep Canadian steel mills in operation and he urgently asked that vigorous efforts be made to have further scrap supplies provided.

The controller associated scrap collection—"Every pound is needed"—with the weapons and other equipment of Canadian fighting men, with tanks and ships and airplanes, with bombs dropped on Germany, with support for hard-fighting allies of the United Nations and with the continuance of essential civilian industries within Canada.

He warned bluntly that equipment now considered essential for civilian purposes might have to be called in for war purposes in the future unless the flow of scrap to mills is continued.

"Our experience has been that it is harder to pick up scrap during the winter and it is essential that the remaining period of warm weather be used to the utmost to get every pound of scrap into the yards of scrap dealers or the prepared scrap to the yards of steel plants so there will be sufficient to see us through the five long winter months," Mr. Kilbourn said. "That does not mean we can relax in the winter. The collection drive must go on."

WAR BONDS GOOD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The United States treasury today set its September quota of war bond sales at $775,000,000—considerably lower than recent months—but disclosed an intention to build up a goal of nearly $2,000,000,000 in January.

Film stars, who are leading the September campaign, have set an unofficial goal of $1,000,000,000 for this month, and the treasury hopes they are right.

Predicts Action In Aleutian Area

SEATTLE, Sept. 1 —(AP)—Rep. Warren C. Magnuson (Dem.-Wash.) assured a throng at a war bond rally today that "in the next few weeks, you'll be reading something about the Aleutians, and it will be the same kind of development you're reading about in the Solomons."

Maj.-Gen. Pearkes To New Post

OTTAWA, Sept. 1— (CP)—Responsibility for the defence of Canada's west coast and for the conduct of Canadian forces in cooperation with United States forces in the Pacific area was placed today on Maj.-Gen. George R. Pearkes, V.C.

Defence Minister Ralston announced the seasoned soldier who holds the most coveted award for valor in the British Empire will arrive in Canada shortly to become general officer commanding in-chief, Pacific command.

The words "in-chief" indicate the scope of Gen. Pearkes authority. Although the announcement did not elaborate, it was presumed he would head the combined command for the army, the navy and the air force on the west coast.

Shortage Of Lumbermen

OTTAWA, Sept. 1—(CP) — As lumber requirements mount steadily, Canadian forests are facing a shortage of lumbermen totalling more than 53,000, it was revealed today in information placed before Elliott M. Little, director of national selective service.

A survey of the situation and subsequent conferences between Mr. Little and lumber and pulpwood producers shows the need will increase to 110,000 by December when logging is heaviest.

Invasion Of Siberia May Be Coming

Enemy Meets Stiff Resistance In Egypt.

(By Fred Vanderschmidt Associated Press Staff Writer)

German armies beating into the Russian defences just below Stalingrad forced another Soviet withdrawal last (Tuesday) night in a tremendous effort to smash into the city and win the Volga campaign at a time when Hitler's new offensive in Egypt was meeting hardy resistance.

The Russians in their midnight communique reported the most serious reverses yet below Stalingrad — a deepening German wedge in one sector, infiltration of certain Russian positions and a Red retreat to new positions in another area.

Yet another withdrawal was reported from the Black Sea area, south of Krasnodar, where the Germans claim to have stormed the coastal town and harbor of Anapa.

From the Far East, meantime, there were ominous signs that Japan was all but ready to stab the Soviet Union in the back.

As for the Stalingrad situation, there was no doubt at all of the immediate menace to the city and the Volga Caspian life-line to the Caucasus. For two days the Russian line southwest of Stalingrad has been giving way, although the defenders northwest of the city stood firm and even delivered local counter-attacks on the Nazi Don elbow flank.

In the Middle East sky the Allies were fighting back with an impressive number of planes against Rommel's offensive.

So far there was nothing decisive about the progress of the Nazis' two armored and two infantry divisions through the complicated minefields which criss-crossed the desert some 75 miles from Alexandria, 150 miles from Cairo.

To Attack Siberia?

The hints of Japanese readiness to attack Siberia came both from Tokyo and from the United States commander-in-chief in India, Lt.-Gen. Joseph W. Stillwell.

In Tokyo, Shigenori Togo, principal disciple of neutralizing Russia, resigned as Foreign Minister "for personal reasons". Premier Hideki Tojo took over his portfolio and thus Japan's military clique was more than ever in control of Japanese policy.

Stillwell, expressing his own private opinion of the general Japanese withdrawal in east China, said he thought there was "a good chance" that Japan is preparing to attack Siberia.

War On U-Boats Going Well

LONDON, Sept. 1—(AP)—The war against the German submarine menace is progressing more favorably for the United Nations, an allied authority said tonight, and there is good reason to believe the enemy U-boat fleet suffered heavily during August.

This authority, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the small amount of allied tonnage sunk in August and the heavy losses of German U-boats in the same period make this one of the most encouraging months at sea since the outbreak of the war.

He warned, however, that these conclusions must be balanced by caution against over-optimism. Despite the successes of the allies, he said, a submarine fleet of a size undreamed-of in prewar calculations is being directed against the sea lanes of the United Nations.

Japs Under Heavy Attack In New Guinea Areas

BY C. YATES MCDANIEL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, AUSTRALIA, Sept. 1—(AP)—Japanese in all five of their lodgements on New Guinea, north of Australia, felt the lash of Allied attack today as Australian ground troops and United States fliers mopped up the defeated enemy remnants at Milne Bay.

The last Japanese survivors of the latest incursion on the extreme eastern tip of the island were compressed into a narrow peninsula north of the bay and planes were strafing them overhead and land forces were mowing them down wherever they could be found. Much materiel was captured and at one place 50 bodies were found.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., Sept. 1—(CP)—Retail grocers today protested against a new regulation of the New Brunswick dairy products commission reducing the profit on milk from two cents to one cent per quart. They claimed this was insufficient to meet the cost of handling milk. A majority of stores it was said, may refuse to handle milk under the one-cent spread.
