PROTESTANT ORPHANAGE MEETING

The Trustee Board of the Protestant Orphanage held its regular meeting yesterday at the Orphanage and the attendance was almost complete.

It was a pleasure to have Dr. and Mrs. Tidmarsh present as well as the wives of several of the members. Miss Beers received many compliments on her excellent report.

At 1.30 the members assembled in the hall while the visitors were seated in the parlour. In the absence of the chairman, Mr. H. S. Henderson, vice-chairman occupied the chair and a most interesting meeting followed. Reports of the several committees were of great interest and all members were kept busy. Mrs. Henderson, who is chairman of Finance, spoke of the difficulties confronting us in this year of war with its many demands. She reported that in preparation for the annual meeting considerable ground work had been done and organization was well advanced.

It was decided to begin this Annual maintenance collection in the city the same week as last year, Oct. 15; the date was chosen so as to conflict with the Red Cross collection in the city. The members all felt that there were many other worthy objects of interest and that the people would not forget the need of the maintenance of this institution.

At the close of the meeting the Rev. Mr. D. J. Dutton, who was in attendance with the visitors on an inspection tour, made an impressive address. He spoke of the importance of all in the foreground of the war, the need for the maintenance of the roads, the need for the maintenance of the health of the people, and the need for the maintenance of the health of the people.

Appeals To Rural Women To Register

Mrs. Fred Gates, Secretary of the Prince Edward Island Women's Institutes, made an appeal last night to rural women to join in the voluntary registration of Canadian women.

Text of Mrs. Gates' address follows:—

September 18th has been chosen as the day for the rural women of Prince Edward Island to join the Voluntary Registration of Canadian Women. Distribution of registration forms was begun last night in Charlottetown, and is being continued until every woman in Canada has had an opportunity to record her qualifications, and her willingness to take part in any national emergency.

"This registration is entirely voluntary. In Charlottetown and Summerside it has been completed satisfactorily, and it now remains for the women of our rural communities to complete the list for the Island.

"The Women's Institutes are co-operating with the school teachers in compiling registration forms in their respective communities. Where no Institutes have been organized other similar societies are being requested to assist the teachers. The local school is the place to register.

"Some may be inclined to neglect this opportunity of public duty, feeling that their present duties as mothers occupy all their time and talents. It is quite true that the woman on the farm has a full-time job, yet I cannot say a few moments in which to register. It should be a pleasure as well as a duty.

"Naturally most women can serve best in the community in which they live. Thus, registrations are indexed according to communities as well as qualifications. Special lists are made of those who speak more than one language, and of those with special qualities which are in great demand. It is likely to be in great demand, too, are those who will open their homes to homeless refugees from our Mother Country.

"Let us show our willingness to live up to our Institute Motto 'For Home and Country' by registering as soon as possible on September 18th, and in the words of our Institute Creed, be 'straightforward and unafraid.'

Many Attend Naval Display In Victoria Park

Thousands of Charlottetown citizens gathered at Victoria Park last night and were thrilled at the Naval Display which was staged by the Charlottetown Division of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. The display consisted of a sham attack on a land objective and was executed in a capable manner.

The display was in support of the drive for Canada's Second War Loan and the highlights of it was a field gun and infantry attack resulting in the demolition of two pill-boxes which were erected at Fort Edward, followed by the storming and capture of the fort in a bayonet charge. The action, which started at 8 o'clock lasted about ten minutes with approximately thirty explosions occurring. The noise of the shrapnel could be heard all over the city.

Eighty-five members of the R. C. N. V. R. left their barracks shortly after the appointed time in charge of Lieut. E. S. Birwhistle, Commanding Officer and paraded via Kent Street, to Great George, to Easton, to Rochford, to Kent and Victoria Park. They were headed by the West Kent School Band under the direction of William Hine. Large crowds of citizens lined the route of the procession and most of the people followed the parade to the park.

At exactly 8 o'clock the gun's crew opened fire from the cover of the woods nearby and advanced to point blank range. They were met by heavy rifle and machine gun fire from the defenders of the pill-boxes. The fourth salvo blew up one pill-box in the sham battle and the second was set on fire by incendiary shells two minutes later.

The attacking party under Lieut. I. Scarth was in the face of heavy fire supported by hand grenades, succeeded in clearing out the survivors. Ten of the enemy were captured and taken back for identification. The casualties to the attacking party was slight considering the importance of the object captured.

Lieut. K. Birwhistle, Commanding Officer was in charge of the defensive operations and he was assisted by Lieut. Gilbert Molloy.

The defensive action was led by Lieut. Ian Scarth who was assisted by Sub-Lieut. William Johnstone.

The gun's crew was in charge of Chief Petty Officer Robert Ross with Leading Seaman Ralph Small as Number One on the gun.

The parade returned by way of Kent Street and many admiring citizens turned out to watch it.

MOONSHINE IS IMPORVED—There were probably forty what might be termed "established bootleggers" in Charlottetown, it was learned last night from Royal Mounted Police. However, ever since the raid on the manufacture of moonshine has been found. They said the drive against illicit liquor sales, referred to by Mayor B. Roy Holman Monday night, is continuing with them. Recently, however, city police had opened up an intensified campaign and the R.C.M.P. were cooperating. Police said they had heard that the same bootleggers were moonshiners to be used in the fermentation process in the manufacture of home liquor but they had never actually discovered any so treated. The police are upping in the quantity of local-made moonshine sold could be traced to two causes, it was learned. First was the dropping out of business of rum runners who found the high seas too well patrolled. The second was that the moonshiners began to be comfortable as a liquor highway. The second was the sharp curtailment in sale at Government Vendor. Stores since the Province voted dry this summer. Plebiscite early this summer. Practically all the moonshine sold in Charlottetown was made in county districts. Police said they would liquidate dealers found to operate in the city. At the monthly meeting of the City Council Monday night, Chief of Police A. Birwhistle, in his report, told the council there were nine prosecutions under the Prohibition Act in August. Six were convicted, one dismissed and one charge was withdrawn. Prohibition Act fines collected amounted to $140.

New School Opened In North Rustico

The opening of the new Stella Maria school in North Rustico took place yesterday and a large number of ratepayers and visitors attended the opening ceremonies. Mr. James Blaquiere presided.

The new school is a large building which besides the usual classrooms also houses a hall on the top floor and an up to date basement. In the basement is a recreation room and bowling alley. Of the classrooms is a large office which is used for a library and meetings of the Fishermen's Union.

The average school in the province was not as good as it should be, he said. He complimented the ratepayers of North Rustico who had done so much in erecting such a fine school.

Hon. Mark McGowan, Minister of Education, paid high tribute to the wonderful achievement in building the splendid new school. The classrooms were well lighted, modern and well-equipped, he said. He pointed out that a district should not only look at the educational part of the picture but also the cultural and recreational, when building a school. All this had been accomplished in the building of this new school, he said.

Dr. H. H. Shaw, Superintendent of Education, spoke of the duty of the parents and children regarding the new school.

Mr. Frank Dohrn, Charlottetown, also complimented the people of the district on the fine appearance of the new building.
