Selecting Varieties of Free Fruits

(Experimental Farms News)

Prince Edward Island farmers are now purchasing annually some seven or eight hundred fruit trees. These are brought from a number of firms and comprise many varieties. Not all the trees purchased are suitable for growing in Prince Edward Island and many will eventually die or prove unprofitable. With the many good varieties now available, why buy anything but the best? asks G. C. Warren, Dominion Experimental Station, Charlottetown.

Experience has shown us that such old apple varieties as Baldwin Ben Davis, Stark and Wagner are not sufficiently hardy under P. E. I., conditions and are likely to kill out during severe winters. The Charlottetown Experimental Station has been testing varieties of tree fruits for many years and has fully demonstrated the fact that many of the choicest varieties of apples, pears, plums and cherries, can be successfully grown here, providing care is taken in carrying out the necessary orchard practices. As a guide to the selection of such varieties, the station has recently issued a bulletin on "Varieties of Tree Fruits for Prince Edward Island."

This bulletin presents a brief review of the common varieties of tree fruits grown or offered for sale in the province and includes descriptions of such new and outstanding varieties as Atlas, Hume, Joyce, Lobo, Melba, Lawseed and McIntosh.

Why not let this bulletin be your guide when selecting trees for planting in your orchard? If you have already ordered trees, why not check your list with this bulletin and see if all the varieties ordered are recommended for this district? The company from whom you ordered these trees will be glad to make any necessary adjustments.

The bulletin can be obtained from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or from the town P. E. I.

Snake Charmers

HON. W. A. BUCHANAN
Chairman,
Newspaper Publishers Committee

IT'S fairly easy to fool a snake. He hasn't much brains to begin with; and, simply by getting his attention and holding it—with a whistle or a hummed note—you can make him docile and "tame."

Now you may not want to charm snakes. And perhaps you do not even want to be charmed into docility yourself.

But there is a way you can be—and very easily, too . . .

You are a Canadian. You are patriotic. You believe in liberty, freedom, the dignity and rights of every man. If you were a Nazi or a Fascist you would hear nothing but the whistle and hum of the führer, the duce, the godhead.

Your newspapers would tell you day by day that you were incompetent, a servant of the state, an insignificant atom in a great Plan.

You would be told where to go, what to do, what to buy, what to believe.

Don't think that you would resist to the death. Very smart Germans, Italians, Russians, Japanese, and even Frenchmen could not withstand this continuous whistling and humming!

What protects you, here in this free Canada, from the hypnotic influences of dictatorship?

One great modern institution comes instantly to mind: your newspapers. For how can a dictator sing his one deadly note to men and women who hear all sides, who see the facts, the truth, the good and the bad, faithfully reported day by day?

To charm you, a dictator would need to control what you read and hear and such control can only come if you permit it.

For example you could, by law, merely deny or curb the right of merchants and manufacturers to advertise their wares. They pay for this privilege now because it is the cheapest way to tell you what values they have to offer. With the revenue from advertising, the papers hire reporters, buy telegraph services, pay for paper and ink. Take away those revenues and a newspaper would starve—until a dictator gave it a subsidy. In return for this subsidy he would naturally want his own ideas printed and no others.

There are other roads to dictatorship but this one is probably the quickest—if you're looking for such a road.

NOTE: The Newspaper Publishers Committee, speaking through its chairman, will bring you one of these institutional advertisements in this space each week. Clubs, patriotic societies, business firms or individuals who would like reprints may have them by writing to the business office of this newspaper.

The Mail Must Go Through!

Under this debris, the result of a German air-raid on London, soldiers and a Post Office worker locate a mail box, and force open the door to extract the letters. While 'the mail must go through'—and almost always does—delays are understandable under bomb-conditions.
