The HOUSEWIFE and HER ACTIVITIES

COURAGE

To the young
To the old
To the man in his strength,
Grant courage

To face Life
To face Love
To face Death—
Oh grant us courage!

CLEANING THE TUB

In cleaning enamel and porcelain bathroom articles, be careful not to use too strong a solution of cleansing material. One cause of difficulty in removing water stains from some tubs may be found in the fact that the finish has been partially removed by too severe cleaning. In most cases a mild cleanser applied on a soft cloth will be as effective as is necessary.

"WIDOW'S PEAKS"

Widow's peak effect for the beauty whose face is heart-shaped, is one of the designs announced for bathing caps next season, when they will be cut according to the wearer's face.

UPLIFT

When you are smoothing cleanser cream or skin food into cheeks and chin always rub upwards. The same goes for applying lotions or wetting cleansing tissues. Don't give yourself a brisk rub down after the bath, but an even brisker rub up.

When you are walking out, ribs must be lifted right up out of the waistline, the back of your head must try to push away the ceiling, your throat should be straight and up-in-the-air.

GAY COLORS.

Yellow, powder blue, brown, red, tiles and Kelly green are the new beach colors. A few printed bathing suits and blouses are seen.

HAND CARE

Do hand and wrist exercises now and then—while you are in the tub, whenever you are sitting alone in a room or when you are putting on hand or night cream.

"FEELING FINE"

"Let me give you a tip, I'm feeling fine. Headache and pains all gone. I never miss an engagement since I learned about Paradol. It's quick and never disappoints." 85 cents.

DR. CHASE'S PARADOL

on those calloused near sides or nails and at tips. But use it gently, and don't try to remove an entire callous during one pumice treatment.

DANCING FINGERS

The cherished dream of every eskimo wife—a sewing machine—still spurs the native women of Nunavak Island to search the mountain tops for dancing fingers. This one of many strange customs still followed by the Nunavak Eskimos was told by Dr. Hans Himmelherber, German ethnologist who has returned from a five-months' visit to the islands. For countless generations the tribal medicine men have told the women folk of the existence of dancing fingers, which if found would serve as perpetual sewing machines. And since the Shaman's word is law, the women still search without success.

The magic fingers are supposed to wear thimbles. Should a woman find one, she would snatch off the thimble and take it home.

REPLENISH MANICURE KIT WITH LIGHTER POLISH

Replenish your manicure kit with at least one light-colored, subdued polish to be used day in and day out. Also, one bright shade, chosen as you would any accessory, and worn to point up a specific costume.

PARISIANS PREFER LOCKS OF AUBURN HUE

Famous Paris hairdressers estimate that there are 30 per cent fewer blondes in their city now than there were last year.

Whether the cause be a shortage of gentlemen or a change in their preference, the fact remains that auburn and chestnut are the favorite shades now. The hairdressers are having a busy time tinting former platinum blondes auburn or restoring their natural color.

FOR BUTTER THAT WILL NOT SPREAD

Have you tried a knife dipped in very hot water or heated over a flame? Saves the messy way of heating the butter.

HOW TO LOOK AFTER A SICK CHILD

Children easily get frightened when they are ill. They do not understand pain nor the reasons for it, and their first reaction is fear. But they are quickly reassured if people round them are quiet, soothing and apparently unperturbed.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

Maybe it Doesn't Pay to Slave and Doll Hubby All Up—It May Make Him More Susceptible to Wiles of Other Women

Dear Miss Dix—The idea that when a woman is married to a slovenly man she should pinchhit for a valet and send him forth each morning brushed and pressed, spic-and-span and looking like Clark Gable sounded good to me, so I tried it. In the matrimonial lottery I had the luck to draw a husband who always appeared to have just been fished out of the dirty-clothes hamper, so I would take away the soiled shirt and replace it with a clean one with the buttons all in place. I'd sit at home darnin' socks and putting false cuffs on Papa's pants because he was too stung to buy new ones. I'd wash Papa's face and ears and press his suit and make him look like a clothing ad. But one day when I was mending Papa's coat what did I find but a letter from Papa's girl friend, and that set me wondering if maybe I hadn't furnished Papa up so much and made him look good to other women I might have kept him for myself. So what?

Answer: Don't ask me. Nobody knows the answer, though millions of women spend their lives trying to figure it out. How to be a good wife and not ruin hubby is the insoluble cross-word puzzle of the ages. Your experience is an example in point. You took a slovenly, unshorn and unshaven man whose trousers bagged at the knees and whose linen was not beyond reproach and at whom, in his natural state, every woman would have turned up her nose.

You ran him through the laundry and the barber shop. You denied yourself a water waft to buy him a fancy necktie. You sat up nights getting the spots off his waistcoat and putting a razor edge on his trousers and generally metamorphosed him into the glass of fashion and the mold of form. What's the result?

You've turned the scarecrow into something that catches the feminine eye. Instead of being a humble and domestic husband, he has become a devil among the women. He has gone with the wind, or words to that effect.

Nor are you alone in finding that your efforts to help your husband have proved boomerang that you're undoing. Many a woman makes of her back a ladder on which her husband climbs to success only to have him kick it down when he has reached the top. Well do I recall the case of a devoted wife who took in fine laundering to help her clever and ambitious husband finish his college course and who supported him by the work of her hands until he got a start in his profession. Her reward was to have him tell her that he had entirely outgrown her and that she was no longer any companion for a cultured man and one who meant to go to high places in the world.

The world is filled with the old wives who have slaved their fingers to the bone cooking, washing, sewing, baby-tending, helping their husbands to make their fortunes who find themselves discarded for young wives when the money is made. So commonly does this happen that many wives don't even try to help their husbands get rich. They regard it as dangerous. They say that the only sure way to keep a husband is to keep him poor and not worth the gold-digger's attentions. All of which goes to show that being a wife is a difficult and perilous job. The wonder is that so many girls have the nerve to tackle it.

Dear Dorothy Dix—What do you think of a married man who specializes in affairs with young girls?

Answer: I think he is the lowest of the human species because he is ruining the lives of two people. Often more, because generally he has children whose peace, security and happiness are wrecked by the misery he brings into their home.

The tortures of the Inquisition were not crueler than the pangs of jealousy a man inflicts on his wife when he leaves her sitting alone for dreary evenings at home while he plays around with young girls. She sounds the depths of misery as she contrasts her fading looks with the girl's fresh beauty, her sadness of the neglected with the other's gayety and high spirits, and knows that she has no charms by which to conjure him back again and that she has lost him forever. Nor is her sorrow mitigated by knowing that he is not worth loving; that he is faithless, lacking in honor and respect for his obligations.

The wrong the philanderer does his wife is great but it is not greater than the wrong he does the young girl of whose ignorance of the world he takes advantage, whose innocence he soils, and whose heart only too often he breaks, even as he has broken his wife's.

It is easy for a married man to make a girl fall in love with him. She is flattered, to begin with, by thinking that there is something about her that is attractive to a mature man; and she is silly enough to believe that she is a vamp if she can take a married man away from his wife. Then the married man has more money to spend on her and can take her to smarter places of amusement and give her handsome presents than a boy can. And he knows all the arts and wiles. So the average young girl is as helpless in his hands as a bird in the nests of a Fowler.

It amuses the married man to win her, to play with her and to throw her away when a fresher toy catches his fancy. It is nothing to him if the girl has fallen so much in love with him she will never have any love to give any other man, or if he drags her reputation in the dust so no man will want her. There must be a very special punishment saved for the married philanderer.

Dear Miss Dix—I had a most unhappy childhood. My mother gave me no love, no sympathy, no understanding. There was no good feeling between us children. At the earliest possible moment I left home just to get away. I have found peace and happiness with my husband and children, but we are only moderately well-to-do. Now my family has never done anything but make me miserable, yet they demand that I shall share my little with them and help support them. The question is, shall I impart the future comfort of my husband and children and sacrifice their few luxuries to help people whom I despise? There is no love on either side.

Answer: If it is your parents who need help, probably it is your duty to divide your last crust with them, but I have never been able to see why the industrious and thrifty members of a family who were willing to work and save should support their lazy and idle and thriftless brothers and sisters.

THE COOK'S CORNER

DOUBLE FUDGE CAKE

4 oz. chocolate, 1-4 cups milk, 3-4 cup brown sugar, packed, 2-3 cups shortening, 3-4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2-4 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 cup granulated sugar, 3 eggs, unbeaten, 2-4 cups sifted flour.

Method: Melt chocolate in milk over hot water and blend with rotary beater. Add brown sugar and stir until smooth. Cool. Combine shortening, salt and soda, add granulated sugar and cream until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition; add flour all at once with chocolate mixture. Mix as little as possible to make the batter look creamy. Then stop mixing. Pour batter into greased 10-inch square pan, bake in moderate 350 degrees F. oven 55 minutes. Spread nut fudge frosting on top and sides of cake.

NUT FUDGE FROSTING

Two oz. chocolate, 2-3 cup milk, 2 cups sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon corn syrup, 1 tablespoon shortening, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 23 walnut meat halves.

Method: Cook chocolate in milk over slow heat until perfectly blended. Add sugar, salt and syrup, stir until mixture boils. Cook until a very soft ball will form in cold water, 225 degrees F. Remove from heat, add shortening and vanilla. Cool to lukewarm, then beat until mixture thickens and begins to lose its gloss. Spread on cake, press walnut halves into frosting to cover top and sides.

THE SHOW GOES ON!

OH, MOTHER... I'VE BEEN CHOSEN FOR THE LEADING PART IN OUR CLASS PLAY!

WELL, YOU CAN'T BE IN THE PLAY... AND THAT'S THAT!

WHAT ARE THEY TRYING TO DO GIVE HER AN EDUCATION OR MAKE A CHORUS GIRL OUT OF HER!

WHY CAN'T EDITH BE IN THE PLAY? I THINK IT WOULD BE GOOD FOR HER.

IT'S TOO MUCH TROUBLE TO MAKE HER COSTUMES—WHEN I'M HAVING SUCH HEADACHES AND INDIGESTION!

WHAT DOES HE CARE HOW HARD YOU WORK AS LONG AS THE KID HAS A GOOD TIME?

YOU'VE BEEN FEELING BADLY FOR MONTHS, DEAR! LET'S GO AND SEE THE DOCTOR! COME ON—LET'S GO RIGHT NOW!

WELL... I SUPPOSE IF I DON'T GO, I'LL NEVER HEAR THE END OF IT!

YOU'RE MAKING A BIG MISTAKE! DON'T LET HIM BULLY YOU!

MRS. BARCLAY, I BELIEVE THAT CAFFEINE-NERVES IS CAUSING YOUR TROUBLE.... I SUGGEST YOU GIVE UP TEA AND COFFEE FOR 30 DAYS AND DRINK POSTUM INSTEAD!

CURSES! IF SHE'S SWITCHING TO POSTUM I'LL HAVE TO SCREAM!

IT SEEMS strange that tea and coffee should hurt me! I thought they were bad only for children!"

"Oh, no! Many adults, too, find that the caffeine in tea and coffee can upset nerves, cause indigestion or prevent sound sleep!"

If you suspect that tea and coffee disagree with you... try Postum for 30 days. Postum contains no caffeine. It is simply whole wheat and bran, roasted and slightly sweetened. It's easy to make... and costs less than half a cent a cup. It's delicious, too... and may prove a real help.

Try a can of Instant Postum. If at the end of 30 days you do not feel better, return the can and we will refund the price of the Instant Postum, plus the postage. Consumer Service Dept., General Foods Ltd., Cobourg, Ont. P-37

30 DAYS LATER

THERE'S BEEN A REMARKABLE CHANGE IN YOU, DEAR... YOU'RE GETTING MORE FUN OUT OF THIS PLAY THAN EDITH IS!

THAT'S BECAUSE I FEEL LIKE MY OLD SELF AGAIN... SINCE I SWITCHED TO POSTUM!

A Morning Smile

THE SHEEP AND THE GOATS

Judge (to woman seeking separation)—"How long have your relations been unpleasant?"

Woman—"Your honor, my relations have always been pleasant; it's his relations that are the old grouches."

Pilkington retired from the city and went to live in the country. In due course a neighbor called on his wife. She said:

"I hear your husband has taken up hunting. Do you approve of that?"

"I don't know about approving," said the sportsman's wife, "but it makes life more exciting. We never know which to expect home first—my husband or the horse."

DAINTY & COLORFUL HAND TOWELS

Mayfair Needle-art

Design No. 321

Fillet crochet and simple embroidery stitches are cleverly combined to make this distinctive design for guests or hand towels. Cross stitch flowers are used in the urn with a conventional border that is suggestive of the Greek key pattern in treatment. The Horn of Plenty on the floral motif is finished with classic sprays of tiny flowers in a graceful motif. The flowers are all worked in bright colors while the white or pastel colored threads are used for the crochet. The lace, of course, should match the linen and the colored crochet. Its recommended only if it matches the linen in tone. A perfect suggestion for a bride, for a bazaar or for your home. The pattern includes two transfers of each of the two embroidery designs, easy-to-understand instructions without abbreviations for crochet bands, complete instructions for embroidering and finishing, detail chart and color suggestions.

For complete patterns and instructions for all of these designs send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Charlottetown Guardian Needlework Department.

The Danger of Cough Among the Children

In young children a cold or cough is not a thing to be disregarded, as it is often a grave matter, and unless attended to immediately it may eventually cause serious trouble.

On the first sign of a cold or cough the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup just the remedy required.

Its promptness and effectiveness is loosening the phlegm such that the trouble may be checked before anything of a serious nature sets in.

Children like it; take it without any fuss.
