SHOULD WOMEN PROPOSE?
 Ever since this conundrum was put to me, I have been submitting it to everybody I met. There has been extraordinary diversity in the answers. They have run from a shocked, "No!"

No! No!!" through a hesitating, "Well, I don't see why—and yet I could never do it myself," to a decided, "Yes, certainly! Why not?"
 One woman said: Under no circumstances. Nothing ever justifies us in forgetting our womanliness. Another Yes indeed. In fact, I proposed to my husband. I saw that he was in love with me, but that he thought that we could not afford to be married. I knew that we could, and so I proposed to him. Another: Of course women should propose. They are much better judges of character than men, more intuitive and spiritual. Another: If women proposed, there would be fewer unhappy marriages. As things are, men can choose from their entire set of women. Women can choose only from those who propose to them. If women proposed, more of them would marry the man they really want to marry. Another: I think the one should propose who could do it the most artistically. (Note.—She was a young girl writer, and I am afraid considerations of literary effects guided her conclusions.)—Inez Haynes Gilmore, in the cost a mere trifle, $5 and upwards. Harper's Bazar.

Pains Have Vanished
 Neuralgia Completely Cured.
 The cure of Mrs. H. L. Barrett, Aubrie, P. Q. is another victory by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine has succeeded in many cases where others have utterly failed. Mrs. Barrett says: "I suffered intensely from neuralgia in the head, face and shoulders. I had used various medicines without relief. I heard of Hood's Sarsaparilla and decided to try it, and I bless the day I did. I took it several months and now feel well. All my pains have vanished."
 Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere.
FLOATING DRIER FOR FORT WILLIAM.
 OTTAWA, July 15—The Dominion grain commission has devised a plan by which it is hoped to restore to a good marketable condition hundreds of thousands of bushels of which so much was heard some time ago. Much of it has already reached the elevators at Fort William, and more is on the way. Investigation by the grain commission shows that the elevator capacity at Fort William is insufficient for the speedy drying of all of this grain.
 The proposal of the commission is that a large floating drier now at Buffalo, be obtained for service at Fort William, and negotiations to that end are now in progress. Professor Magill, chairman of the grain commission, has been in Ottawa during the past few days in connection with the project. With the aid of the drier it is believed that all the damaged grain, including that already in the elevators, in care at Fort William and in transit, can be improved in good time for the market, thus giving the grain growers the advantage of better price. There is no floating drier in Canada of the kind necessary for this purpose.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. In a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. Today they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised for
