Tribute to Men Of Mine Flotilla

(Special to The Guardian) LONDON, Jan. 6.—Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the Admiralty describes the men of the 20th British Mine Layer Flotilla as some of the bravest and pluckiest of the British Navy. Sir Eric said that night after night British mine laying submarines had proceeded through the great German mine fields off Heligoland to discover the way through which German boats left and returned to their bases. The British steamer then block these channels with mines. During the first six months of this year, Sir Eric added, more than 100 German boats were caught in these trap mines. One of our mine barriers across the channel, below Ostend, trapped 17 German submarines in one month.

COL. "TEDDY" ROOSEVELT DIED SUDDENLY

Passed Away in His Sleep While Only His Valet Was With Him. His Death Mourned by Millions.

(Special to The Guardian) OYSTER BAY, Jan. 6.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt died in his sleep at 4:15 o'clock this morning. The end came when there was no one in the room but his valet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6.—News of the death of the former President was received here by Miss Josephine Stricker, the colonel's secretary, in a telephone message from Mrs. Roosevelt. Miss Stricker said that the colonel had suffered an attack of inflammatory rheumatism on New Year's Day and had since been more or less confined to his room.

He was born in New York, October 27th, 1858, and his career in brief, is as follows: Republic New York State assembly, 1882-84; President of New York Board of Commissioners, 1889-95; Assistant Secretary of the Navy, 1897-98; fought as Colonel of the Rough Riders at Las Guasimas and San Juan, in the Spanish-American war; elected Governor of New York, 1898; Vice-President of the United States, 1901; became President on the death of McKinley, Sept. 14th, 1901, at the conclusion of the term in 1904, elected for a four-year term, leaving office in 1908, when another Republican, Taft, was elected. In 1912, he ran in a three-cornered election for the Presidency, as a Progressive, Taft being the Republican and Wilson the Democratic nominee, Wilson being elected.

It has been well said that if he had his way the United States would have declared war much earlier than she did. At any rate he threw all his great powers into the war effort. One of his sons, Kermit, an aviator, was killed, and another, Archie, wounded. "Teddy" Roosevelt, as he was familiarly known, will be sincerely mourned by millions, including not only political friends, but opponents as well.

Raw Materials For German Industries

(Special to The Guardian) PARIS, Jan. 6.—No understanding has been reached yet among the Allies concerning the supply of raw materials to Germany and Australia. The arrangement providing that the United States shall feed the central powers carries with it no general understanding relating to raw materials. That Germany will be required to furnish coal to Europe in exchange for food assistance to the central powers in the way of supplies for their industries, however, is regarded as inevitable by reason of the threat to the world's peace of an idle population.

REMEMBER

THAT OUR FIGHTERS did not quit; that OUR WOMEN did not quit; and that OUR PEOPLE will not quit; whatever you may do, until the men who have left us have returned to the land of their birth, and the world is safely healed of the scourge of Prussian brutality. THAT to us is given the task of binding up a nation's wounds and making glad the hearts of the dependents of those who have passed through the shadows of death for our safety and see to it that the opportunity that passes your way, on the 6-13 January be not missed and lost.
