N.S. I.O.D.E. CONCLUDE MEET

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 12.—Striding the importance of their child welfare work in Nova Scotia and hearing reports of their various educational and social activities, the provincial chapter, Independent Order Daughters of the Empire brought their annual two day conference to a close tonight.

Miss Georgina Paulson, former president in submitting a report on films said that "the light of a brighter dawn" was breaking for the British pictures. "The quality has remarkably improved and the public like them," she remarked.

Mrs. M. S. Morrow of Halifax was re-elected president for another term. Other officers elected were: 1st vice president, Mrs. R. A. Wood, Halifax; 2nd vice president, Mrs. P. M. Fielding, Windsor; 3rd vice president, Mrs. Fred Guildford, Bedford; Treasurer, Miss D. Freeman, Halifax; Secretary, Miss D. Bracegirdle, Halifax; Entertainment secretary, Miss Janet Wolfe, Dartmouth; organising secretary, Mrs. A. W. Olive, Bridgewater; standard bearer, Miss S. Hayes, Halifax.

Another Low Rate Excursion To Upper Canada

(Special to The Guardian) MONCTON, N. B., April 13.—Another opportunity will be afforded people living in the Maritime Provinces and in the Province of Quebec, east of River du Loup and Moncton including the Gaspé Peninsula, to visit Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto at very low fares on the coach excursion being operated by the Canadian National Railways to those cities on Friday April 27th next.

Each excursion which has been operated to these cities from the east since the bargain fare coach excursion policy was inaugurated on the railway has seen the numbers increasing over previous excursions and from inquiries received it would appear that the excursion being operated on Friday, April 27th will witness the largest number of passengers yet handled to these centres. A generous return limit is provided leaving Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa Tuesday, May 1st next, and Toronto May 2nd.

The Canadian making industry furnishes an outlet for a relatively small amount of high grade maple syrup grown in Canada. This demand has increased steadily in recent years and in 1932, 5,441,000 bushels of barley were used by malsters.

Young Rescued Fishermen Returns Home

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) LUNenburg, N. S., April 12.—For lost by the Gloucester schooner Imperator, left for home today apparently recovered from hardships suffered during three days and two nights he was afloat in an open dory.

Manuel Joseph, 21, was picked up northwest of Sable Island by the Lunenburg schooner, Delawana while the Imperator was putting back to her home port with her flag at half-mast.

The lad had been attending to the Imperator's mail in a snow-drift on an Arctic sea ice floe two months ago.

The aviators a few hours earlier had conquered hazards of the far north and brought 22 to mainland at Cape Van Kren, Siberia, from which the dangerous ice pack on which they sought refuge when their ship, the Cheluskun, was crushed in the ice Feb. 13 and sank.

"Aeroplane" Fish Offer New Puzzle

(Canadian Press) SAINT JOHN, N. B., April 13.—Strange fish stories are circulating in this district. First, the carcass of a peculiar fish was washed ashore at Duck Cove. Secondly, each of a half dozen "aeroplane" specimens caught by fishermen in the Kennebecas River presented the following picture: A tall complete with "stabilizer" and "rudder" one eye black, the other blue; a mouth located shark-fashion under a sharply pointed snout; long feeler-like fins; a bluish-black body more than two feet long and weighing about four pounds.

Some amateur naturalists, puzzled, found this sort of thing depressing. It is bad form, they say, a reflection against their society, and should not be allowed.

Boston, Cambridge And Somerville, Mass.

The New England country is now enjoying very sunny spring-like weather, brightening the hopes and prospects of the people in all spheres of life. After the very long severe winter through which we have passed, the coming in of the spring is peculiarly welcome, bringing with it renewed activity and energy in all directions.

A considerable number of excursionists from the Maritime Provinces were visiting Greater Boston for the past two weeks, among them being a good number from Prince Edward Island, who were cordially welcomed by their many friends here.

The Park Street Congregational Church, Boston, has just celebrated the 125th anniversary of its organization, with a week of special services, during which the minister, Rev. Dr. A. Z. Conrad, and Dr. Barnard, of Philadelphia, preached appropriate sermons to large and interested congregations. The Park Street Church has been a centre of evangelical zeal and devotion throughout its whole history and carries on an aggressive and earnest work of evangelism and missionary enterprise at home and abroad with conspicuous success.

The new chief executive of the City of Boston, Mayor Mansfield, has started the community by his vigorous and unparalyzing use of the hatchet, in disposing of a very large number of employees, whose presence on the municipal list he regarded as quite needless and wasteful. He has been severely criticized by his predecessor, ex-Mayor James Curley, under whose regime these appointments were made, but he is being warmly upheld and commended by many others who consider his policy of rigid economy imperative and wise.

Mayor Richard M. Russell, of Cambridge, is finding some difficulty in enforcing the ten per cent cut in wages for another year from the city employees because of the financial stringency, the school teachers especially, being loud and emphatic in their protest against the Mayor's request. So that, "to be or not to be, is still the question." A good number however, have consented to the appeal.

The new post office building in Cambridge is steadily rising toward completion. It occupies a commanding position on Massachusetts Avenue, directly opposite the City Hall and will be a most serviceable addition to the business life of the community as well as a conspicuous asset to the architectural beauty of the city. The new structure is giving employment to many hands and the sound of the carpenter's and mason's hammers, is a welcome tone as we are gradually emerging from the long dark reign of industrial depression.

Notwithstanding the apparent revival of business activity with the erection of the new post office; it is reported that the postal delivery service in Cambridge is to be much curtailed very shortly, as only one delivery per day will be made to the residential population and two per day to the business places. This may cause some inconvenience and delay to the residential districts, but we shall be content with such things as we have.

The funeral service of Miss Isabel H. Campbell, who passed away recently at the residence of her nephew, Stanley Campbell, Elm Street, Somerville, was largely attended by sympathizing and sorrowing relatives and friends. Comforting Psalms were softly sung to plaintive melody and an affectionate address was given by Dr. J. W. S. Lowry, who conducted the service. The body was taken to P. E. I. and interment made at Argyle Shore.

LAST OF MAROONED PARTY ARE RESCUED

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MOSCOW, April 13.—(Associated Press)—A saga of the sea, unparalleled in modern times, reached a dramatic conclusion tonight when Soviet pilots rescued the last six persons of a party of 102 marooned on an Arctic sea ice floe two months ago.

The aviators a few hours earlier had conquered hazards of the far north and brought 22 to mainland at Cape Van Kren, Siberia, from which the dangerous ice pack on which they sought refuge when their ship, the Cheluskun, was crushed in the ice Feb. 13 and sank.

Describes Perils The perils of the castaways were described by M. Ushakov, who flew to the camp April 7 to supervise relief operations, he said: "When I arrived at the camp, surrounded by floating ice blocks, the Cheluskunners were living in heated and light log barracks. But despite their reasonably comfortable quarters they existed as if on the slope of a volcano.

"The camp was faced with constant dangers. On April 9 drifting icebergs bore down on the camp with a tremendous noise, crushing and destroying the barracks and a motor boat.

"They wrecked a landing field under the aeroplane of the flier Stepanoff, who had damaged a strut in landing two days before. The plane was moved ashore, however, to a new landing field.

Displayed Courage "The whole party displayed courage and fortitude despite that crushing of the ice, which began at 2 a. m., confronting the castaways with the greatest peril since the Cheluskun sank, and continued throughout the day."

Pilots Vodop'yanoff and Doronin, who effected the rescue of the last survivors, had flown by easy stages from Khabarovsk to Cape Van Kren, from which point they made their flight.

A brief dispatch from Cape Van Kren said Professor Otto Schmidt, Commander of the Wrangel Island expedition aboard the Cheluskun, had been taken to Cape Van Kren, Alaska, for treatment for a pneumonia condition.

Fifteen others have already been sent by dog teams to Cape Weller, whence they will be conveyed by airplane to Bar. There they will embark on a Soviet steamer for Khabarovsk or Vladivostok.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 12.—Daniel P. Sampson stumbled as he mounted the courthouse steps today.

"Careful," warned Sheriff R. A. Brenton, "or you'll break your neck."

"What's the difference?" the negro smiled back. "I might as well break it as have you fellows do it."

There was grim humor in the negro's jest. He had planned to murder 12-year-old Bramwell Henderson.

He was sentenced to hang June 26.

anniversary observances on the last Sunday of this month. The different services will occur at intervals during the month, the season of communion closing up with thanksgiving services on the first Sabbath of May.

The Calvinistic Churches of New England held their annual convocation at the Church of the Covenant on Thursday last, with a large attendance of ministers, elders and people, from the different communities and congregations embraced in the territory. A spirit of high devotion prevailed and an optimistic outlook was expressed in the addresses given and in the discussions that followed. This gathering is commonly known as "Greater Day" and brings together every year, representatives of the several different ecclesiastical bodies that follow the Presbyterian forms of government and order and hold to the doctrine of the Westminster Standards as "founded on and agreeable to the Word of God."

There were three sermons held during the day with many speakers, the general theme being "The Church and Present World Conditions."

Plan Underway To Recognize Young Hero

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) SYDNEY, N. S., April 12.—Steps were underway today to gain recognition of telegraph messenger Fred Young for his heroic action in saving three youngsters from drowning in Sydney Harbor.

Mayor S. E. Muggah, personally interested in the matter, was filling out declarations to go before the Royal Humane Association. George M. Morrison, Barrister, was helping prepare the case for submission to the Association.

Young Snow saved three boys from death when they slipped into the water while "jumping clammers." Diving, fully clothed, between the ice cakes, he brought one of the boys to the surface after he had disappeared, and brought him to shore with the other two.

Claims Ont. Gov't. Failed Enforce Act

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 12.—Charging the Ontario Government, "under pressure by somebody," had failed to enforce an act on the statutes, Ross Chapman, of Toronto, today testified before the House of Commons committee on mass buying.

The law he referred to was one which provided cattle truckers must obtain bills of lading covering consignments to commission men at the stockyards. Under the bills of lading, money due farmers for cattle sold at the yards would be sent direct to the farmer, and Mr. Chapman said there were many cases where the producers were victimized by truckers.

Serious Allegation "That's a serious allegation," said Sam Factor, (Lib. Toronto West Centre). "Do you mean by the pressure of someone the law is not being enforced?"

"Yes."

Hon. H. H. Stevens, chairman of the committee, called for a copy of the Ontario statutes, and later stated the bill referred to had some connection with Department of Highways regulations which had not been completed. There would be further investigation of the matter, he said.

Would Await Findings During the meeting, Mr. Stevens also indicated, in reply to a question from Mr. Factor, the marketing bill now before the House might be held up until the mass buying committee had concluded the labors and brought down its findings. An executive session of the committee is to be held Monday for further consideration of the matter.

Purported Union Cost Criticized

(By Guardian's Special Wire) BASSETTERE, St. Kitts, April 13.—Protest against the "fabulously inflated" estimated expenditure involved in unification of the Leeward and Windward Islands recorded in a resolution passed by the St. Kitts Workers League.

Contemplated increase in the cost of governing the islands under the closer union scheme was "unwarranted," the League declared. The estimates have been subject to criticism also from other organizations on the islands.

Leather Footwear Production Increases

The number of pairs of leather footwear made during February was 1,234,046, an increase over the preceding month of 293,361 pairs, or 28 per cent, and an increase over February 1933 of 123,772 pairs or 10 per cent. All of the different classifications, excepting that of slippers, shows increased production.

Total production for the first two months of 1934 was 2,364,715 pairs, compared with 2,122,174 in the corresponding period of 1933 an increase of 232,541 pairs or over 10 per cent.

PRINCE LIKES TEN IN SHORTS

LONDON, April 13.—It's all right with the Prince of Wales if women want to wear shorts while playing tennis, the heir to the British throne revealed.

"I see no reason on earth why women cannot wear shorts," the Prince remarked while visiting the fashion section of the British Industries Fair, "particularly while playing tennis. They should be most comfortable, and are quite the most practical costume."

"And I do not think they lose anything in looks."

OTTAWA PACTS DISCUSSED

Budget Will Disclose Changes By Mutual Consent.

(C.P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, April 12.—The next budget will probably indicate further changes in the trade agreement which Canada entered into with the United Kingdom at the Ottawa Conference. This was intimated in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett.

The Prime Minister answered questions put by Mr. Sanderson (Lib. Perth South) who read London despatches stating the privileges which Canada enjoys in the United Kingdom markets might be curtailed.

Changes Might Follow On the same date (April 8 last) said Mr. Sanderson, a despatch from Ottawa stated that some changes had already been made in the trade agreement by mutual consent and it is quite possible that others might be made.

"What changes have been made by mutual consent in the agreements of the Ottawa Conference?" asked Mr. Sanderson.

"The Ottawa agreements provided for the variation of the terms of the contract by mutual consent, as is usual in cases of that character," replied Mr. Bennett. "The changes that were agreed upon were indicated at the last budget; others doubtless will be indicated at the next budget. Any changes that have been made have been indicated to the House, except possibly some questions of administration, which are only matters that arise from day to day."

Takes Exception The Prime Minister went on to state that a portion of the Canada-United Kingdom agreement expired in 1935. He added that, in respect to the attitude of Mr. Sanderson "and those who surround him" on the agreements, "anything that would bring about the expiration or termination would, I suppose fill him with the greatest joy."

"I object to the remarks of the Prime Minister," asserted Mr. Sanderson. "He has no right to make to me or any other member what he should do, and I submit that he should withdraw the remarks."

"I am referring to the recorded vote of the honorable gentleman with respect to the Ottawa agreements," retorted Mr. Bennett.

Vice-Regal Poem Has Inspiration In Leave Taking

(SANT JOHN, N. B., April 13.—(Canadian Press)—"Good-bye and God bless you," the late D. W. Clark said fervently in bidding farewell to the Earl and Countess of Aberdeen as they ended a visit to Saint John during their vice-regal tour in 1897. Memories of the incident, an original poem and booklet written by the Countess, are now treasured possessions of Rev. C. T. Clark, West Saint John grandson of the aged resident whose farewell touched the hearts of the Countess.

D. W. Clark, 80, general superintendent of wharf construction at Sand Point, explained to the vice-regal party the process of wharf-building. "Before their departure from Canada when the Earl of Aberdeen's term as Governor-General ended in 1898, the Countess sent Mr. Clark an original poem called "Good-bye, God Bless You," and a booklet entitled, "Where Dwells our Lady of the Sunsets." The latter was an appreciation of Canada as the Earl and Countess relinquished their vice-regal duties. The poem now possessed by C. T. Clark and based upon this farewell uttered by his grandfather, reads as follows:

This seems to us a sacred phrase,
With reverence impassioned—
A thing come down from righteous days,
Quality but nobly fashioned;
It will become an honest face,
A voice that's round and cheerful;
It stays the sturdy in his place,
And soothes the weak and fea-ful.

"Into the porches of the ears
It steals with subtle uncton,
And in your heart of hearts appears.
To work its gracious function;
And all day long with pleasing song
It lingers to caress you—
We're sure no human heart goes wrong
That's told "Good-bye, God Bless
You."

Tourist Trade 1933

Canada's tourist trade, in common with that of most countries, showed a marked contraction in 1933 reflecting the low level of economic activity, the general lowering of incomes and the "depression" psychology which probably reached its height during last year's tourist season. Not only did the volume of travel show a considerable decline but there was an unusually sharp drop in tourist expenditures in Canada the estimated value of which needed to less than the 1932 level. It is reasonable to believe that great losses to tourist travel will accompany the next cycle of prosperity.

The total expenditure in Canada of tourists from other countries in 1933 is estimated at $117,134,000 compared with $215,448,000 in 1932, $250,776,000 in 1931, $279,238,000 in 1930 and $300,379,000 in 1929, which was the peak year. In 1929 it was $33,734,000 and in 1923 it had grown to $130,977,000.
