

Gin Pills

FOR THE KIDNEYS

What They Have Done
"I suffered a great many years with kidney trouble; tried several remedies, and also doctors' medicines, with no result. Two years ago I read an ad. in a newspaper of 'GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS,' and sent for two boxes. They did me more good than all the medicine I had ever taken. After I used the first two I sent for two more boxes, and I am satisfied, and also know, that Gin Pills are the best kidney remedy made."

I used to have to rise three or four times in the night; now I can sleep and don't have to get up at all, thanks to GIN PILLS. Am seventy-four years old.

KING AS JUDGE

Herr Roda Roda, a well known Vienna writer, has been permitted to accompany the Austrian army in Serbia and narrates his experiences in the Austrian Press. He had quarters assigned to him at Topocla, a country house belonging to King Peter. In the desk used by the King's aide-de-camp he found a multitude of documents, petitions, disciplinary cases, etc., which had been left behind in the hurried retreat of the Serbian army. One of the documents is as follows:—
Captain Peter Zikic, commander of the machine detachment in the 04th regiment, had promised marriage to a young lady; Ella L., from Germany. He forsook this girl at a time when she had most need of his sympathy, and married a Serbian. Sentence: Removal from the list of Serbian officers. As a Viennese, and aware of the low state of morality among Austrian officers, Herr Roda Roda cites this case to show that a matter which an Austrian officer would regard as quite consistent with his honor as a soldier is visited in Serbia with condign punishment. "The Serbians," he says, are people with a different mentality from ours, sometimes regarding life more lightly than we do, sometimes more seriously,—but always strange and bizarre."

THE KNOWING SQUIRRELS.

Miss Mary Owens, of St. Joseph, Mo., has fed and petted the squirrels that live in the trees of her yard until they are quite tame. One of them will eat from her hand and comes when she calls. She feeds the squirrels nuts cracked and placed in a small box, and the box in a tree. She noticed the blue jays were eating the nuts before the squirrels could get them. She had no objections to feeding those birds, but she placed food for them in another place, and did not want the squirrels to be defrauded of theirs. So she tried this novel plan with success. She brought the box of nuts as usual and, taking the tame squirrel on her lap, showed him the nuts inside the box, then closed the lid. She did this twice, the squirrel watching, keen and alert. Then she opened the box, fed him one nut, and closed it again. She did this three times. The next day she took the tame squirrel again and showed him the closed box and nuts inside. He waited, looked at her half questioningly, half appealingly; then, with nose and slender paws, he opened the box and seized a nut. Miss Owens closed the lid, and this time the squirrel opened it without hesitation. The next day the closed box was placed in the tree, the lid arranged so that it could easily be opened, but would fall shut again. The tame squirrel came first and opened it, the others looked on; then, one after another, they followed his example. So now they are fed and their food protected from those for whom it is not intended.—Dumb Animals.

To Trifle With Catarrh is To Risk Consumption

Usually it comes with a cold. Being slight it is neglected—but the seed is sown for a dangerous harvest, perhaps consumption. To cure at once, inhale Catarrhoxone. It destroys the germs of catarrh, clears mucous, cleanses the passage of the nose and throat. The hacking cough and sneezing come and disappear, the health returns again. Nothing known for colds, catarrh and throat trouble, that is so curative as Catarrhoxone. It cures by a method that never yet failed. The one dollar outfit includes the inhaler and is guaranteed to cure. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c, sold everywhere.

IN MEMORIAM

RODERICK A. McDONALD.

There passed away on January, 10th inst. in Bellevue, a highly respected and honoured citizen, Roderick A. McDonald, in the 74th year of his age, leaving to mourn his loss: wife, three sons and one daughter—John Ronald and Alexander in Edmonton, Alberta; Harry, school teacher, Vermilion, Alberta; widow and Daniel on the home-stead. Kind and generous to a fault, the poor and needy never failed to find in him a true and sympathetic friend not only in words but in deeds of practical help. He was a public profession of his faith in Christ as his Saviour and lived a life which manifested a genuine change of heart. He was converted in the revival which took place about thirty years ago under the ministry of the late Rev. H. McLean, Valleyfield and ordained an elder, which office he filled, with much acceptance till his death. He was a generous supporter of all the various schemes of the Church, taking commendable interest in everything pertaining to the kingdom of his Master, and died trusting in the merits of his Redeemer. ALEXANDER McARTHUR.

Northam has been called upon to give up another of its esteemed residents, Alexander McArthur, this being the fifth death within three months. Deceased was in failing health since September, but so cheery and hopeful of recovery that the many friends who daily visited him could not realize that the end was near. On the day preceding his death he appeared to be unusually well. About eight in the evening those around him noticed a sudden change for the worse. The attending physician was hastily summoned and the family quickly brought from their respective homes, but it was evident to all that he was gradually sinking, and their cries and tears brought no response from the father who had always been so indulgent and devoted to them. At four o'clock in the morning his spirit passed away to Him who gave it. Something of the grandeur and solemnity of the beyond was conveyed to us who looked on the calm peaceful face and noted the expression of serene dignity and deep restfulness which the angel of death had implanted there. Deceased was a member of the Tyne Valley Presbyterian Church, Possessed of a kind heart and social nature, his house was a natural haven for the wayfarer, and no one ever went away hungry. We think it can truly be said of him that he had not an enemy. He leaves to
