

Have you found the SUNNY PACKAGE on your grocer's shelf?

It's a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. Millions of Canadians have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, effective means of correcting common constipation—the kind caused by lack of "bulk" in the menu.

Laboratory measurements show that ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN also supplies vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in this tempting cereal is more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables—because it resists digestion better. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass. Gently, this cleans out the intestinal waste.

Isn't this natural food better than taking patent medicines? Two tablespoons of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases with each meal. If this fails to give relief, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or cook into appetizing recipes. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains much more needed "bulk" than any other part-bran products. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

NO STANDS YET AWHILE VANCOUVER, Feb. 10.—Until University of British Columbia's athletic field is equipped with a drainage system so it won't "bog down" after every rainfall, no permanent temporary stands will be built, the students decided recently. Six thousand dollars will be spent to put the field in shape by next fall.

Canada At War 20 Years Ago

Written for the Canadian Press By Captain W. W. Murray, M.C. (Copyright, 1935, by Canadian Press)

On the walls of the Senate Chamber in Ottawa hangs a large canvas by Edgar Bundy depicting one of the historical incidents of the Great War—the arrival of the 1st Canadian Division in France. In the left foreground the pipers of a Canadian Highlander battalion are lustily playing the newly arrived soldiers past a number of staff officers, grouped to the right of the canvas. Dark smoke streaming from the funnels of cross-channel steamers—the transports which conveyed the division to France—obscure the background, but not sufficiently to obscure the gangplanks, crowded with disembarking Canadians.

Canada's 1st Division at St. Nazaire, ascended at the mouth of the River Loire, on Feb. 11, 1915.

From late in October of 1914 until the second month of 1915 the Canadians had undergone a rigorous training on Salisbury Plains. Unfortunately this sojourn synchronized with one of the wettest and coldest seasons of many years.

So great had been the rush to join the new armies being raised in England that accommodation became hopelessly inadequate, so that the Canadians were obliged to put in their training period under disheartening conditions. Many units passed the winter in tents. Their parade-grounds were deep in mud. Quite frequently all training was cancelled due to the torrential downpours that swept the Plains.

Those privations, however, did not discourage the men of Canada's First Contingent. It was all part of the rigors of war. They were sorry when, followed by an impressive review by King George, the division was ordered to France.

Command was given to General E.A.H. Alderson, an Imperial officer of high distinction. The 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade was commanded by Brigadier-General H.S. Mercet, who was killed on June 2, at Sanctuary Wood, the 2nd by Brigadier-General Arthur W. Currie, who later became Commander of the Canadian Corps, and the 3rd by Brigadier-General I.R.W. Turner, V.C., a Canadian who had won this high decoration in the South African War.

MRS. DONALD ANDREWS

There passed peacefully to rest at her residence at Hunter River on December 23rd, 1934, Lilla Jane, wife of Donald Andrews, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Sentnor, in her 62nd year. While this event caused deep regret and sadness among her many friends in the community, in a much greater degree sorrow was felt in the home circle of her loved ones by the bereaved husband, daughters, brothers and sisters all of whom suffered with keen pain the passing of one so dearly beloved.

Although in failing health for the past three years or more, Mrs. Andrews was able to occasionally drive out to visit her friends. She was with her mother for a time during the last months before her own death. Within a week of her passing, she was able to be about the home and to take active interest in daily happenings, so that her end came quite unexpectedly. Of a very kind disposition, she was free from all selfishness and kindness as a friend, wife and mother. Not only ministering to the needs of her home, as a neighbour she gave ungrudgingly to the calls of the sick

MORE AND BETTER PUPS

Ranchers are this year retaining their highest class foxes and expect first-class results in increased litters of superior pups. To assure these desired results feed liberally with IMPERIAL FOX BISCUITS, the Biscuits that bring success in fox and fur raising.

Breeders are kept for one purpose—pups in the spring—the rancher's source of income. Good business demands that breeders be fed to secure large litters of pups possible. All the food the foxes get is what is fed them daily. Make sure it has the proper ingredients for health, vigor and growth of strong litters of valuable pups. IMPERIAL FOX BISCUITS have all the elements and vitamins required to secure these results.

and suffering. No wonder she was so much appreciated and loved. About forty years ago, along with her husband and during the Ministry of Rev. Thomas Stebbings and Rev. John Colter, she made public confession of the Christian faith and joined the Wesleyan Methodist Church, now part of the United Church of Canada.

The bereaved relatives who fondly cherish her memory are, besides a loving husband, six daughters, namely: Mrs. Heber Barrett and Mrs. Merrill Green, both of Kingsport; Mrs. Orville Sellars, Hurst River; and Verna and Inez at home. Her four sons, George Wilfred, Robert Wesley, James Donald and James William predeceased her some years ago.

Lonesome for Babes

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—The sight of rows of new-born babes in a hospital nursery brought "mama" Dionne to the verge of tears. Until yesterday the outward stoicism of this 26-year-old

Canadian mother of 10 children, among them the famous quintuplets, had provoked much comment among those who have watched her adventures in the city. Visiting the Chicago lying-in hospital, one of the leading maternity institutions here, she pressed her face close to the glass partition separating spectators from the nursery. A wave of emotion rippled the placid childlike face, her unopened lips quivered and she turned toward her husband, Olive.

Mrs. Dionne murmured a few words in French, her usual voice ending on a tearful note. The slim, dark-haired Ontario farmer smiled back consolingly, concern manifest in his eyes. "She misses her babies, poor girl," explained Mrs. Joseph Reochon of North Bay, Ont., a relative who is traveling with the Dionnes. "In spite of all the thrill of sight-seeing she is lonesome for her children."

Her visit to the huge modern hospital resulted in several of those rare smiles that even the antics of night club entertainers did not provoke. All of Mrs. Dionne's 11 children—two-year old boy died several years ago—were born in the farm house where she and her husband have lived since their marriage in 1925. This was the first time she had seen how babies are cared for in a great Urban Hospital.

The Canadian Chess Federation

The Canadian Chess Federation is the major governing body of chess in Canada. It is affiliated with the F.I.D.E., the world-wide chess federation. At the present time the Canadian Chess Federation is well established in the Provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It is desirous of organizing properly in the remaining provinces, and for that purpose is anxious to appoint in Prince Edward Island two representatives who love the game of chess and have executive ability. The purposes of the Federation are: To promote the study and knowledge of the game of chess. To encourage the organization of chess clubs and leagues throughout the Dominion. To co-ordinate the activities of clubs and leagues by co-operation and competition. To supply clubs and leagues with chess material of all kinds which can be handled with advantage to the clubs and leagues. To arrange and to control the conditions governing the Championship of the Dominion, and to hold tournaments for this purpose. Also to promote and conduct other tournaments for players. To arrange visits, exhibitions and tournaments of visiting master players. To form a central organization from which and to which shall radiate the interests of National and International Chess. Will two volunteers step forward from the hundreds of chess players

Be Certain Of Your Vision

We often hear this argument—"How can I possibly need any help when I can see as well as any one?" The answer is this—How much you see has little to do with it. It is how comfortably you see that is important. Few see comfortably without some assistance. You may be one of the few, but learning the truth would be of value to you. G. F. Hutcheson OPTOMETRIST
