THE QUEEN'S COUNTY GUARDIAN

Head Offices in New Prowse Block--Charlottetown.

The latest news, first of all.

No one should forget Miller's big sale on Wednesday, to begin at 10 a. m. sharp.

Rev. Richard Opie, formerly of Pownal, has accepted a unanimous invitation to remain a fourth year at Boustouche, N. B.

Miss Beckwith, milliner with S. A. McDonald who has been visiting her home in Dartmouth, N. S., and who also attended the leading millinery openings has returned to this City.

Do not send communications to individual members of staff. Everything should be addressed "The Charlottetown Guardian, Charlottetown, P. E. I.," and on the left hand corner at the bottom of the envelope should be "Advertising," "Subscription," "News," "Editorial," or "Tour Editor," according to the contents.

The friends of the late W. C. Russell, of Elleneon, Florida, for many years a resident of this City, will regret to learn that after a long illness with pneumonia, he died on March the sixth. Mr. Russell for many years was connected with the late Archibald Kennedy in the sail-making business and was much respected in the community.

The death occurred recently in Vancouver of John Beattie after a lengthy illness. Mr. Beattie was married to Miss Mary McKay of New London sister of D. A. McKay of the P. E. I. and Mrs. McKendall of St. Andrews. Mr. Beattie was an old resident of Vancouver, having resided there since youth and one of the streets Beattie Street is named after him.

At the recent vocal concert, held in Beethoven Hall, Mt. Allison Ladies' College, Sackville, the principal young ladies who assisted in the singing were Miss Hazel Hughes, Charlottetown and Miss Edna Howard, Cornwall. These young ladies also took part in quartettes, and a trio as well as in the closing chorus "List the Cherubic Host."

The seventh of the series of sermons on Our Tour Around the World, subject, From Jerusalem down to Jericho, given by Rev. J. F. Floyd in the Central Christian Church last night was a great effort. Mr. Floyd is an able speaker and brought vividly the scenes and realities met with on a way down from Jerusalem to Jericho, namely and describing minutely the various features mentioned in the Bible and seen in those places at the present day.

Saturday night New Wonderland was packed to the doors from beginning to ending of the excellent shows put on by this popular amusement place. Mr. Allan in his musical act took the house by storm and had to respond to repeated encores. In fact by special request he obligingly gave the large audience a special act during the last show which was much appreciated. Miller & Russell fully maintained the reputation they made with laughter. Mr. Miller set the people in spasms with his little cuckoo song. If New Wonderland continues to put this line of vaudeville before its patrons, which it is its intention to do, many more successful nights are in store for this house which book only the very best vaudeville available.

Notwithstanding the drifted condition of the roads on last Friday night, a large number gathered at the Methodist Parsonage, Cornwall, the occasion being the annual Mite Box opening in connection with the Woman's Missionary Society of the church. The President of the society, Mrs. Wm. Lowther, presided, while the following program was successfully carried out:—Chorus—Choir. Prayer—by the Pastor. Address—Rev. Hugh Miller, Chorus—Choir. Questions—Answered by members of the W. M. S. Reading—Miss Gertrude Carson. Solo—Mrs. J. Pope Crosby. Dialogue—Mrs. Frank Howard, Misses Charlotte Lowther, Myrtle Boyle, Hattie Drake and Nell McCannell. Recitation—Miss Mabel Boundy. Reading—Mrs. John Mayhew. Chorus—Choir. Every number on the program was good and appropriate, but the dialogue being humorous, called forth much hearty laughter. Mrs. Frank Howard acted the role of wealthy Aunt Susan Jane to perfection. She is very rustic in appearance, makes a lengthy visit to her young city relations, pretends to be very deaf, but at the same time hears all that is being said, finds out that they are very polished and decided, with the exception of one, who she takes home with her and decides to leave her her money. The disappointed expression on the countenances of the others, on learning that Aunt Susan is not deaf, is a very noticeable feature of the dialogue. The program ended, the ladies of the Auxiliary served lunch, and the remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner, the young people amusing themselves in various ways. The mite boxes and collection of the evening amounted to $24.30, with more yet to come in. The success of this and other events, financially and otherwise, goes to show that the ladies of the Cornwall Auxiliary are fully awake to their opportunities and responsibilities, and are doing their share to help on the great Missionary work.

T. Huggan left by the eight thirty train last evening for the Canadian North West.

Sir Louis and Lady Davies, Ottawa, entertained a dinner party on Thursday evening last.

The mail train arrived Saturday evening at 7.20 and brought all foreign mails up to noon of that day.

The auction sale of the Miller estate at Marshfield, will commence at 10 o'clock sharp on Wednesday 24th.

The inward cargo by the Minto from Pictou to Georgetown, Saturday, included a full cargo of way freight.

A. L. Harrington representing the National Drug Company of Halifax, is in the city on business and will remain for a couple of days.

The outward freight by the steamer Stanley from Georgetown to Pictou this morning will include two cars hay and four cars mixed freight.

Rev. A. C. Bell of Arohaque, N. B., and a native of this Province has contributed an article to The Westman on "Our contributors, what shall be done with the semi-independent circuits of the N. B. and P. E. I. Conference?"

J. Cornfoot and I. Boyer both of this City, started for the North West on the eight thirty train last evening. Previous to starting three hearty cheers were given for the popular friends by some of their numerous friends.

A correspondent writing from Elliott's says: "What proved a very curious incident occurred a few days ago in the woods of Thos. Bertram, of Elliott's. Mr. Bertram, accompanied by two of his friends, while crossing through his woods saw blue smoke rising out of the ground accompanied by a roaring sound also the snow lying upward. Any other such eruption occurring elsewhere would be glad to hear through these columns."

The many friends of L. John Berry, Concord, N. H., will regret to learn that he has been seriously injured for some time, and at last report had undergone an operation which it is sincerely hoped will result in his complete restoration of his usual health. Mr. Berry accompanied by Mrs. Berry who is a native of Bellevue, spent some months in this Province last summer, and on return home he felt better, but later on his old malady stomach trouble, returned. While in the Province Mr. Berry made many acquaintances, including railway men and others, who will sincerely hope that he will soon enjoy the best of health, and in the near future to again enjoy his congenial companionship.

PROVINCIAL LEGISLATURE

MR. A. J. McDONALD said there were tracts of wild lands in his section which he feared would be rendered valueless if this act were passed and enforced. And yet in many cases these weeds were where they would not spread—in patches by the seashore, or in the woods. The whole Province would have to be cut down to get rid of them. Some weeds were mentioned in the bill, among them wild mustard. There were seven varieties of this pest and what would kill one would not kill another. He did not see how this bill could be enforced. As the ragwort and other weeds growing on the road sides, ask the farmer to kill these and he will say "I have enough to do to kill the weeds on my farm." He would object to being taxed to do what the public ought to do. Wild tansy was a very prevalent weed, but like many others disappears where there is careful cultivation.

HON. MR. McINNIS thought the bill of great importance and value. It was fairly well guarded and he did not think it would be so enforced as to create any great hardship. It did not require to disturb growing crops. The trouble was that one slovenly farmer seeds another farmer's lands. Weeds were allowed to grow along the fences and roads. Surely the time spent in killing weeds was well spent. The bill was a good one; it ought to be passed and he thought there need be no trouble in its working.

DR. WARBURTON thought the farmers would hardly object to a bill which had for its sole object to benefit them. It was important to check and as far as possible get rid of the weeds we now have and to prevent other weeds being brought in from abroad. MR. McKINNON remarked upon the great importance of the bill. He thought it attempted too much and could not be enforced. They should have begun more gradually and with a bill they would stand by and enforce. What would a fine of one to five dollars do to move a farmer who would not move to kill the weeds which his common sense would tell him are costing him $100 a year? But no farmer could strictly comply with this bill. It would be hard on an occupant for a short term to compel him to kill all the weeds on a weedy farm, and the owner get all the benefit. It was important to get rid of the weeds, but if this were not done they would never destroy the weeds. MR. WYATT thought it would be better to give the Governor in Council power from time to time to declare what weeds are noxious. HON. MR. RICHARDS was understood to say that this would be provided for in an amendment already prepared. MR. WYATT said weeds, whether on the lands occupied by the owner or another were equally obnoxious and must be destroyed. The expense would fall on the owner in the end. As to the roads, from which weeds also spread, it was the duty of the Public Works department to keep them clean of weeds. The bill did not refer to the railways. Some thought we could not enforce the law against the Dominion, but this was an error. The B. N. A. Act only provided that the property of the Dominion should be exempted from taxation. The federal authorities could not get allowed to scatter weeds broadcast.

HON. L. McDONALD supported the bill. It was important. In Pictou, Nova Scotia, farm after farm had been abandoned because of weeds. If we neglect this matter we shall have the same conditions here. The seeds are carried for miles on the winter winds. They spread mostly east and west because of the prevalent winds. Ontario began long ago by legislating against this and afterwards other weeds. He did not think the Government would so enforce the law as to cause hardship, but something must be done. He had had to fight weeds and had succeeded fairly well. Many farmers were not as careful as they should be. He thought the railway track was fairly well attended to, as far as his observation went. The bill was entirely for the farmers' benefit and it was the duty of all to make it as perfect as it could reasonably be made. No doubt experience in working would suggest useful amendments hereafter. The act would be educative at least and ought to do great good in that way. He remarked upon the practice of three-year rotation in crops as an effective way of keeping down weeds in cultivated lands—first grain, then clover, which was ploughed under, then grain and clover again, with timothy and so laid down. He believed the bill would be fruitful of good. Progress was reported and at 1 o'clock the House adjourned till Tuesday morning next at 10 o'clock.
