DANIEL R. RYAN, REPERTOIRE ACTOR.

Death of Theatrical Man Well Known in Maritime Provinces.

A recent Boston paper records the death of Daniel R. Ryan, old-time professional ball player and former stage favorite, at the home of his brother, John D. Ryan, 3 Ellsworth Park, Cambridge.

He retired from baseball to go on the stage, and as a producer and actor in amateur performances of Shakespeare's dramas in a Institute Hall, Cambridge, he earned a national reputation. He toured the country in a series of Shakespearean productions, starring chiefly as Hamlet and as D'Artagnan in "The Three Musketeers."

Mr. Ryan was a dramatic favorite in Charlottetown and throughout the maritime provinces. He came here every season for years, playing Hamlet, Ingomar, Othello, The Three Musketeers and The Belles. He was never a great actor but gave a fairly good performance and always carried a company superior to the others here. Among his leading women were Alice Fleming, now quite an actress in stock companies; and Harry Brown, afterward leading man for Kingston Blair.

STRUCKEN IN THE STREET

Completely Restored To Health By "Fruit-a-lives"

In 1912, I was taken suddenly ill with Acute Stomach Trouble and dropped in the street. I was treated by several physicians for nearly two years, and my weight dropped from 225 pounds to 160 pounds. Then several of my friends advised me to try "Fruit-a-lives". I began to improve almost with the first dose, and by using them, I recovered from the distressing Stomach Trouble--and all pain and constipation were cured. Now I weigh 235 pounds. I cannot praise "Fruit-a-lives" enough. H. WHITMAN. Price, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

A Good Feed

Some horses have the habit of bolting their oats. They do not derive much benefit from this way of eating, and it is apt to cause indigestion and bad temper.

CRACKED OATS. will go further, and cost about the same as the whole oats. No need to feed bran when oats are crushed.

MIX A HANDFUL OR TWO OF MOLASSINE MEAL

with the cracked oats and watch how your horses will improve. In a very short time they will have a fine glossy coat. For Feed of All Kinds Try

BUCK BOARD OR MOTOR

Transportation Problems of the Farmer widely Discussed at the Fall Fairs.

Car after car filled with farmers and their families, drove into the Exhibition Grounds. The Annual Millbrook fair had opened its gates, and hundreds--thousands--of Ontario farmers were out to get all they could from this display of farm utilities and discussion of the newest ideas.

A typical conversation which might have been overheard many times at the Millbrook fair, was well described in the Peterboro Weekly Review, as follows: "How long does it take you from your place to the village in the car?" "About fifteen minutes ordinarily, but I can do it in ten if I'm in a hurry." "That's making quick time. It must cost like blazes to run though," surmised the thrifty Walsh. "No, sir, you'd be surprised how little that machine costs me. And interesting in the farming and rural communities as well as the large towns."

The above picture illustrates the centre of attraction on the farm of Mr. Allan McLean, Kenton, Manitoba. The McLean car is used for shopping trips, visiting, going to church, as well as business and pleasure trips. They would not do without this car for twice its price.

Martha can drive it now as well as I can." "Well, it's a rare occasion that I can run in here to town daytimes with the team. Take too much time off the farm. And you know how things go when you are not right on the job?"

"I certainly do," said Armstrong, "but now that we have the car, Martha, and sometimes my daughter Irene, run all the errands. It gives them a change from the housework, and when they haven't time to do the baking they can get bread from Frank here. I can keep all the horses at work without interruption, too. The boys use the car so much Sundays that I am going to get another one for Martha and me and here just as soon as my crop are in."

Recently a well-known Canadian farm journal, which has been featuring illustrations of the buildings of well-kept Canadian farms, made the statement that they simply could not keep automobiles out of these illustrations, as wherever they found a well-to-do farmer, they would find an auto in a conspicuous place. Another incident was printed in a farm paper recently as follows:

"A week ago Monday the Bloomington (Wis.) creamery received 9,000 pounds of cream, and out of 162 patrons making delivery, ninety-seven brought in the product in cans."

Such testimony of the efficiency of the car for farm use, needs no amplifying.

These things emphasize very effectively the growing use of the motor car, and illustrates the very vital part it is playing in the social and business development of the people. Along with the telephone it has done a vast amount of good in making life more than the men. Every week, now, we get into our big town, eighteen miles away, and the women revel in real shopping. Before we had the machine we went into town about once in three months. It is also now within our power to visit neighbors and arrange our own social gatherings."

"In my opinion the automobile is going to be even more than now the par excellence farm machine. It is of far more importance on the farm than it ever was to anyone in the city. It shortens distances until the people of a rural community are close together, it adds that social atmosphere that we hoped to get through the telephone, but which we did not, because merely the phone was carried over the line. It makes that pleasure in farm life that has been too often lacking in the past."

"I have enjoyed many a run in the evening since getting my car," said another Manitoba farmer recently. "It is particularly convenient to make a trip to Brandon, Saturday evening, to do the week's shopping, after having put in a full day's work in the field with the horses, and, needless to say, the horses were home in the stables. I feel well repaid for the investment by the pleasure we get out of it--a pleasure, I am glad to say, that I often enjoyed by some of our neighbors who have not yet a car."

In 1910, R. A. Penhale's excellent dairy farm near St. Thomas was awarded the honor of being the best dairy farm in Ontario. The award came at the close of a widely advertised dairy farms competition extending over two years, under the direction of "Farm and Dairy." At that date, six years ago, Mr. Penhale had already realized the importance that a motor car could play in efficient farming, and a car was part of his up-to-date equipment, and played its part in winning the award.

Transportation is a big word and also a big problem to the farmer. A considerable amount of money, time, and labor may be either gained or lost, according to the choice of means on the part of the farmer himself. The average farmer has a considerable amount of travelling to do on the road, either hauling products to town or driving on business or otherwise, and the amount of time it takes is a very important factor in the yearly routine of farm labor.

"I can haul my dairy products to the creamery with my auto--cheaper than I could haul it to the nearest station with my horses and have it shipped," says one farmer. "In the first place, it saves the cost of freight, second my cream is in first class condition when I get it there, because the auto does not churn it up as much as the ordinary express wagon, and thirdly, I can make the round trip quickly and get back to my work much sooner."

At the Brandon Fair, which opened July 17th, a reporter for the Free Press Prairie Farmer and a police official counted 350 motor cars parked inside and outside of the grounds. One significant fact noted was that there were eight cars to every buggy on the grounds.

Two years ago the town of Oyen, Alberta, was a bald prairie with few signs of life for miles around, while today it is the centre of a well settled and prosperous community with five grain elevators, a modern hotel, and several general stores and implement merchants. There is also an enterprising automobile dealer there, whose efforts have pushed the oxen from the main streets, and replaced them with a line-up of cars which may be seen any afternoon.

During the season of farming operation many a cloud of dust, topping the far off rolling sky line on the prairie, advance information of the hurried errand of a motor car in quest of supplies or parts for farming implements.

Automobile sales in Oyen in 1914, were three cars, in 1915 four, and during the current year more than fifty. The farmers in that part of Alberta have adopted the motor car as one of the necessary aids for farming, especially where time means money in garnering the "No. 1 Northern," where distances are far and neighbors are few, and owing to the heavy enlistment, labor is scarce.

The explosion also blew a large hole in the side of the elevator. The brigade extinguished a fire which it was found was still smouldering in the elevator. Many were working near, but none were injured.

This Ointment Possesses Power to cure the skin

TWO CASES WHICH PROVE THE EXTRAORDINARY HEALING POWER OF DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

The use of Dr. Chase's Ointment is so generally satisfactory because you can actually see the results accomplished. It is surprising what change can be brought about in a single night by this great healing ointment. Mr. George Beavis, 119 James Street, Peterboro, Ont., writes: "As a healing ointment, I consider Dr. Chase's the best obtainable. I had a large running sore on my leg, and although I had tried all the prescriptions of two doctors I was unable to get any relief from the pain or to get the sore healed. One day my drug-gist handed me a sample box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and I used it with such good results that I decided to give the ointment a fair trial. Altogether I used four boxes, and am glad to be able to say that the sore on my leg is entirely healed up. Since this experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment I have recommended it to many people."

Mr. W. W. Oliver, Port George, Annapolis Co., N. S., writes: "I am going to tell you my experience with Dr. Chase's Ointment. There was a spot came on my face something like a mole but it kept getting worse and several doctors whom I consulted said it was skin cancer, and that it would have to be cut or burned out. I intended having this done, but changed my mind when my brother recommended Dr. Chase's Ointment. Before I had finished one box of the ointment this skin trouble had gone, and has not bothered me since. I cannot praise Dr. Chase's Ointment too much, and you are at liberty to publish this letter."

If you have never used Dr. Chase's Ointment send a two-cent stamp for a sample beyond mention this paper. Price sixty cents a box, all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

GEAMANY WILL INDEMNIFY NORWAY

PULPWOOD RESERVE BRINGS BIG PRICE

TORONTO, Feb. 6.--That S. Marks of Nipigon has been awarded the right to cut the pulp wood and timber of the Black Sturgeon River reserve, was announced yesterday by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. The price offered by Mr. Marks will bring into the provincial treasury at least $3,500,000, according to estimates. For the concession Mr. Marks offered a flat rate of 70 cents as a bonus on all classes of pulp wood. This means that for the spruce pulp wood the Government receives $1.10, and for all other classes of wood 90 cents a cord.

English Life Enjoyed

I was there before I saw Kenneth and Henry McKinnon. Of course I would not know Henry but he was the first fellow I met. He does not look much like Kenneth.

We only get Canadian mail once a week and we listen for it when it does come. I expected a few letters today, but only got the one.

Dear Sister--Received your letter today and was very glad to hear from you. We are in a new camp now, one of the largest in England, not in huts at all, but large houses divided into rooms which hold about twenty to a room.

We have very fine weather now. It does not seem much like winter at all, no frost or snow yet. I like it fine, although very wet at times. They have the country roads here just like the streets in Charlottetown.

We are here now nearly three months and it only seems to me like three weeks. Well, the new year will soon be here, and I intend to spend it at Witley, with the 16th Battalion, as I am getting a pass up there tomorrow. I am going to Bramshot tomorrow, where the 202nd Battalion is and will not be back till Tuesday. When

EXPLOSION BLOWS TOP OFF ELEVATOR.

PETERBORO, Feb. 5.--With a heavy iron top of one of the concrete elevators of the Quaker Oats Company which escaped the fire of December 11, was blown off this afternoon and hurled into the river 75 yards away.

The explosion also blew a large hole in the side of the elevator. The brigade extinguished a fire which it was found was still smouldering in the elevator. Many were working near, but none were injured.

Guess I will close now. Answer soon as we like to get long letters. MONTIE.
