LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN MEETING HELD LAST EVENING

Reports of Delegates to National Council in St. John Received Covering Ground of Much Interest—The Council Adjourns till Autumn.

A meeting of the Local Council of Women was held in the Y. M. C. A. parlour last evening. The President occupied the chair. The reports of the delegates to the National Council at St. John were received.

Mrs. C. C. Gardiner, Cor. Sec'y, who has been absent for some time was warmly welcomed back and a vote of thanks extended to Miss Palmer for her services as Secretary.

Mrs. Bartlett gave a very interesting and comprehensive report of the proceedings, including the work done in the attending the National Council and the social features of the gathering.

Miss Weeks gave a clear and concise statement of financial matters.

Miss Anderson reported verbally what had been done in regard to Domestic Science and spoke of the need of work in that line here.

Mrs. W. S. Stewart verbally reported the result of inquiries in St. John with regard to a hand ambulance there which might be possibly obtained for Charlotte-town. A resolution was thereupon passed to open correspondence with St. John as to the price at which it could be secured.

Mrs. C. C. Gardiner reported meeting in London with the Advisory President Lady Aberdeen and other ladies of the National Council from Canada. Lady Aberdeen made personal inquiry as to Council work here, and expressed a desire to hear of its progress.

The President read a summary of the work done and resolutions adopted at the National Council, connecting the reports previously made by other delegates.

The reports were listened to with close attention and hearty votes of thanks tendered the delegates. It is understood that further meetings of the Local Council will be suspended till the autumn.

SIGNOR MARCONI THE FATHER OF THE WIRELESS SYSTEM

Mr. Vyvyan Says the Stories of His Chief Not Being the Inventor are Absurd—His Arrival Awaited.

SYDNEY, July 30.—Richard Vyvyan, who for the past three years has been one of Marconi's chief assistants and who possesses the entire confidence of the distinguished inventor characterizes the stories now in circulation regarding the invention of wireless telegraphy as absurd and places a new construction on Mr. Marconi's orders to amend his application for a patent.

When shown the despatches declaring the Marquis Lanza Solari to be the inventor of wireless telegraphy, Mr. Vyvyan laughed heartily. He said: "Why Solari is in the employ of our company and he is a warm personal friend of Mr. Marconi and has often stated in my hearing that he considered it a great honor to know such a man as Marconi. Solari is a very decent little fellow and I am sure he would be the last to try to injure Marconi. Why, when the message was received at Newfoundland last winter Solari was overjoyed and gave a champagne dinner on the head of it."

But Marconi practically admits that Solari is the inventor," interjected the Chronicle's correspondent. "Not at all," replied Mr. Vyvyan, "it must be borne in mind that the fundamental principle of telegraphy is not an invention but a discovery. Marconi never laid claim to this discovery but he did invent several appliances which made wireless telegraphy of some value. In a word he has as the result of his own inventions demonstrated the practicability of wireless telegraphy. He has at the present time over one hundred patents which have to do with wireless telegraphy."

THE EDITOR'S MAIL. OPERATION FOR APPENDICITIS. SIR:—In this age perhaps no other class of persons is so exempted from criticism as doctors. Yet when they publicly criticize each other, surely we are justified in the interests of humanity, in calling the attention of the public to vast differences of opinion and procedure in treatment existing among them.

Recently in this community of Crepaud a patient was operated on for appendicitis. Three doctors were present at the operation and eleven days after the operation the patient died.

Now one doctor says publicly that the man was murdered by his doctors, and that he previously had a disease of the liver which cut off every hope of recovery in an operation for appendicitis. Then we ask why was the operation performed? Can it be that we have in our country men, who as Tennyson says "would rather use the knife than spare the limb" in this case not the limb but the life?

We would not like to think so and yet so long as the charge is publicly made by one of the profession, and goes unchallenged by the others we can draw our own conclusions. There is no other disease today which so engages public attention as appendicitis. We hear of it on all hands and from all quarters. We know not when our own time may come, and should it come, we fall helplessly into the hands of men who differ so widely in their opinions that we fear and tremble.

We look for differences of opinion in all professions, but there is a limit to it in others but the medical science, which is such an obscure thing to us, and yet of such mighty importance that we stand aghast when doctors lay such terrible charges to each other, and our minds grow darker and darker on the vital question of things medical.

Operations for appendicitis are daily being performed all over the civilized world. Some patients recover, many die. We would like to know if the operation is a rational procedure or not.

Many say that I have no ill will to any of the doctors concerned, neither do I seek to cause it among others. I certainly am justified in publishing what I have heard reported in the presence of many witnesses.

Yours Truly HUMANITY.

AN ACHING BACK. Is the first indication of kidney disease, and should be taken as a signal of danger—a warning to use Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills while yet there is time to avoid the dreadful pains and certain fatality of this terrible disease. There is no guess work, no experimenting when you use the prescription. It brings relief in a remarkable short time, and because of its combined action on liver and kidneys, cures complicated cases which cannot be reached by any ordinary treatment.
