Stanfield's Underwear

(Chapter 5)

The Knitting Machines in the Stanfield mills, are almost human. They must be, in order to knit better underwear than can be knit by hand. And these machines do it.

Every stitch is exactly the same length. These machines run 16 distinct threads of yarn at once. Should any one of the strands break, the whole machine stops, and won't run until the break is mended. There are no "dropped" stitches in Stanfield's Underwear.

No such machinery as this existed before the Stanfields' time. When they found how unsatisfactory the ordinary knitting machines did the work, the Stanfields turned in and invented this modern machine.

It was the founder of the Stanfield mills, too, who perfected the only absolutely unshrinkable underwear. He discovered that no matter what was done to garments after they were made up, they would shrink if woven of untreated wool. So he invented a process, whereby the shrink was taken out of the wool before the yarn was spun. This is the process in use in the Stanfield mills, and each season proves that it is the only possible way to make unshrinkable underwear.

In all the other details of the making, Stanfield's Underwear is improved. So it is only natural that the finished garments are better.

It is made for men and women in all sizes from 22 to 70 inches.

There are 3 weights, with colored labels to distinguish them.

RED label, light weight. BLUE label, medium weight. BLACK label, heavy weight.

Your dealer has all sizes and weights or can easily get them for you.
