

SEE THE CHANGE IN YOUR TEETH AS PEPSODENT TOOTH POWDER GIVES YOU DENTAL WHITENESS

IT'S TRUE! PEPSODENT WILL GIVE YOUR TEETH THE DENTAL CLEANLINESS THAT MEANS DENTAL WHITENESS

After a dentist cleans your teeth it's amazing how white they are! That's real dental whiteness: and he relies on powder. For unless dull, dingy film is removed, it hardens—darkens—turns into harmful, ugly tartar. But Pepsodent Tooth Powder is especially made to remove that trouble-causing film—gently, but thoroughly—right in your own home. Change today to Pepsodent Tooth Powder and give your teeth dental whiteness.

FOR A CLEANER, FRESHER MOUTH... FOR WHITER, BRIGHTER TEETH... USE PEPSODENT TWICE A DAY.

The difference is US$1000—and PEPSODENT IS THE ONLY TOOTH POWDER THAT CONTAINS ITRUM

MacKinnon-Cobb Wedding

A lovely Fall wedding was solemnized at Trinity United Church, Charlottetown on Monday, October 13th at 2.30 p. m., when Rev. T. E. MacLennan performed a double ring ceremony uniting a young bride, Miss Shirley, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cobb, Charlottetown to Mr. John MacKinnon, South River Lake, Nova Scotia.

The church was beautifully decorated with large bouquets of white and yellow chrysanthemums. The guest pews were marked with old fashioned nosegays of pink and yellow blossoms, tied with white satin ribbon.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father, was lovely in a floor length gown of white crepe with sweetheart neckline, deep shoulders forming the short sleeve and bodice gathered in folds to a centre panel of seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a dragon. The least of the bridesmaids wore long white gloves and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Her sister Miss Shirley Cobb was bridesmaid and wore an Alice Blue gown of crepe with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline, long full sleeves and full floor length skirt with matching blue coronet and veil. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The groom's brother, Mr. Stewart MacKinnon of South River Lake, Nova Scotia, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Drummond Cobb and Mr. Fulton Pierce, both of Charlottetown. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Queen Hotel, attended by fifty guests. The bride's table was centered with a beautifully decorated three-tier wedding cake and flanked by bouquets of pink snapdragons and a corsage of white roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful three-strand pearl necklace.

For travelling the bride wore a grey wool suit and matching hat with red topcoat and black accessories and corsage of white roses.

The happy couple left by motor on a honeymoon tour of the Maritime Provinces. On their return they will take up residence in Halifax.

Prior to her marriage the bride was tendered a shower by many of her friends at the home of Mrs.

To the rear of the store is the dispensary which has a row upon row of drugs and chemicals which are used to fill prescriptions. In a large alcove to the left, Mr. Jamieson hopes later on to install a soda fountain which will be of great service to the general public. Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson have completed the upstairs, turning it into a lovely apartment. The building was formerly owned by Mr. Henry MacLaren, who has moved to a new home on the adjacent lot. The citizens of this community are delighted to have a new business opening, and they wish Mr. Jamieson every success in his new venture.

She decided to accept. "Where shall we go first?" He laughed boyishly. "To a party. It will take us an hour or two to get there in this traffic but there's no hurry."

Stacy was like a child in his enthusiasm. They crawled through the masses of gaily garbed celebrators, stared at the elaborately decorated floats, were awed by the Comus parades as the scene became weird and garish in the flickering light of flambeaux carried by the prancing, capering Negroes. Lotus felt as though she had been transported to another world, a dream world of color, noise and laughter.

It was eight o'clock when they drew up before a stately mansion on a street blocks from the center of festivities. The austere house with its aging Corinthian columns seemed to frown down on them as though they were trespassers. Stacy led her up the long steps to the open doorway. A pretty cameo-featured girl in an old-fashioned costume stood just inside.

"Stacy, honey, I thought you were never coming!" Her dove-like brown eyes went beyond him. "You're not alone?"

He propelled Lotus forward. "No, Alene, I brought Rosa Kinyman with me—I believe I've introduced you two before."

Lotus smiled and nodded. "Of course, at the Cafe Duval, where I sing, Miss Cartier."

She recognized the delicately lovely girl now as one of those in the group with Stacy Corbin the night of her premier performance.

Alene Cartier's pale brows rose in astonishment, her eyes shot a question to Stacy, then she quickly regained her composure and led them into an enormous room where other people in costumes were eating a buffet supper from tables running the length of the room.

Two of the young men recognized Lotus and after dinner they demanded that she sing for them. Someone began to play and she sang for an hour. But when the dancing began she stealthily left the room and stole past some heavy portieres onto a small balcony that overhung the garden. (To Be Continued)
