The entertainment held Friday night at the McDonald Consolidated School was very much enjoyed. The lecture given by W. S. Louson, and illustrated by a stereopticon by Prof. Ross, B. A. was a pleasing feature of the evening. The readings and musical selections were greatly appreciated.

CORRESPONDENTS should remember that to ensure early appearance of correspondence all matter sent in should be cut down as much as possible. Every attention is paid to correspondence but it is impossible to get everything in as written, especially when as of late many communications are being received each day.

THURSDAY night the barns belonging to Alexander McEachern, Rice Point, were with all their contents including a large quantity of grain and straw, totally destroyed by fire. Of Mr. McEachern's crop, only one stack of hay remains. About a week ago the residence of Mr. McEachern's sister Mrs. Alexander McEachern, Rice Point, was also destroyed by fire.

At his home, Flat River, on September 21st, Donald Ross a well known and highly esteemed citizen passed away at the age of 72. During his life he was noted for his hospitality and genial companionship. During his long illness, extending over a number of years, his life was marked by kind consideration for others. His unselfish and patient submission even in intervals of intense suffering showed him possessed of the spirit of the good and faithful servant whose departure only means an entrance into the Master's kingdom. He leaves to mourn a wife and one son at home, two daughters in the United States and one Mrs. A. McKinnon, Brooklyn, also a brother Peter Ross, Lower Montserrat.

NUMBERS of citizens were on hand Saturday night to greet the arrival of the S. S. Northumberland from Pictou. The chief drawing card appeared to be the performing lions which were brought over from Halifax, and are to be one of the amusement features at the Exhibition this week. The "trick house" was also part of the steamer's cargo and there were many artists with special attractions which will no doubt be seen displayed in advantageous situations to draw the public's attention and money while the Exhibition lasts. A bear, some trained dogs, a lot of trotting horses, and live stock, men with strange devices and men of strange appearance made the coming ashore look like the disembarkation from Noah's Ark on a small scale. There were over 100 passengers. The trip over from Pictou was most enjoyable owing to the glorious weather which prevailed.

Oysters served at all hours on the hall, shell, stewed or fried at Florida Hotel Pownal, W. Brown. 9-23dimpd

With regard to the article entitled "Lige gu bragh" published a couple of weeks ago in The Magazine Guardian many communications have been received in regard thereto. One correspondent writes that several omissions should be made good, for instance, among the list of sea captains should have appeared the names of the late Thomas Young, Angus Young, Daniel McInnis, and of John A. McDonald, John D. McDonald Alex. McInnis and Malcolm McEachern, who are still in the land of the living. It might also have been mentioned that three captains form Belfast District—James Murchison, Roderick Cameron, and Allan McDonald crossed the Atlantic in a very small vessel, one that was entirely worked on the voyage across by themselves for there was no room for others on board. All three are now dead or The Guardian would try to place an account of the trip before its readers. Another captain worthy of mention is the late S. McDonald, who, when only 19 years of age took a brig, the Tam O' Shanter, built in Orwell by the late Benj. Davies, across the Atlantic. There were also four brothers all of whom were captains. They were John, Duncan, Charles and Angus McDougall; the first named is dead. It certainly seems as if a district more prolific of sea captains would be hard to find in any part of the world.

WE BOUGHT the autumn samples of the best ladies' tailors in the Dominion, Messrs. J. H. Waldman & Co., of Montreal at practically our own price, hence the sensational saving chance we are able to offer you to-day.

We cannot recommend too strongly the merits of this line. From every point of view the most exacting tests reveal no weakness. They are new, thoroughly stylish, and a trial on a score of ladies exhibited to us their faultless fit. The fabrics are mostly chevrons, tweeds, panamas and the like, and some are colored, but the majority black. They are all good autumn weights and as we have said the cheapest in the lot is worth $4.00 any time and anywhere. But see them—when you see them, you will think more of them than we do, if possible.

We have just opened a lot of new wrap pers to-day and would like to show them to you. All prices and all good at the prices.—Moore & McLeod. 10-8d11
