There came drifting into the little harbor one morning a craft which had evidently been frozen in the ice for a life time and had lately been released. It had come down from Davis strait

A BAD CASE OF ASTHMA
Mrs. George Budden, Putnamville, Ont., says: "I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, as I had the Asthma very bad; could get nothing to do me any good. A friend of mine persuaded me to try this remedy as he had tried it, and it proved successful. I tried it and it cured me. I am thankful to-day to say I am a well woman through the use of this remedy. I keep it in the house all the time, and would not be without it."

HOW CATARRH IS CURED IN MAINE.

People in Maine are not so slow for if Canada has a good thing why they simply come to Canada for it. This is why Mrs. James A. Tweedie, of Jay Bridge, Maine, has sent for sixteen outfits of Catarrh-zone for friends in her locality. This lady gives very full particulars why she done this. Her daughter fourteen years old had doctored for Catarrh obtaining no benefit tried lots of other remedies but all failed—recommended by a neighbor to try Catarrh-zone. Instead of despairing as she had good reason for doing obtained Catarrh-zone and before it was done as she states she was completely cured. No wonder she recommends it. Child had dropping in the throat, hawking, spitting father thought she was going into consumption could not sleep at night and add: I only wish any one suffering from Catarrh to give it a fair trial; any druggist will enable you to do this for they all sell it—your money back if Catarrh-zone does not benefit you. HASELMOORE

and was an ancient and battered hulk without masts, bulwarks or name. The craft had a brig, and she was a Russian. Her hatches were on and her cabin doors fast, and the hulk was buoyant. She had come out of the belly of an iceberg. She had little cargo, and that consisted of skins and furs in prime condition. No papers were found in her cabin, but it was figured that she was a sealer or trader, carrying a crew of 10 or 12, and that she had been provisioned for a year. The four found aboard tasted like chalk, but the beef was perhaps better than the day it was put on board. She had been abandoned when frozen in, and the dark color of the woodwork and the growth of moss proved that she had drifted for years. Then she got fast in the ice and became part of a berg. The date of a letter found in her fore-castle showed that she had been abandoned nearly half a century before. The hulk drifted to a sandy beach, and the combers went to work on her. They got the furs, which brought them $4,000, hoisted out a couple of barrels of beef and then set fire to the wreck and little remained of her when the story leaked out. That the hulk came down from the far north was proved only a few weeks later by the log of an English merchantman. She reported passing a great iceberg to the northwest of Azores and of seeing a curious object imbedded in it 50 feet above the surface of the water. The object was believed to be a whale, but it was probably the hulk of the brig. Getting down into the warm sea, the berg fell to pieces, and that queer old relic found herself afloat again.

CRUELTY OF GERMAN TROOPS.
Terrible stories are being printed in the United States papers illustrative of the cruelty of the German troops to the Chinese populace in the district in which these troops are located. Some of this information is derived from letters from the officers, which letters are published in respectable journals such as the Han-over Courier and the Freisinnige Zeitung. It is true that these are anti-administration journals, but the letters which they print cannot be inventions. Hundreds of people are killed who are not fighting at all, and they are shot and bayoneted in crowds, apparently for no other reason than because they are in crowds.
