

PUBLIC MEETING

On Prohibition Held at Clinton.

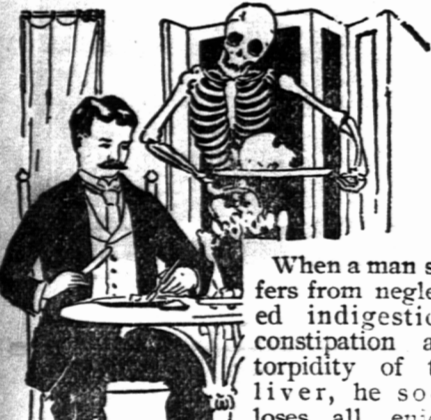

MR. DUNCAN MARSHALL

Talks of The Duty of Government And What Electors Should Do.

Mr. Duncan Marshall reached the city yesterday morning on his return from a visit among his friends in Summerside and vicinity. When the people of Clinton learned of his presence among them they at once requested him to address a public meeting in that place upon the prohibition question, and on Monday evening, notwithstanding the rain, the hall was crowded with people.

Mr. Wm. Brown of Margate occupied the chair and introduced the speaker, expressing his pleasure at welcoming Mr. Marshall back to P. E. Island. He also remarked upon the importance of the subject upon which the address was to be delivered.

The speaker commenced by referring to the recent plebiscite and the favorable verdict of the people with regard to prohibition. Two questions had been asked the people, whether they were "for" or "against" prohibition and the government seemed inclined to accept a mandate from the minority rather than from the majority. It was argued that the government had not promised to follow the vote by legislation. Such a promise Mr. Marshall deemed unnecessary as the fact that the vote was given placed the government in the position of either asking the people's opinion

When a man suffers from neglected indigestion, constipation and torpidity of the liver, he soon loses all enjoyment of his meals. Nothing tastes good or looks appetizing. He grumbles at his wife, or the cook, or the landlord, or the landlady, or the waiter, as the case may be. People say that he has "a finicky appetite" and let it go at that. The fact is that the man is in a precarious condition and, if he continues to neglect his health, is a candidate for consumption or some equally terrible malady.

If a man doesn't wish to "dine with death for a waiter" he should take the right remedy for "little ills" as they arise, and thus ward off the "big ones." When a man's appetite is "finicky," when his liver is torpid, when he feels "headache," dull, listless and generally out of sorts, he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes the appetite keen, the liver active, the blood pure, the brain clear and the whole body alert and energetic. If the bowels are constipated Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will cure that. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, weak lungs, catarrh, bronchial and throat troubles.

"Twenty-five years ago eight different doctors told me that I would live but a short time—that I had consumption and must die," writes Geo. R. Coope, Esq., of Myers Valley, Pottawatomie Co., Kans. "I finally commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and am still in the land and among the living. I have faith to believe that it has lengthened my life for the last twenty-five years, and I have so much faith in all of Dr. Pierce's medicines that I want his 'Common Sense Medical Advice'."

with the intention of acting upon it, or else simply using the plebiscite as a political dodge to escape the issue. If they choose to admit the latter they might escape the former responsibility; if not they must assume it.

The government had definitely refused a national prohibitory law, but he hoped they might favorably consider prohibition by provinces, thereby, enabling the provinces voting favorably to wipe out the traffic. If they refused this then the prohibitionists must take their political self-respect must take direct issue with the government.

If we received no legislation now it would be because the government did not consider prohibitionists of enough political importance to respect their mandate given in September last. To prove we were in earnest it would then be the duty of every enemy of the liquor traffic to use his best efforts to defeat every representative in the House of Commons who opposed such prohibitory legislation. To fail to do so would be to dishonor the cause of prohibition.

The only way to get good Government, the speaker remarked, was to defeat the party that refused to carry out the people's wishes and continue to do so until one of the parties, anxious to get the confidence of the people for a longer term, would condescend to give the country clean government. The difference between the two parties upon the question of tariff or economy was so small as to be immaterial, so prohibitionists had no sacrifice to make no matter what their politics might be in pursuing such a course. The present Government has been warned by resolutions enough and our duty lay in acting out these resolutions at the next election.

Our treatment of members supporting Prohibition ought to be as honest as our opposition to those opposing. The speaker mentioned Mr. J. H. Bell, M. P., as an earnest supporter of the cause and who, while he pursued his present course, deserved the best support of Prohibitionists.

Mr. Marshall then said it had been his boast in Ontario that down by the Sea there was a Province in which the people refused to tolerate the liquor business by any law giving a privilege to sell. He had also often spoken of their absolute refusal to accept revenue from the business, their policy being: "No complicity with the Liquor Traffic," but he had been ashamed and pained to learn that a retrograde step had been taken in this matter and the people had been forced, by the legislature, into a partnership with the business. This he believed to be a betrayal of the people's trust, and if he was not mistaken would be resented by every honest independent Prohibitionist in Prince Edward Island at the very first opportunity.

He discussed several phases of the question as to enforcement, practicality of the laws, etc., at some length. The best of attention and frequent applause were very evident marks of appreciation from the audience. The meeting closed by giving the speaker a hearty vote of thanks, and singing God Save the Queen.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

Mr. Finlay Docherty of Eldon Falls Heavily to the Ground and Breaks his Arm.

Mr. Findlay Docherty, Eldon met with a very painful accident on Friday July 28th. He and his son went to the field for a load of hay. One coil was thrown on when the horse starting quickly threw Mr. Docherty off the wagon. He fell heavily on his side, breaking the left arm near the shoulder. Dr. Martin was hastily summoned and set the broken limb which seems to be rapidly healing and we hope to see him about again ere many days.

PRODUCE MARKETS.

Cheese is Still on the Up Grade and the Feeling is Firm All Round—Eggs Are Quite Firm.

MONTREAL, July 29.—As will be seen by the reports of the country, the tone of the markets is very firm, and it is needless to say of course that the feeling is strong here as well. As 9 1-2c was paid at Brockville, the range for the finest here should be 9 5-8c to 9 3-4c anyway, while Quebec can be quoted at 9 3-8c to 9 1-2c, with some recent sales at 9 1-4c.

The range for finest creamery is 18 1-2c to 19c, and undergrades range around 17 1-4c. Dairy is about steady, and is quoted at 14 to 14 1-2c.

There was no change in the situation of the egg market. Business for export account in fresh stock is slow, but a moderately active local trade continues to be done. Choice candled stock sold at 14 1-2c to 15; ordinary, at 12c to 12 1-2c; and No 2 at 9c to 10c per dozen.

HIS ASHES BURNED

Body of Great Agnostic in Its Resting Place.

FAMILY NOT RESIGNED.

The Friends of Mrs. Ingersoll Preval Upon Her to Allow the Burial.

NEW YORK, July 29.—All that was mortal of Robert G. Ingersoll now rests in a beautiful bronze incinerary urn in the home of the family, in Dobbs Ferry. The body was taken yesterday to the Fresh Pond crematory, where the old "Biblical formula," "Dust to dust, ashes to ashes," said by the side of so many millions of graves, was worked out, if not spoken.

In two hours the great agnostic, lawyer, orator had been reduced to the original elements. In the lap of mother earth it might have taken two centuries. There was no service either in the house or at the crematory. Only time enough was taken at the latter place for the flames to do their work. Then the ashes were gathered into the urn and the family and friends returned the way they had come.

NOT YET RESIGNED.

Notwithstanding that six days had elapsed since the husband and father had breathed his last, Mrs. Ingersoll and her daughters seemed as little resigned to the thought of losing him forever as on the first or any subsequent day. As the hour drew near for the departure of the formal procession from the home to the station in Dobbs Ferry, the unwillingness of Mrs. Ingersoll to part with her dead husband grew more pronounced. She could not bring herself to realize that the actual final putting was at hand, and it was only at the earnest persuasion and entreaties of her friends and relatives that she started at last was made.

The coffin was covered with black cloth from top to bottom, and there were no plates or handles. Wreaths of roses and evergreens, laid without attempt at artistic arrangement upon it, alone imparted a touch that was other than sombre. The hearse bore the coffin from the house to the station, two miles away. The pall-bearers were Walsion H. Brown, Colonel Ingersoll's son-in-law; C. P. Farrell, Mrs. Ingersoll's brother-in-law; Herbert P. Brown, brother of W. H. Brown; Frederick C. Penfield, former minister to Egypt; Major Orlando T. Smith and John Hazelton, of the law firm of which the Colonel had been the senior member.

Others in the party were Mrs. Ingersoll, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Miss Maud Ingersoll, Mrs. C. P. Farrell, Mrs. Ingersoll's sister, Miss Farrell, H. D. Fry and three servants of the family.

RAILROAD.... KIDNEY

A Disease Peculiar to Railroad Men, which is readily Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Did it ever occur to you that most railroad men die of kidney disease?

Such is the fact, however, and the disease is known among railroaders as "railroad kidney."

The first and most marked symptom is a weak, lame and aching back. You may think at first that you are only tired; but as this trouble increases day by day, kidney disease, with all its terrors, is fast claiming you as a victim.

Mr. Geo. Cummings, for over 20 years engineer on the Grand Trunk running between Toronto and Allandale, says: "The constant duty with my work gave me excessive pains in my back, racking my kidneys. I tried several remedies until I was recommended by my friend, Mr. Dave Conley, to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Two boxes have completely cured me and I feel to-day a better man than ever. I recommend them to all my friends."

Asthma Cure vs. Asthma Relief.
It is a recognized fact among those suffering from asthma that the longer they use the temporary relief asthma remedies which require to be burned, the worse they become, until it loses its effect entirely. Clarke's Kola Compound is not among this class, but will permanently cure the worst case of asthma in from 60 to 90 days. Mr. F. J. Painton, proprietor of Painton's Music Store, Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma to the worst form for over 15 years, and had consulted many physicians both in England and Canada, but obtained no relief. A friend of mine who had been cured by the Kola Compound advised me to try it, and three bottles have entirely cured me; it is now gone and I feel as well as ever. I have had no trouble since, and I am now taking Clarke's Kola Compound I have many nights had to sit up nearly all night. It is truly a wonderful remedy, and it affords me much pleasure in attesting my appreciation of anything so worthy. Clarke's Kola Compound is sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address: The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 124 Church Street, Toronto, or Vancouver, B. C., sole Canadian agents."

TOOK HER OWN CHILD

Serious Charge Against Mrs. Perot

NOT AN OFFENCE IN G. B.

Mrs. Perot's Identity With Miss Sponagle of Liverpool N. S., Confirmed.

LONDON, July 29.—Mrs. Perot was arraigned at the Bow street police court yesterday, and remanded for one week. The child will remain in the custody of her mother. Bail, with two sureties, was fixed at £100. It was furnished by Sir Ewan Smith and N. Blood.

It was five o'clock when Mrs. Perot was arraigned before Magistrate Lushington. The prisoner was looking very pale and nervous. The child, Gladys, remained standing on the floor just below her mother, who exchanged frequent glances of reassurance with the child. Sergeant Pollis testified to the facts of the arrests at the Liverpool landing stage this morning. When arrested Mrs. Perot had said:

"I cannot see how I can possibly be charged with stealing my own child. I divorced my husband, consenting to let my daughter and son be left in the custody of their grandfather. I thought I had the right to take her away if I had liked."

Farrick Rose-Innes, barrister, asked, in behalf of Mrs. Perot, that bail be granted in order to give him time to prepare the case. He would personally give an undertaking to produce the child and substantial bail for the appearance of Mrs. Perot.

Colonel Hodson of the United States embassy explained that the United States ambassador, Joseph H. Choate, was returning to town this evening and that the full papers had not arrived. In behalf of the United States, he was instructed to oppose the child's being given into Blood's custody.

Magistrate Lushington then rendered his decision.

When Mrs. Perot, her child and Mr. Blood arrived at Euston station they were greeted by the correspondent of the Associated Press. To the latter Mrs. Perot said:

"This is a pure case of persecution, I assure you. Some of the proceedings are utterly unwarrantable. If taking my child away is an indictable offence, then I am guilty, perhaps, legally; but every mother's heart will be with me in this trouble. We had no idea of this further attempt in a long series of boundings. If I return to America, it will be never to leave it without my child. We are perfectly devoted, as you can imagine."

Mr. Blood said: "There is no mystery about this case. The statement that I was travelling as Mr. Pierce is untrue; I travelled under my own name. I am a very dear friend of Mrs. Perot and her child, and propose to stand by them. I consider Perot, the grandfather, a scamp to play the inhuman trick. I have engaged the best extradition barrister in London to fight this case."

Mr. Rose-Innes said: "There is not the slightest chance of extradition in this case. The English law says abduction must be against the laws of both England and the United States for extradition. Mrs. Perot violated United States laws only."

Mr. Rose-Innes said further that even if extradition were granted he could rescue Mrs. Perot therefrom by habeas corpus proceedings.

Mrs. Perot and her child have gone to Fulham, where they will be the guests of Lady Colin-Campbell.

Curious Bits in The White Mountains.

You may travel this country over, but there is no section more interesting in every sense of the word than in the White Mountain Region of New Hampshire. Every resort within its confines has its own particular wonders or scenic attractions, many of them being strange yet decidedly interesting natural formations. Take, for instance, Elgon's Head in Crawford's Notch,—the rock deposits forming the trunk, head, eye and ear of a gigantic elephant which can be seen for a great distance. Then there is, in the Franconia Region, that most widely known formation the Profile of Old Man of the Mountain which stands guard over Profile Lake; and not far distant in the great Cannon Rock, surmounting the mountain of that name Down at North Conway is the oddity, White Horse Ledge, and thus you will find in every locality some marked peculiarity that is wonderfully interesting. Mount Pleasant and Fabians are in the very heart of the mountain region, and a short journey in various directions will bring the tourist to Crawford's, Jefferson, Jackson, Bartlett, Sugar Hill, Bethlehem, Maple wood, Twin Mountain, Profile House, Littleton, or Mount Washington, and the view of the Presidential Range from hereabouts is exceptional. Every one visiting the mountain regions should plan to visit the summit of Mount Washington, for besides the ride to the top of the mountain, which is a most unusual experience, there is a continuously changing outlook in every direction. Portland and Old Ocean are often seen on a clear day, while between lay those gems of lakes, Ossipee, Sebago, Moosehead, and many of smaller size sparkling like bits of shining silver. In other directions the eye catches glimpses of Berlin, of Maplewood, and of the mountain peaks for miles around. When on the summit you are by no means confined to the platform surrounding the hotel, for there are a score of places within easy distance worthy of visit. Among them is the Lake of the Clouds, a goodly sized sheet of water, which is ever clear and cold. Then there is the great chasm known as the Gulf of Mexico, and in the Alpine Gardens grows a variety of mountain plants and flowers which for rarity of beauty would be hard to equal; but the most wonderful place of all is Tuckerman's Ravine. Here the snow lies a hundred feet deep, and through it, cut by the waters coursing down the mountain side, is a series of beautiful arches, the spans being of sufficient size to admit a team, could one but reach them. The descent to the ravine is a most perilous one and only the most experienced mountain climbers ever attempt to visit it. The hotels of the mountains are models of convenience and magnificence, and all visiting the region are assured a pleasant, healthful and profitable sojourn. You, of course, want to know all about the mountains, so send a two-cent stamp to General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R.R., Boston, for the book "Mountain Pointers" and with it you will get an excursion book, both of which are replete with information of value to tourists; and for six cents in stamps will be sent a collection of beautiful half-tones entitled "Mountains of New England."

WEAK AND... PUNY CHILDREN

Become Strong and Healthy by using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Children are frequently left weak as an after result of measles, scarlet fever, and in this state are easy prey to nervous disorders, rickets, spinal disease, consumption, diseases which do not affect robust healthy children. The blood is weak and watery and the nerves improperly nourished. Feed the blood and nerves with Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, and the pale, pinched faces will soon become rosy and plump, and tired and nervous children will give way to strength and animation. Mr. E. W. Day, 62 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, writes: "My eldest daughter, aged 12, had become very much run down. Her fretful, nervous, sleepless condition greatly alarmed her parents. She was taken from school and in spite of the best nursing, the thin, weakened, bloodless face grew paler and paler. Fortunately we used Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and her improvement became apparent. She returned to school built up anew, and greatly to our joy fully restored to health."
