A GREAT BENEFACTOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Talk not of the Wrights, the Zeppelins, or even the Edisons or the Grays; the inventor who is doing the real work for mankind and promoting the general uplift is R. E. Howard, who has tried to dodge distinction by living in Kansas City. Not to break the news too rudely, Mr Howard has invented a fly-trap warranted to catch 100,000 of the pests an hour if it does not run out of supply.

It's a treadmill—the fly's passion to run about is used to work his destruction. A wheel with paddles is the principal part of the mechanism so delicately adjusted that it revolves with less than the weight of a hair. When the footstep, or, rather, the footsteps, of a fly touches it there is a whirl, and the insect discovers himself in duress. It is said that there is something about fly psychology that makes the landing paddles irresistible—experiment has shown that they go there in preference even to shining bald heads. In one Kansas City butcher shop, the other day, a pint of microbe-carriers was collected in a short time.

LIEUT. HENSON TALKS OF THE DISCOVERY

BATTLE HARBOR, Labrador, Sept 16—(Via Cape Bay by wireless)—"We posted the stars and stripes twice at the north pole," said Matthew Henson, Commander Robert E. Peary's colored lieutenant, and the only civilized man, according to Peary who ever reached the pole.

"We arrived at the pole just before noon. April 6th, the party consisting of the commander, myself, four Eskimos and thirty-six dogs, divided into two detachments, equal in number, and headed respectively by Commander Peary and myself. We had left the last supporting party at 87 degrees 53 miles, where we separated from Captain Bartlett, who was photographed by the commander.

The ensigns were hoisted toward noon from tent poles and tied with fish lines. We had figured out the distance pretty closely and did not go beyond the pole. The flags were up about midway April 7 and were not moved until late that evening.

On taking subsequent observations the Stars and Stripes was moved and placed 150 yards west of the first position, the difference in the observations being perhaps due to the moving ice. When the flag was placed Commander Peary exclaimed: "We plant the Stars and Stripes at the North Pole."

Continuing his story, Henson said: "The report is absolutely untrue that I did not go to the pole. I went the whole distance side by side with the commander and just as far as he did."

HARRIMAN EPIGRAMS

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Here are some of Harriman's caustic and kindly epigrams.

Of a prominent financier, from whom he wrested control of the Illinois Central, he said: "Oh, let him talk. I pay no attention to crap shooters."

"An automobile is the greatest doctor and drug clerk in the world. It gives one air, make him forget, exhilarates him. I wish they were cheaper so the man of the modern means could be provided with this way of getting well."

"I believe in fair dealing. No one in my life has ever convicted me of trickery."

"The people have the get-rich-quick bacillus. It's a fearful disease. It's the only menace to this country."

"Matrimony is not essentially a business proposition. But if I were a young man I should marry, and the quicker the better."

"Always be courteous and friendly and do the best you can."

"I truly believe that if wives were to take more interest in their husband's affairs we would have a happier world."

"What sensible man doesn't believe in God? Religion saves and advances civilization."

Mr Harriman was once asked to state what he regarded as the best thing a man could possibly do with his life. His reply was simple enough. "My idea is that a man should try to make his children better, give them larger opportunities than he himself possessed, and do what he can to make the next generation a little better off than his own."

THE RICHEST FIND OF SHINING SILVER

PORT ARTHUR, Sept 17—Silver ore, running $20,000 to the ton was brought into this city from the Silver Mountain district, fifty miles west.

The new discovery was made by a prospector named Burnacchi. In making the find of the vein, nearly five feet wide, he traced nearly a mile and then started a shaft. Mining men describe it as the richest ever taken from the district, large pieces of pure silver being found all through the samples. The ore is like that of Colbat, though containing more sulphur.

—Visitors of the Exhibition will have a chance to help in a small way one of our most worthy institutions. A tag will cost but ten cents. Buy one, tag day, and help the City Hospital. 9-18dl.
