...*SUDDEN DEATH.—The death of Mr. James McDonald, West St. Peter's, occurred very suddenly, on Friday evening, May 15th, at 8 o'clock Mr. McDonald had attained the advanced age of 90 years, and up to the time of his death, had been in comparatively good health, but, on Friday evening while sitting in his chair after partaking of his supper as usual as stricken with apoplexy and passed peacefully to his eternal rest some hours afterwards. He was highly respected in the community to which he belonged, and was a kind and dutiful husband and an affectionate father. The following sons and daughters are left to mourn:—James on the homestead, Rev. Peter, now in Montana, John J. residing in Blooming Point, Ida, teaching at West St. Peter'e, Lettie a nurse in Boston, Mrs. McDonald, Tracadie and Lillie at home.—S.

TO SEEK FOR MURDER OF EXPLORERS.

REGINA, Sask., May 19.—Inspector Beytes of the R. N. W. M. P. force here has been given a three years' commission to go to the northernmost part of Hudson Bay and find the murderers of Redford and Streek, two explorers who are believed to have been killed by eskimos two years ago.

Beytes will go to Chesterfield Inlet, the farthest north part of the Hudson Bay inhabited by white men, and from there take three years supply of provisions and travel thousands of miles through the interior. The trip will be one of the most dangerous and trying ever undertaken by an officer of the mounted police, involving investigations among savage eskimo tribes at whose hands he two lost explorers met death.

COIFFURE NOVELTIES FOR THE SPRING

Shell pins with hinged tops with gems that may be turned in different directions to suit the coiffure.

Simulated caps of strings of pearls with tiny chin straps of pearls to match, to wear in the evenings.

Narrow bandeaux of rhinestones that widen out into a barette in the back and which are matched by the high spans in combs set with rhinestones.

Caps formed of strings of jewels set wide apart with two straight feathers up the front, their quills outlined with gems.

Square-topped pins inlaid with gold matching gold-topped side combs and a high open-work back comb, with a filagree design in the gold.

Hair pins with filigree gold tops, shaped like a ball, the centre filled with compressed sachet balls.

Thin bands of gold ending in gold tassels to wear across the front of the hair, the tassels hanging back of the ears like timulated earrings.

ORNAMENTS FOR THE COIFFURE

Glass as a material for coiffure ornaments is steadily making its way into favor. Under a strong light spun glass aigrettes are most effective, especially when of white combined with emerald green, sapphire blue, ruby red or golden yellow.

Often with these aigrettes are mingled slender spirals of gold set with diamonds, pearls or other rare stones, and if a woman who needs a tiara cannot afford one in jewels she may obtain a good effect with glass.

Some of these glass tiaras show a design in flowers and leaves attached to a skeleton latticing in silver or gold. Rosebuds with their foliage are favorites, but so are white wild daisies andany of the smaller field blooms.

Clusters of oak or mistletoe leaves are used with good effect in glass tiaras, and, in fact, any sort of foliage. m

SKIPPING ROPE EXERCISE

To develop the figure and correct round shoulders well bathe to the waist in cold water every morning if you do not take a cold tub. Then with a skipping rope skip for five minutes in front of an open window before you put on your outer garments. Next stand straight up heels together and stretch your arms out in front of you as far as they will reach with the tips of the fingers together;then with mouth spread themslowly open until quite wide apart, then stretch them backward, trying to touch the backs of the hands. Draw in a deep breath through your nostrils all this time. Then slowly bring your arms back to their first position. exhaling the breath through the mouth. Repeat this twenty times morning and night.

HOT PAN HOLDERS

Most housekeepers rip the flour and hem it for a dishtowel, but a quarter-sack makes a very skimpy square of muslin. When my family became reduced to the quarter-sack size, I found a better use for the cloth, writes a contributor to Mothers Magazine. I ripped and pulled threads to make a perfect square; then I stitched the cloth into an oblong strip which made a holder for the large roasting pans. A convenient supply of these, boiled and ironed will save the dish towels from being used near the oven, and justify the expense of good crash for towels.

WHITE VELVET HAT

One of the leading milliners is showing a specialty of little hats composed of white velvet or white moire. These hats are dainty and becoming. They have as a rule, narrow brims and these brims are quite flat. The crowns are simple and in some cases domed exactly like the crown of a man's bowler hat

For trimming these hats have a jaunty mount in flamingo pink tipped with black or a similar mount in tete de negre held in place by an enamel clasp. Or again, a white moire shape will be trimmed simply with a glittering butterfly made of cut jet. ...@

COMPETITIONS IN FIELDS OF STANDING GRAIN

This time of year for those who plan to enter Competition in Fields of Standing Grain to make preparations. The Competition has now become so keen that anyone can hope to win one of the foremost places with careful preparation. Intending competitors should procure the very best quality of seed obtainable. It should be free from other varieties and other kinds of grain, and also from weed seeds; it should be as large and plump as possible and should be from a field that gave a good yield last year. Again, the variety should receive consideration. It is easy enough for anyone to find out the variety of oats that is best suited to his satisfaction but he should make a special effort to get seed of that variety. This is the time to look after the seed. Farmers are not as a rule busy now and if it is left until cropping begins and everyone will be too busy to give it the preparation that is required.

The announcement of the competition will be made in a few days.

FASHION NOTES.

The suit coats are very short and are growing shorter.

* * *

The new costumes strongly emphasized the Eton jacket.

* * *

All the new style tailored skirts are full at the upper part.

* * *

Colored blouses are destined to have a considerable vogue.

* * *

There is no prettier neckwear than the white lace inserted or embroidered, or perfectly plain hemstitched affairs made of white lawns, mulls and organdies.

* * *

Cross-stitch embroidery is used to decorate children's dresses.

* * *

Bands of ostrich plumage trim frocks, blouses and millinery.

* * *

Many of the neckpieces combine the collar and the chemisette.

* * *

The Russian influence is still felt in the realms of fashion.

* * *

The baby's coat should be kimono cut, with a ripple effect below.

* * *

Moire will be one of ehe popular silks for trimming the spring hat.

* * *

There will be an unparallaled vogue for fancy shoes this season.

* * *

Fasinating little dresses will be made of striped lawn and tub silks.

* * *

There is a rumor that there is to be a strong revival of the stiff silks.

* * *

Among the latest novelties are roses fashioned of small colored beads.

* * *

Foulards are again creeping into favor for smart little afternoon frocks

* * *

Bouffant draperies are growing more pronounced as the season advances

* * *

There are hats of striped straw, quaintly trimmed with wreaths of flowers

STARCHING MUSLIN COLLARS.

There is only one valid objection to the new muslin collars. They are fragile. Like maline, moisture reduces them to shapelessness. Wrinkles are as obvious on them as they are on linen shirtwaists.

Fortunately, laundering restores them to their original state of dainty loveliness if the laundering is of the right sort.

These collars depend for their shape on their stiffness. Sometimes they are stiff enough if they are ironed wet. But usually they need a little starch.

Here is a recipe for the right sort of starch to use for these collars of linen and organdy that are the earmark of the new fashions.

Add a piece of paraffin the size of an egg and a piece of white or castile soap the size of a hazelnut to a quart of boiling water. Mix the starch with cold water in a bowl using whatever proportion of starch to a quart of water that the particular brand of starch calls for to make a thin starch. Add the cold mixture to the boiling mixture and let it boil up two or three times. Then add a little blueing, in liquid form.

—BOAT LAUNCHED. M An event of unusual interest took place Saturday 16th inst., when Mr. Sylvain J. Gallant of Abram's Village, with the help of his neighbors had his new boat hauled to the shore. As had been anticipated, this new craft proves to be one of the finest specimens of good carpenter work, and expert knowledge in boat-building. A 15 horse-power gasoline engine has been installed in her, which goes to show that Mr. Gallant has now in his possession a small schooner, which as he was seen skimming along off Cape Egmont on his way to Summerside on Monday, amply justifies all to call her a "clipper,"—M.

POTATO DISEASES

There has been issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa a remarkably well executed folder, Farmers Circular No. 4. entitled "Potato diseases transmitted by the use of unsound tubers," showing in natural colors, representations of specimens of diseased potatoes. Diseases and other blemishes represented are potato canker, powdery scab, hollow potato, internal brown streak little potato disease, dry rot, common potato scab, and stem end rot. Special reference is made to potato canker and powdery scab, the latter of which occurs already in Canada and should be carefully avoided. The folder points out that, under the destructive Insect and Pest Act of Canada, any person using for seed potatoes infected by potato canker or powdery scab is liable to prosecution. Potato growers who suspect the presence of either of the latter diseases are requested to send specimens to the Dominion Botanist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. This folder, prepared by Mr. H. T. Gussow, Dominion Botanist, will be sent free to those who apply for it to the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa.
