LONDON BEGGAR'S TRICKS.

At Day's End His Diseases Vanished and He Retired to Live High.

A wealthy beggar was recently sentenced to three months hard labor in a London court as a rogue and vagabond.

For many months the prisoner has been a familiar figure in the neighborhood of Bishopsgate. With head hanging on one side, one foot dragging behind him, and his limbs shaking, he presented a pitiable spectacle. Very few people bought the matches he carried, but coins were dropped into his box by city merchants, clerks, and even poverty-stricken charwomen, and the police calculated that he collected £4 a week on the average. The paralysis, it was alleged, was assumed, and on his way home to his villa at Northwood the accused became "much better," running up the station steps two at a time. He lived in comparative comfort, and his wife only knew that he was "something in the city."

Mr. F. G. Brown, surgeon to the city police, said he thoroughly examined the accused. Smith told him that a few weeks before Christmas, 1901, he was thrown from a trap and injured at the back of the neck, setting up paralysis. Witness found the accused could grip fairly well with either hand, and the pupils of his eyes were quite normal. He knew of no instance of paralysis on record consistent with prisoner's symptoms.

The prisoner detailed incidents of his life in London, declaring that he had been a respected member of society. He had served in the Royal Artillery until returned medically unfit. He then spoke of his accident and sufferings. Coming to his stay at Hastings, he continued. And gentlemen, it is at this point that the chief trouble commences. I became associated with bad company, and was obliged to put money on horses. It was the first time I had made a bet in my life. I ventured small sums at first, and became elated with success, till I put on larger sums and lost. I gave various men my L. O. U.'s, but I became heavily involved, and being unable to pay these so-called friends who had led me on, they threatened me with exposure. I daresay some of them are in court now, laughing at my downfall. I began to think of my wife and little girl, and what this exposure would mean to them, and the thought crushed me, and I decided to do the things for which I am now brought here.

The prisoner begged the court to remember the time when he was a better man. "When I have served my sentence," he said, "whether long or short, every friend will have turned his back upon me, and every door will be closed—probably that also of my own home. With the help of a higher power I intend to start again with a clean sheet, and twelve months from the time I am a free man I will come back and prove to you that at any rate I have tried to do better."

He Ran First Locomotive.

William T. Hockett, one of the oldest locomotive engineers of the country, was interred at Kansas City, Mo., on Christmas Day. Mr. Hockett brought the first locomotive to Kansas City. Previous to his arrival in Kansas City he was a resident of Canada, being the first engineer to run a locomotive in Toronto. The Ontario, St. Lawrence and Huron Railroad was completed in 1851. Its stockholders and directors were mostly Englishmen and Canadians, and he ran the Landy Elgin the first locomotive built in Toronto.

The Fleck Master.

It is easier to prevent the diseases of sheep than to cure them, and it is easier to cure them in the first stages than after they are thoroughly established. The flockmaster should be alert and observing, ready for every emergency, quick of thought and prompt of action, making the stitch in time.—Wool Markets and Sheep.

LILIES OF HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

In a recent interview with Mrs. Lily Langtry, she very wisely said: "The fact that I believe in the superior force of mind over matter does not blind me to the truth that the foundation of every successful life is good health; that the key-stone to physical beauty is perfect physical health."

"A sick woman cannot be a beautiful woman, nor can she be anything but what we English call a poor-spirited woman. To a great extent a woman's beauty is measured by her vitality—by her health. 'Work, Sunshine, Exercise, Water and Soap, Plain, Nourishing Food, Lots of Fresh Air, and a Happy, Contented Spirit—these, as you say, 'honest and true' is my working rule for youth, youthful spirits and youthful looks."

One great secret of youth and beauty for the young woman or the mother is the proper understanding of her womanly system and well-being. Every woman, young or old, should know herself and her physical strength. A good way to arrive at this knowledge is to get a good doctor book, such for instance as "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which can readily be procured by sending thirty-one cents in one-cent stamps for paper-bound volume, or fifty cents for cloth-bound copy, and addressing Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails," writes Mrs. Dr. Nielsen, of 422 Langley Avenue, Chicago, Ill. "It is a certain cure for female troubles, diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration, intense pains and a dreadful backache, which unfitted me for my work. Finally I grew so ill had to keep to my bed. In this extremity I used 'Favorite Prescription' for three months and then I was well. Only those who have passed through such a stage of sickness as I have will understand how much a value Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for any case of Leucorrhoea, Female Weakness, Protrusion, or Falling of Womb which he cannot cure. All he asks is a fair and reasonable trial of his means of cure. No substitute for "Favorite Prescription" offers so much.

On your way to office or workshop would it not be a good plan to drop in at Gays' daily vegetable market and leave an order for something to help out your dinner. Most men like a good dinner, but it is generally the busy housewife that has to think it out, and choose for them.

It is well known, that the standard of health has been greatly improved in this modern age by the free use of vegetables, and we confess we are interested in keeping up the standard.

To aid you in selecting we mention a few. Lettuce, in celery, leeks, carrots, pumpkins, cabbage, onions, and white spinach, turnips, potatoes, ripe tomatoes, our own growth in 2 lb cans, (none tetter), peas, early June a very choice brand (very few as good), beans, corn, pure island honey. We have also a few very choice half size cheese, low by the cheese or half-ounce. Our special Saturday and Saturday night sales still continue. J. J.
