conference will undoubtedly depend upon development of the economic and monetary situation in America.

Silver Resolution

The resolution adopted by the silver group proposed:

"First, that an agreement be sought between the chief silver-producing countries and those countries which are the largest holders or users of silver, with a view to mitigating fluctuations in the price of silver, and that other nations not parties to such agreements should refrain from measures which could appreciably affect the silver market.

"Second, that the governments shall refrain from new legislative measures which would involve further debasement of their silver coinage below the fineness of 800-1000.

"Third, that they shall substitute silver coins for low-value paper currency insofar as the budgetary and local conditions of each country will permit.

"Fourth, that all provisions of this resolution are subject to the following exceptions:

"The requirements of such provisions shall lapse April 1, 1934, if the agreement recommended in paragraph one does not come into force by that date, and in no case shall extend beyond January 1, 1938.

Governments may take any action relative to their silver coinage they may deem necessary to prevent the flight or destruction of their silver coinage by reason of a rise in the bullion price of the silver content of their coin above nominal or parity value of such silver coin."

A monetary sub-committee discussing technical questions made another attempt to save something of its central bank cooperation resolution and it was understood a modified report was decided upon, with the American delegate making certain reservations.

The committee on indirect protectionism resolved that a special conference to draw up a treaty on this subject should be held "at an appropriate date."

A committee studying the marketing of dairy products urged interested countries to send to the League of Nations secretariat before September 10 their views upon the constitution of a proposed international dairy council.

"What it means," he said in explaining the resolution, "is this: All governments agree to cease the debasement or melting of silver coins, except India and Spain, and they agree to limit the amount they will sell. We will get back to where silver was before the World War."

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy MacNeill was the scene of a delightful social function on the evening of July 14th. When Miss Marion MacDonald was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower arranged by upwards of seventy-five of her immediate friends in New Perth and vicinity. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Master Fred Martin, the bride-to-be was escorted to the beautifully decorated living-room by Mr. C. H. MacNeill and when the guests were seated a heavily laden carriage was drawn into the room by little Alice Moar and Master Carl Kennedy, dressed as bride and groom. The numerous gifts of linen, china, cut-glass, etc., were opened by Bertha Mellish, and the humorous verses accompanying them were read by Eileen Grant. Miss MacDonald, in a few well-chosen words, thanked those present for their kindness and good wishes, also the Women's Institute for their splendid gift. After this part of the program was over, delicious refreshments were served by the ladies. Vocal and instrumental musical selections by Mrs. M. I. Corcoran, Mr. Daniel Baldwin, Mr. Roy MacNeill and Master Fred Martin, added greatly to the enjoyment of all. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, that pleasurable diversion so much enjoyed by young people.

NORBORO SCHOOL CLOSING

On Thursday afternoon, June 29th, the annual examination of Norboro School was held. The interest of the district in the school was well shown by the number of parents and visitors present.

The pupils were examined in the different subjects by their teacher, and by their ready answers, showed that they had been well instructed during the year.

The following programme was most enjoyed, especially the Red Cross numbers. Opening Chorus: Recitation, Ian Webster; Monologue, Dorothy Croken; Dialogue, "Punch as a Cook"; Recitation, Helen Murphy; Monologue, Elva Webster; Exercise, "The Defeat of King Disease"; Closing Chorus, "The Maple Leaf Forever."

This was followed by a short address by Miss Catherine MacLean, Supervisor of Junior Red Cross work, and the presentation by Mrs. Judge Duffy, of an honor certificate to Norboro School for having been organized six consecutive years.

Public School Certificates were presented to Dorothy Croken and Wanda Bowness.

An address was read and a presentation was made to the teacher. A suitable reply was made by the teacher, Miss Jennie Paynter.

Complimentary remarks were made by several of those present on the splendid work done by the teacher and pupils. A delicious treat of home made candy was then served by the teacher. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

"I've come from the employment bureau, ma'am," said the girl. "They said you wanted a servant." "But I do all the work myself," replied the lady of the house. "Then the place will just suit me."

Jones - Dignan Nuptials

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Trinity United Church yesterday afternoon, when Miss Christine Ruth Dignan, daughter of Mrs. Ethel B. Dignan, became the bride of Mr. Herbert Stephen Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jones, of Apohaqui, N. B.

Mr. Jones, otherwise known as "Junior" Jones, is one of the popular young army men of the Maritimes. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Ewen MacDougall, assisted by Rev. C. N. Brown.

As the bride, who was becomingly gowned in white silk organdy with the conventional bridal veil caught with orange blossoms and carrying a shower bouquet of lilies and sweet peas, entered the church on the arm of Dr. J. S. Jenkins, by whom she was given away, Prof. A. Roy Kendall, church organist, rendered Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

The bride was assisted by Miss Joan Winchester who was attractively gowned in blue silk net with large picture hat, and by Miss Jean Grant, who was prettily attired in pink silk net with large picture hat. Both bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink roses.

Mr. Walter Fowler ably supported the groom.

Potted plants and cut flowers with which the church was decorated, lent additional beauty to the scene. The front seats, reserved for guests, were decorated with garlands of flowers.

The ushers were: Messrs. Harold Spillet, Ralph Worthy, Robert Hogg and E. M. Phillips.

During the signing of the register Mrs. Arthur Roper pleasingly rendered "I Love Thee" (Greig).

The large number of invited guests included Mr. and Mrs. Herbert S. Jones, parents of the groom, and other members of the family.

The groom's gift to the bride was an exquisite silver tea service, to the groomsmen a tobacco pouch and cased pipes and to the bridesmaids necklaces and earrings to match.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the Canadian National Hotel. The bride was assisted in receiving by her mother, Mrs. Ethel B. Dignan, who wore an egg shell lace dress with hat and shoes to match, and Mrs. Herbert S. Jones, mother of the groom, who wore black georgette. A buffet lunch was served.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Jones left by motor for Chicago, where they will visit the World Exposition. The bride's travelling costume was an egg shell swag suit with brown felt hat, shoes and purse to match.

The large number of exquisite wedding gifts testified to the popularity of the young couple.

SURFACE MARBLE-LIKE

PITTSBURGH, July 19. — Preparing for an era of all-metal homes, the Mellon Institute announces a new marble-surfaced steel.

The stone effect is imitation, made by a laminated resin surface, woven inseparably with the metal. Any other finish made with the new laminated resins can be added. In this manner steel can be either paper-coated or cloth-covered. It can be made to imitate wood.

The adhesive is an alloy such as tin or zinc, which fuses with both the steel and the covering. Laminated resin is made by superimposing layers of resin-impregnated fabric or paper and combining them under heat and pressure into a dense resin board. The announcement states that by the new method steel can be substituted for most of the layers of fabric or paper now required.

Scout News and Notices

SCOUT CAMP

The Boy Scout camp held at Three Rivers, historic site of De Roma's French settlement, breaks up tomorrow when the Cubs will go under canvas for a few days.

The camp is beautifully situated on a high bluff, surrounded on three sides by water, overlooking the towns of Georgetown and Lower Montague. Over fifty scouts and leaders from Charlottetown, Summerside and Montague besides periodic visitors have made the 1933 camp one of the largest and most successful to date.

Besides engaging in the routine work of passing badges etc., a great deal of time was devoted to the exploration of the famous grounds. What is believed to have been the site of the French chapel and graveyard was discovered.

A baseball game played between the camp and a Georgetown team was won by the latter.

In the evening entertainments were held for Scouts and visitors round the "camp fire" when programs of songs, talks and jokes were given.

DONATES KIT

Members of the camp are indebted to Mr. H. G. Rogers who kindly donated a first aid kit for emergency use, which fortunately was not required.

FEATHERS ARE PROMINENT IN LATE SUMMER STYLES

PARIS, July 19.—Feathers have come into new prominence in late summer styles.

Feather headresses and capes appear with the jeweled evening mode, feather boas are worn with afternoon costumes and feather trimmed hats appear in both Summer and early Fall styles. Ostrich, egrettes, birds of paradise and coque are all seen in the array.

The ostrich capes and boas worn with formal evening and afternoon frocks come in every color of the rainbow. One striking model shades from mauve to brilliant red and lies in front with a red velvet bow, while another is sapphire blue tipped in white. Capes or boas of Nile green, turquoise blue, rose pink, mauve and yellow are also seen.

Napoleon's Love Letters on Sale

LONDON, July 19.—Early love letters of Napoleon to Josephine are included in the Napoleonic Library, formed by the late Earl of Rosebery, which is to be sold at Sotheby's at the end of July. The letters are said to have been taken by a servant from a drawer after Josephine's death.

One extract is as follows: "Sweet and incomparable Josephine, what an extraordinary effect you make upon my heart! Are you angry? Do I see you sad? Are you troubled? My soul is broken to pieces with sorrow, and there is no rest for your sweetheart. . . ."

"Ah, this night I see perfectly that your portrait is not you. 'Thou leavest at midday, and in three hours I shall see thee. Meanwhile, 'mio dolo amore' (my sweet love) accept a million kisses. But do not give me any, for they burn my blood."

In another letter, dated April 3, 1796, from Port Maurice, Napoleon wrote: "My only Josephine, far from thee there is no gaiety; far from thee the world is a desert where I remain alone, and sadness overwhelms me. Thou hast taken from me more than my soul. Thou art the only thought of my life."

"The idea that my Josephine . . . might be ill, and above all the cruel, and melancholy thought that she might love me less, withers my soul, stops the circulation of my blood, makes me sorrowful, casts me down, and leaves me not even the courage of fury and despair."

"Tact means the instinctive perception of the feelings of others, and kind consideration for them." —Emily Post

Antigonish Highland Games

ANTIGONISH, N. S., July 19. — (OP) —Track and field athletes of the Halifax Wanderers A. C. amassed 28 points today to win the annual athletic meet of the Antigonish Highland Society.

Alvin Thompson, youthful star of the Pickou A. C., led the individual point makers with a score of 16, bringing his team single-handed into fourth place. Antigonish was second with 22 points, and Mulgrave third with 18.

Roy Oliver, of New Glasgow, won the five mile race, leading his Indian rival, Noel Paul, of Springhill, to the tape by a scant margin.

SCENIC BEAUTY

on the entire railway. Many other beautiful points were shown in the same area; thence the audience went to Lake Louise, more than 5,000 feet above sea level. After some fine views of the mountains were seen, the descent was made by spiral tunnels, the construction of which has enabled one locomotive to pull as large a load as two could formerly. A little further on is Emerald Lake, a magnificent view of a lovely spot, and later were shown several pictures of the scenery in the Selkirk.

The lecturer explained that the Selkirk were a much older range than the Rockies, and for this reason the summits worn off by weathering were rounded and largely covered with trees. Next came the part of the journey where C. N. R. and C. P. R. run side by side, the black canon of Thompson River, the tremendous flood pouring through Hell Gate and finally Vancouver.

Then the audience was shown a few points on the Canadian National line, and finally was taken on a journey toward Alaska. Very interesting scenes of Indian life were shown, as they may be seen by the traveller on his way to the north. After a visit to the wooded scenery of Southern Alaska, Glacier Bay, one of the most remarkable nests of glaciers in the world, was visited.

Large rivers of ice flowing from the rock down toward the sea were seen. One of the most remarkable slides showed the huge torrent of water which flows from the heart of the glacier. Others show the rock terraces cut in the rock by the Mirror Glacier before it receded to its present position. With a beautiful picture of Alaskan sunrise the lecture came to an end.

SOO BERRY PICKERS ROUTED BY BEARS

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont., July 19.—From several areas in this district today came reports that bears were infesting berry fields and in some cases had chased pickers from them. The bears seem satisfied to enjoy human company among the berries if not crowded too closely, and generally leave when people approach. In other cases, however, they seem disposed to dispute possession of the luscious crop, which is unusually heavy this year.

NOVEL ABOUT CANADA BASED ON TIME-TABLE

LONDON, July 19.—Miss Bradda Field, who won the Felina Vie Heuresse Prize this year with her novel, "Small Town," declares that she is not, as she has been described, a "Canadian novelist." She was born in Canada, but her friends regard her as a native of Manchester.

At the presentation of the prize at the Institute Francis S. Kensington, the other day she said that her book was written in order to confute the theory of a novelist that "no one could write about Canada who had not stayed there for 20 years."

Her sources of information, she said, had been some railway time-tables, a road map of Ontario, a descriptive guide to Montreal and a list of candy shops printed on the top of a chocolate box.

M. Andre Chamson received the Northcliffe Prize for his novel "Heritage," and Mr. J. L. Garvin, who made the presentations, drew attention to the extraordinary similarity between the two novels, both of which, he said might well have been called "Small Town."

WOMEN ALWAYS WORKED PHILADELPHIA, July 19.

(AP) — Denying that more women are wage earners today than a score of years ago, the Philadelphia advisory council of the state employment service explains "it merely seems that more women are working because they are employed in places where they are more conspicuous." The proportion of females gainfully employed in 1910 was 28.2, the council has found. In 1930 it was only 26.4 per cent. Thirty years ago the percentage was 26.
