THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

MONDAY MORNING OCTOBER 22, 1906.

THE BANKS AND THE PEOPLE.

Our Canadian banking system is deservedly held in high esteem at home and abroad. It meets the commercial needs of the country, and gives as good security to depositors and note holders as can be found anywhere in the world.

Few banks fail but if we suppose such an improbable contingency to occur again anywhere in Canada, every man who held a note of the suspended or broken institution would be paid in full. It would be an extremely rare case if depositors were not also paid in full. The shareholders might suffer, as the law imposes upon them a liability equal to double the amount of their shares.

Canada is deservedly proud of her great banking institutions and the able and reliable men who manage them, and the general confidence of the people in the banks is steady and high. This confidence is based upon experience and upon the safeguards which the system affords, together with the character of the men who are in control. But two recent occurrences have shown that while the general standard of character is high, there have been some exceptions in the case of men who have proved themselves untrustworthy.

We refer to the case of a bank in Yarmouth, and the more recent case of the Ontario Bank. In the former case a senator of Canada was convicted of making false returns, and not only forfeited his position at the head of the bank, but his seat in the Senate as well. In the Ontario Bank case the manager admitted a serious wrong-doing and both he and the president are held under charge of falsifying the returns made to the Government. It is the old story of men, apparently honest under ordinary conditions but found wanting in time of great temptation or under extraordinary pressure.

Such cases are rare and exceptional, but they point out the necessity of closer and more careful official inspection than has hitherto prevailed. Should such occurrences as those in Yarmouth and Toronto be repeated, public confidence would be weakened. We have no fears of an early recurrence. There are doubtless greater dangers to the public in other financial institutions than in banks, because in trust and loan companies the same safeguards do not exist, nor is so high a standard of character and ability enforced. At the same time it is most regrettable that in these prosperous times when the profits of legitimate banking have been large, the speculations of prominent bank officials have caused so much trouble and loss.

The death is announced of Mrs. Jefferson Davis, wife of the President of the southern confederacy of nearly half a century ago. She survived her husband a number of years. Mrs. Davis was sometimes spoken of as "the Widow of the Confederacy." She was a lady of strong character and many accomplishments.

We greatly regret to learn of the serious illness, from blood-poisoning of Hon. George Simpson of Bayview. Mr. Simpson is one of the most earnest and active of our public men, and has a wide circle of friends who will join with The Guardian in sincere wishes for his early and complete recovery.

The new winter steamer Lady Grey has arrived at Halifax and will proceed to Quebec where an Ottawa despatch says she will be employed in preventing the ice bridge from forming. We venture still to hope that the Montreal will be sent to assist the winter service here, according to promise. We formerly thought we were to have a new and much stronger steamer.

Boston Herald—The advocate of abstinence is able to say to youth: "If you drink intoxicating liquors, you won't get on in the world. You won't hold positions, and your former employer won't recommend you." Times have changed. Competition is too swift for men to miss days. Alongside the temporarily vacant stool is somebody else ready to jump into it. And the new man doesn't drink. Enterprisers are too big to be risked by lenient toward prodigal favorites or family black sheep. Every man has got to pull his own weight or get out of the shafts.

IT CREEPS LIKE A SERPENT.

Steals through the system like a thief in the night. That's how catarrh acts. Don't trade with such a scourge. Don't experiment with a doubtful treatment. Time and experience prove that Catarrhazone does cure, that it gives quick relief and so thoroughly destroys the disease, that it dies forever.

There are several causes for congratulation in the settlement reached by the provincial Premiers with the government at Ottawa. In the first place an increase of the subsidies is a matter of simple justice and one which the Canadian Government with its full treasury can well afford to carry out. In the second place several of the Provinces, and notably our own, greatly needed the additional allowance in order to maintain decent provincial housekeeping. For ourselves we have but little regret on account of the surrender of the tax on commercial travellers. And we stand to have an experimental fun station established in our Province, which we regard as a most desirable thing. It is also worth something to feel that the united voice of all the Provinces can at any time command the earnest attention of the central government in even so vital a matter as that presented at the Conference.

GAMBLING IN NEW YORK CITY

New YORK, October 20.—Dr. Charles R. Parkhurst, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, today made public a letter addressed to Mayor McClellan by the Society for the Prevention of Crimes. Dr. Parkhurst is President of the society. The communication takes the mayor to task for the alleged existence in New York of gambling and disorderly houses. The society says that its agents here pent four months investigating the situation and mentions precincts in which it claims more than 100 objectionable places are to be found. The letter severely arraigns Commissioner Bingham.
