SMILE A LITTLE BIT.

By Major Tom Plant. Don't go about a-moaning and a-groaning all the day.

You say there's not much joy your way; well make a little bit; Just pull yourself together, your pining habits quit.

There's lots of folks worse off than you, and yet they sail along. Just because, instead of grumbling they cheer life with a song.

God never meant that you should live a life that's always sad. He filled the world with music, just to make his people glad.

I know it's so because I've learned to live this gospel out; I need to be a "moaner," but I've just turned right about.

And then you'll find, as others find that life is grand and sweet. For God has made provision our every need to meet.

For an hour the teacher had dwelt with painful repetition on the parts played by carbohydrates, proteins and fats respectively in the building up and maintaining of the human body.

At the end of the lesson the usual test questions were put up, among them, "Can any girl tell me the three foods required to keep the body in health?"

There was silence until one maiden held up her hand and replied: "Yes, teacher. Yer breakfast, yer dinner and yer supper."

In London Evri Beatty ran into a truck load of beer. We seldom run into that much over here.

THE CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN

WEDNESDAY, JULY 19, 1922. Morning Daily (founded 1867) $4.00 per year (delivered) in advance. $1.00 per year (mailed) in advance in Canada and $4.50 to U. S. A.

GOOD TIME TO TELL IT

Now that our province is full of visitors and that they have no means of self defence it might not be inopportune to publish for their information some hard facts about ourselves and how we manage to live.

To begin with we have a million acre farm to be approximately correct, $1,300,000. Of this farm eighty per cent is cultivable, the fifteen per cent consisting of swamp and blueberry barren.

Our agricultural production for 1921 was $21,491,000. The value of animals on fur farms in the whole Dominion is placed at $5,824,000.

Our agricultural wealth amounts to about $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the province; our live stock $100, and our land and buildings about $600.

These are some of our material possessions. In addition to this we have the best climate, summer and winter, in North America.

We have schoolhouses and churches within easy reach of every family in the province. We have markets within a few miles of every farm in the province and a good road leading to every market.

Our population is made up of the four best nationalities in the world: Scotch, Irish, English and French. We have no foreigners and all our people are either immigrants from the Old Country or descendants of Old Country stock.

We have a prohibition law which absolutely prohibits the use of intoxicants except for medicinal purposes, but it is sufficiently elastic to accommodate extreme necessities.

We have about 2,000 automobile bibles; we have stores and markets all over the province and those in our principal centres are second to none in the metropolitan centres in Canada and the United States.

Much more might be said, but this is sufficient to convince our most skeptical visitors that all the good things said about the "Garden of the Gulf," the "Denmark of Canada," the "Million Acre Farm," are true and that we have the documents to prove it. We do not boast as some of our neighbors do but there are times when it is both necessary and expedient to tell the truth about ourselves.

LOOKING TO WASHINGTON. Premier King has been in Washington. The Honourable Mr. Fielding has been in Washington and is home again in Ottawa.

The two shillings and nine pence of those days represented a present value of 55 cents. Comparatively few letters were prepaid in those days, for the obvious reason that mail carriage was uncertain.

We recall these facts from reading in an exchange something about the present condition of letter postage in Bolshevistic Russia. In the last days of the Czar an ordinary letter could be sent from Russia to any part of North America for 10 kopeks, or the equivalent of 5 cents in our currency.

The Russian rouble, formerly valued at 50 cents Canadian, is now almost worthless under the despotism of Lenin. The point of the story is that it now requires about a square foot of postage stamps of the nominal value of 2,000 roubles each to pay the postage on a half ounce letter from Russia to America.

Notes By The Way

The time is easily within the memory of living persons when it cost six shillings and nine pence Canadian currency to bring a half-ounce letter from Toronto to an inland village in the Maritime Provinces, and a full three weeks elapsed from the date of mailing to the time when it was received.

That was before the days of dollars and cents in Canada. Our present decimal currency is only about sixty years old, having been adopted in different provinces at different dates in the sixties of last century.

There have been rumors, press agent rumors, that one of the subjects to be discussed was a revival of the 1911 reciprocity pact and coincident with the rumor came fearful regrets, that the people of Canada had been so short sighted as to turn down the pact.

The Russian rouble, formerly valued at 50 cents Canadian, is now almost worthless under the despotism of Lenin. The point of the story is that it now requires about a square foot of postage stamps of the nominal value of 2,000 roubles each to pay the postage on a half ounce letter from Russia to America.

All of which leads up to the conclusion that in the Prairie provinces of Canada we have already too large a proportion of non-British race stock. In Saskatchewan, we are told the foreign-born population exceeds the British born, and this is a source of danger.

The large French-Canadian population in Quebec and the Eastern Provinces of Canada is of an altogether different type from the peoples above referred to. They are among the most sober, industrious, thrifty and peaceful of our Canadian people.

The last named fact is especially true of French speaking rural communities. English and French speaking Canadians living peacefully side by side as they do, are in this way a mutual source of strength to the Dominion, and each of these races may learn and gain much from their contact.

The golfers, visiting and native, are having the time of their lives on the Charlottetown links. They were agreeably surprised to find that the holes were not four feet in diameter after all.

The Public Forum

This column is open for the discussion by correspondents of questions of interest. The Charlottetown Guardian does not necessarily endorse the opinions expressed by its correspondents.

Letter from P. W. Koughan. Sir—I noticed a letter in the Guardian some days ago over the signature of John T. Curran in reference to my work as Road Inspector for Road Division Number Six, in which I am charged with getting a cheque for James Sanphy for political purposes.

Letter from Rev. H. G. Mellick. Sir—Will you give me space for a few words to our many friends who read your widely circulated paper? After leaving North Bay, we spent a week at O'Leary and surrounding districts. We received a warm welcome from a host of friends. We had pastored there at two different times and enjoyed seeing those kind people again.

Others' View Points. (Boston Transcript.) A young country minister, noted for his jollity, was dining at a farmhouse one Sunday, and when his plate of roast chicken was passed to him he remarked facetiously: "Well, here's where that chicken enters the ministry."

How Many People Worry About

"The Things They Might Have Done--But DIDN'T?"

The old saw said: "It is never too late to mend," but another old saying, much more truthful, said: "You cannot grind with the water that is past."

And the really wise man said: "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today."

There are hundreds of people in this community who are going to tell their friends next Fall how lucky they were to secure certain things while prices were so low. And hundreds of other people—far from being lucky—are going to say next Fall: "I wish I had known that prices of cotton and wool things were really going higher, I certainly would have bought what I needed in the Fire Clearance Sale at

But that's the way the world goes—some people are lucky and others put it off. And tomorrow starts the LAST TWO WEEKS FOR LUCKY CLEARANCE PRICES. And here follows some of the wonderful news:
