Canzoneri Loses Savage Battle To Defending Champ

Desperate Bid Of Former Title-Holder Fails As Referee Casts Deciding Vote In Favor Of Ross.

(By Edward J. Neill Associated Press Sports Writer.)
POLO GROUNDS, New York, Sept. 12.—Barney Ross, fighting with the fire of a zealot, saved his lightweight title from returning to desperate little Tony Canzoneri tonight in a 15-round battle that surpassed in savagery anything the lightweight division has seen here since the historic duel of Benny Leonard and Lew Tendler years and years ago.

For six rounds, with scarcely a moment for a long breath, two of the fastest hitters among all the little fellows fought each other to a frazzle in a struggle so close, so shifting in its roaring tide, that in the end only the split decision of Referee Arthur Donovan and the two judges retained the crown for the burning-eyed ascetic faced Jewish boy from Chicago's ghetto.

Thus Ross saved his title as he won it from Canzoneri in 10 rounds in Chicago in June, by the narrowest possible margin, as a crowd of 40,000 thronged about the ring and howled in protest.

Round after round they ripped at each other, first one then the other weakening, then coming back, then fading off again under a punching storm that never gave the huge crowd a quiet moment. But toward the end it was the stamina that oozed from every muscle of the 32-year-old champion, that lifted him onto the closing rally that saved him the day.

Judge Arthur Kelly voted when it was all over for Canzoneri by a margin of eight rounds to seven, while Judge Harold Barnes gave the defending champion a decisive edge with nine rounds won, two lost and four even.

Deciding Decision
It was up to Referee Donovan to decide then, and he cast his vote for Ross, giving him eight rounds, Canzoneri four, with three even.

Donovan took the sixth, eighth and ninth rounds from Canzoneri because of low blows, thereby accounting exactly for the margin by which Ross was declared the winner. Rarely has New York ever seen a battle so close, so fierce, so interesting.

For six rounds the brilliant little Canzoneri, at 25 a former champion of both the Featherweights and the Lightweights, swarmed over the titleholder, dazzling him at times with his footwork, his feinting, his right hand punching that at times shook Ross's head so badly it seemed to be he had to go down.

Had Early Rounds
Tony had all the edge along the early way, gaining whatever margin there was in the first, winning the second, fourth and sixth and holding a savage, desperate young champion even in the third and fifth.

But the fire that burned in the veteran of eight years of hard warfare started to flicker spasmodically from the seventh round on. Ross won that one by his thundering body punching, though Tony drew blood from the Champion's nose with one barrage to the face. Then from the eighth through the 10th, they tore at each other like bulldogs, never backing, never lessening the hurricane of punches it seemed impossible either could live through. It was an even, relentless battle. Ross seemed to have what little edge there was on the seventh and eighth, Canzoneri the margin in the ninth, and 10th with the 11th even.

Edge Up To 10th
The fight ended at the 10th, as it did in Chicago in June when the title first changed to Ross's hands, there seemed little question but that Canzoneri, toast of the little fellows for the past half dozen years, would have been the first title holder in lightweight history to regain his crown. But it seemed as though the desperate little Chicago warrior was just beginning.

Despite the terrific punishment he had taken, Ross pulled on his reserve. His body punching, so accurate and deadly the blows sounded all over the ball park, wore Canzoneri down steadily. Ross swept through 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th rounds, and the title was his to keep after tottering in as bitter an attack as any challenger ever unleashed.

BEARS WIN OPENING TILT

(Associated Press)
NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 12.—The league leading Newark Bears came from behind today to clip Rochester Red Wings 6-3 in the first game of the International League pennant playoff. Knocking the count at 3-all with a two-run rally in the seventh, the Bears clinched the game with a three-run sortie in the eighth, featured by George Puccinelli's homer.

FAVORITES WIN WAY INTO SECOND ROUND

Brilliant Golf Witnessed in Opening Round For Women's Golf Title.

(Canadian Press)
PINE RIDGE GOLF COURSE, Winnipeg, Sept. 12.—After 16 names had been whittled from contention in first round of the Canadian women's open golf championship here today, most of the pre-tourney favorites emerged unscathed with four champions in their own right among the survivors.

Margery Kirkham, Montreal, defending champion; Ada MacKenzie, Toronto, Canadian close titlist; Mrs. R. K. Bearst, holder of the Manitoba and Winnipeg City crowns, and Isobel Pepall, Toronto, first ranking junior golfer of Ontario, advanced to the second round by victories under indifferent weather conditions.

Brilliant Golf
After winning the qualifying medal yesterday with a card of 83, Miss MacKenzie played brilliantly today to score seven pars for the 18 holes she toured in defeating Mrs. S. M. Connolly, Winnipeg, 9 and 7. She lost only one hole, the first.

Miss Kirkham also scored an easy triumph on downing Mrs. Newton Wallis, Winnipeg, 6 and 5. The defender ran afoul of the tricky placed traps in the first nine and was held in check for five holes before she could gain the mastery over her hard-fighting adversary.

College Youths Set Pace In U.S. Golf Title Hunt

Record Smashing Golf Features Fight For Qualifying Medal In Yesterday's Play.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)
KENWOOD COUNTRY CLUB, Cincinnati, O., Sept. 12.—Two youthful collegians waged a record smashing fight today for the qualifying medal of the United States amateur golf championship with Johnny Fischer of Cincinnati and the University of Michigan, triumphant by a single stroke over Pat Sawyer of Minneapolis and the University of Minnesota.

Fischer captured the low scoring honors for the second consecutive year with the new record figures of 72-69-141, in one of the wildest and most exciting finishes in the 37-year history of the national tournament.

Strong Defence
Sandy Somerville, the London, Ont., ironmaster, finished but two strokes behind the medalist and gave undeniable proof that his game is tuned for a strong defence of the title he won last year.

Jack Nash, also of London, failed to qualify with rounds of 80-78, but Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto, squeezed into a 12-way tie for the final eight places in the field of 32 which will start match play Wednesday. Young Nicol fired 77-73. The playoff will be early tomorrow morning.

That game—where was it to be played? "In Halifax," said the Parks officials. "On neutral ground," said the Gateway representatives, just as emphatically. And so another apparent impasse was reached.

With both teams standing pat on their attitude, it appeared the only solution lay in appealing to the Nova Scotia Baseball Association for a ruling. Telegrams were despatched to officers of the N.S.B.A. and tonight club officials were awaiting word as to when and where the teams take the field again to continue one of the most bitterly-fought semi-final series in Nova Scotia's baseball history.

St. Stephen Kiwanis Overwhelm St. John Nine 10-3

ST. STEPHEN, N.B., Sept. 12.—(C.P.)—Seeking a third consecutive Maritime Senior Amateur Baseball Title, St. Stephen Kiwanis took a grip on the New Brunswick Championship here this afternoon when they overwhelmed St. Peter's, Saint John, 10 to 3, in the opening of a best three out of five games.

Kiwanis outclassed their rivals at most stages, pounding the southpaw offerings of Cecil Brownell, bespectacled mound ace of the Saint John aggregation, for a home run, two doubles and 12 singles—a total of 15 hits. Wholesale collapse of the losers' outfield defence played an important part in the local victory.

HURLS BRILLIANTLY
The giant of the St. Stephen pitching staff, "Mike" Calder, hurled brilliantly, and confined the Saint John Club to eight hits seven of which were collected by Murray Fitzgerald and "Taw" Burgess. McLain, St. Stephen catcher, and Lellison, local, veteran first sacker, led the hitting fusillade, each with three singles. The champions were held at bay for three innings, while St. Peter's were obtaining a single score in the second. The score was tied in the fourth, and Kiwanis romped through the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth, with two, one, one, five and one run respectively, to assure themselves of victory. A belated rally netted Saint John two runs in the ninth, as Kiwanis registered their only two errors of the game. They play again here tomorrow.

Hyperion Is Favorite For St. Leger Stakes

Fourteen Horses Go To Post Today For Running Of Oldest Classic Of English Turf.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(C. P. Cable)—Fourteen horses will go to the post tomorrow in the St. Leger at Doncaster with Lord Derby's Hyperion firm favorite to win the historic classic. The young colt in the final call-over of odds today was quoted at 6 to 4 against.

Five horses were scratched today. They were Highlander, Belfry, Dona Sol, Earlston and Typhonic. The St. Leger Stakes, the fifth of the English turf's five classic races for three year olds will be run over the mile, six furlongs and 132 yards. The race dates back to 1776 and is the oldest of the great races. It is three years older than the Oaks and four years older than the Derby itself.

Probable Starters
Harinero, Ray, W. Barnett; Young Lover, Perryman, Sir A. Butt; Interlace, Smith E. Esmond; Felicitation, Beary Aga Khan; Scarlet Tiger, Curdale, Lord Durham; Hyperion, Weston, Lord Derby; Light Sussex, Bullock, Maj. C. Behrens; Manitoba, Sherry.

Lord Woolavington; King Salmon, Fox, Lord Carnarvon; Fox Bridge, Childs, Lt. Col. G. Loder; Thor, Elliott, Marcel Boussac; Solitaire, Lowry, Miss J. B. Courtauld; Sans Peine, Jones, E. Esmond; Raymond, G. Richards, Sir J. Rutherford.

The Betting
Hyperion has gained daily in public favor and in the final call-over the odds were shortened to 6-4 against. A week ago the Derby winner was at 5-2. Marcel Boussac's Thor, the dangerous French colt, was at 9 to 1 with Raymond and King Salmon third choices at 100 to 1. Lord Durham's Scarlet Tiger, who a few days ago was second choice, today was at 100 to 1.

Other odds were 15 to 1 against Harinero, 20 to 1 against Sans Peine, 22 to 1 against Felicitation, 25 to 1 against Solitaire, 28 to 1 against Light Sussex, 33 to 1 against Young Lover, 40 to 1 against Interlace and Fox Bridge and 50 to 1 against Manitoba.

Denies Report

(Canadian Press)
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—President Charles Stoneham of the New York Giants indignantly denied today a report that he had sold his controlling interest in the National League Baseball Club to A. C. Blumenthal, real estate and theatrical promoter. "The Giants are not for sale," he added.

PARKS AND GATEWAYS AT LOGGERHEADS

(Canadian Press)
HALIFAX, Sept. 12.—Contenders for a berth in the provincial baseball finals, Halifax Willow Parks and Yarmouth Gateways today declared an armistice in the battle around that much-disputed semi-final game—only to clash immediately on another front.

Parks agreed that the game they won two weeks ago, and then lost yesterday on replay, should stand. They withdrew their protest of the replay and agreed the series should remain at two-all, with one deciding game to be played. But then agreement ceased and controversy began anew.

That game—where was it to be played? "In Halifax," said the Parks officials. "On neutral ground," said the Gateway representatives, just as emphatically. And so another apparent impasse was reached.

With both teams standing pat on their attitude, it appeared the only solution lay in appealing to the Nova Scotia Baseball Association for a ruling. Telegrams were despatched to officers of the N.S.B.A. and tonight club officials were awaiting word as to when and where the teams take the field again to continue one of the most bitterly-fought semi-final series in Nova Scotia's baseball history.

SOMERVILLE IN MATCH PLAY ROUNDS

(C.P.)
Sandy Somerville came marching home today, through the hills and dales of Kenwood, with a well-played 76 and safe passage into the match play rounds of the United States Amateur Golf Championship that he holds.

His two over par score, along with the pace setting 70 he fired in Monday's opening play, gave the London, Ont., ironmaster a 145 that would have been a bid for medalist honors in an ordinary tournament. But Kenwood's course wasn't seeing any ordinary tournament.

Long John Fischer came through today with a 69 to par with his first round 72 and the resultant 141 set an all time low mark for Medalist Honor in National play.

Origin of Life Is Big Problem For Scientists

LEICESTER, England, Sept. 12.—(C. P. Cable)—Whether life just started by itself from inanimate matter, or was put on the face of the earth in some primitive form aeons ago constitutes the greatest problem—and the greatest argument—in the world of science.

Delivering the presidential address to the zoology section of the British Association for the Advancement of Science today, Dr. J. Gray gave scant sympathy to the school of thought that holds all forms of life originated from the earth itself.

"The spontaneous origin of living from inanimate matter," he declared at the conclusion of a careful examination of the arguments, "must be regarded as a highly improbable event, and as such can be assumed not to have occurred."

"Similarly, the development of an organism from so-called non-fermented protoplasm involves processes which are entirely without parallel in inanimate nature. So long as this state of our knowledge persists it is dangerous to assume that the statistical laws of physics can satisfactorily describe all biological events.

"Our knowledge of the physical and biological properties of living matter suggests that the fundamental unit of structure is extremely small and that it contains potentialities for change which are unique in the universe."

Professor Gray was painstaking in his review of the other side of the argument but he stressed that biology must be the mistress and not the servant of physics or chemistry and mildly rebuked the more elemental science when he declared biology must build on its own foundations, "not prepared to force the wine of life into bottles designed for use in the simpler and less intoxicating fields of chemical science."

So far as the assertion that life must at some time, in the dim beginnings of the earth, have sprung from inanimate matter is concerned, Dr. Gray summed up that it was entirely improbable "and why should biology accept a standard of probabilities incomparably less satisfying than that of other branches of knowledge?"

"The organization of the simplest living organism is clearly more complex than that of a stone or of a motor car," he said. "What, in fact, is the probability that any chance distribution of molecules should lead spontaneously to the dynamically active mechanism of the living organism? Would any serious credence be given to the suggestion that a motor car or even a footprint on the sands came spontaneously into existence without the intervention of directive forces? Why, then, should we accept the spontaneous origin of living matter? It is possible, but it is so improbable that, if considered as an observable phenomenon, in any other sphere of human thought it would be discarded as a filament of a deranged brain."

"Left to himself, the chemist does not seriously consider the spontaneous origin of proteins from CO<sub>2</sub>, water, and simple salts, nor does the physicist admit the spontaneous origin of organized machines. Biology itself provides not one shred of observational evidence to support the spontaneous origin of living matter in the world today, and yet not a few biologists are prepared to postulate the spontaneous origin of intermediate stages between the living and the inanimate, but if such conditions promoted the living organism, is it not spontaneous origins of these stages, strange that every attempt to represent physical events which produce them in the laboratory are so improbable that we cannot have completely failed?"

German Banking Changes Forseen

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—Important modifications of the German banking system, pointing toward state control in one form or another, were foreshadowed today by Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank.

Presiding at a meeting of a committee investigating banking methods, Dr. Schacht said one of the main questions would be whether the whole loan and credit system should be withdrawn from private hands and placed under state control.

Private banking could not be wholly eliminated, he continued, but a sharp dividing line, would be drawn between the functions of the private and the state system.

Voicing Chancellor Hitler's personal views, Wilhelm Kepler, Nazi Government expert, said the Chancellor aimed at decentralization, the elimination of unwieldy concerns and the creation of institutions for which one man could take responsibility.

Banks should operate under state authority for the common benefit, and not for private benefit, Herr Kepler declared.

Karl Friedrich, director of the Reichsbank, announced that experts would submit proposals next month and the whole plan would be worked out by the end of the year. The committee met at the Reichsbank.

CORN OYSTER

One recipe of serving corn that is easy to follow and is sure to prove a favourite whenever it is served, says the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is called Corn Oyster and is made in this way:—

Prepare a cup of corn by sifting the kernels with a sharp knife and scraping out the inner pulp with the back of the knife. To the pulp add one well beaten egg, 1-4 cup of flour, 1-2 teaspoon of salt and the same amount of baking powder, with a dash of pepper. Mix well and drop by spoonfuls onto a well greased pan. When brown on one side, turn and brown on the other. Serve piping hot.

HUSBAND IS MORE THAN MEAL TICKET

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 11.—Upholding the recommendation of a master that a divorce be granted Charles A. Upperman, 58, Judge Frank Smith said: "There are many aggravating things in life, but there is nothing so aggravating as a nagging, suspicious, tantalizing spouse. In these days when a struggle for existence is so severe, a married woman should realize that a husband means something more than a meal ticket."

Only five years ago were a quarter-million slaves held by natives, declared free in Sierra Leone, on the west coast of Africa.

describe them in terms of 'law' which only apply to events of an entirely different order of probability; if these intermediate stages actually occurred they must be classified as miracles, not as 'natural events.'

"We may be told that in past ages, events which are now very improbable were in fact of quite frequent occurrence. As scientists we cannot accept this statement without some assurance as to what were the nature of the conditions which made the origin of life inevitable or even probable. The distribution of energy and of matter in past epochs may have been different; but if such conditions promoted the living organism, is it not spontaneous origins of these stages, strange that every attempt to represent physical events which produce them in the laboratory are so improbable that we cannot have completely failed?"

COLUMBUS WINS OPENING TILT

(Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 12.—Columbus took the measure of Minneapolis in the first game of the playoff for the American Association pennant here today, 6-2. The crowd, estimated at only 4,000, was held down by threatening weather. The Redbirds did not get going against the pitching of the veteran southpaw, Jess Petty, until the seventh inning when they knocked him from the box. Hilcher, who relieved Petty, followed him in the eighth, Tauscher going to the mound to finish the game.
