Barring A Catastrophe Dodgers Should Retain National League Pennant

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—The society of "finger filberts" held its first meeting of the season in its padded-cell club-rooms today and decided, that barring a catastrophe like the loss of Leo Durocher's voice, Brooklyn Dodgers are pretty close to a clinch to hang onto their National League pennant.

Since they disposed of the second-place St. Louis Cardinals two out of three in their just-concluded set, the Gowanus Bums now are sitting in a spot where, if they play only 500 ball the rest of the way home, the Cards would have to win 38 of their remaining 33 games to beat them. This is a .635 percentage, and since the Cardinals have turned in only a .625 mark so far this season, you can plainly see it looks like a bad case of St. Louis blues.

What's more, of the 56 games the Brooklynists still have to play, 21 are with the bewildered Bees and fuddle Phillies. And since the Flatbush fellows already have knocked off these two clubs 19 times against four losses, the doctor couldn't have prescribed a better treatment for the Bums. At the same time, the Cards still have 23 to go with Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, a pair of clubs that have whipped St. Louis 10 times while losing only 11 to the Cards.

Indians gain 4-3 victory Over Bosox

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—The Indians climbed back to a virtual tie with second-place Boston at Cleveland today by coming from behind to wallop the Red Sox 4-3, finishing the four-game series with an even break.

Mel Harder, trying for his ninth victory in 17 starts, won his own ball game in the seventh inning with a single good for two runs. Oscar Judd of Ingersoll, Ont., suffered his eighth defeat against seven victories. Cleveland and Boston trail New York by 13 games, but the Sox hold an edge of three percentage points.

Minor leagues May fold up By next year

By Whitney Martin
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, July 30 (AP)—This is a periodic report of the progress or lack of it, of minor league baseball under the present difficult circumstances. The outlook is dreary for many more periodic reports, particularly next year, as there is more than a slight chance there won't be anything to report.

One final report on a dead pigeon is enough, and it doesn't do any good to report the pigeon is and so on, then exceedingly dead.

Not that there is no chance for minor league ball by next year. The higher-classification minors, in fact, might get along all right. But the lower-classification leagues face dark days.

Thirty-one minor leagues started the season this year, and five of them—the California, West Texas-New Mexico, Evangeline, Kitty and Florida East Coast—have called it a day. That leaves 26, some of which have lost a team or two but are struggling along with great determination.

Various factors enter into the bleak outlook. Transportation, for instance, then there is the expected player shortage next year, with the prospect that married men, lads of 17 or so, and young men with physical defects which bar them from the armed services will make up the club rosters, if any.

Probably one of the most important factors of all is the shifting population, with towns which formerly supported ball clubs dwindling in size as their citizens drift to war work in other cities.

Tigers Split With A's

At Detroit, the Tigers staged a six-run eighth-inning rally to defeat Philadelphia Athletics 11-5 in the opener of a doubleheader, but the Macks took the nightcap, 7-5 on high relief pitching by Roger Wolff. Detroit clinched the series, however, two games to one, in its first in a month.

Navy edge Army 8-7

A first inning scoring spurge which netted them six runs carried the Navy boys through to an 8-7 win over the Army in a closely contested game at Halifax.

The encounter was a regular City Softball League fixture and was played before a large crowd of fans at Victoria Park.

The first game was to send two runners across the plate but this was duplicated in the second by the Sailors who scored two runs to run their total up to eight.

However the Army appeared to have shot their bolt in these two opening innings. From then on the Army held them scoreless while steadily adding to the total. Going into the last frame the soldiers were trailing by only one point and were threatening to tie it up or probably win last minute victory.

But a double play by the Sailors in the last half of the ninth killed their hopes. With one man out and a man on third an army batter came out to center field where Wiseman of the Navy handled it and threw it to the home plate before the man on third was able to get in.

The same Wiseman who was playing a clever game made a brilliant one-hand catch in left center field during the sixth frame.

The game was exciting all through and the last inning proved to be a fitting climax to the struggle. There was plenty of suspense as the soldiers came within inches of tying it up on several occasions only to be turned back by a clever trick on the part of the "Tara".

Nats Sweep Series With Browns

At St. Louis, just when the rejuvenated St. Louis Browns were beginning to look hopefully at second place in the American League, along came Washington Senators to knock them off three times in a row, winning today's final game of the series 11-6.

A four-run rally after two were out in the fifth inning, accomplished on three hits, three walks and a wild pitch, gave them sufficient margin although they added three more tallies for good measure in the eighth and ninth innings.

Issues Warning Against Rumors

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP)—Commissioner S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police issued a statement today in which he said vicious and harmful stories are being circulated in Canada by disloyal or subversive persons and he is convinced the rumors are part of an enemy whispering campaign aimed at injuring the dominion's war effort.

The statement:—The circulation of rumors throughout Canada is increasing and has already reached a point that convinces me that many of the vicious and harmful stories form part of an enemy whispering campaign aimed at injuring Canada's war effort.

In several instances identical stories have been circulated in the U.S.A. and in Canada. Many of these rumors are the same as those circulated in various European countries as part of Hitler's preliminary softening up and in order to cause distrust and dissatisfaction and thereby weaken resistance.

Frequently these rumors are started by propaganda broadcasts originating in enemy countries and are circulated in the early stages by disloyal or subversive persons.

"Daily with such persons is, of course, a job for the police and intelligence services, but it would be impossible for these rumors to achieve their present wide circulation if loyal citizens did not unwittingly assist."

Pouliot-Ralston Feud Renewed In House Of Commons

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP)—J. Francois Pouliot (Lib. Temiscouata) in the House of Commons today protested against being called "my honorable friend" by Defence Minister Ralston and charging that the program which will be revised tomorrow.

Mr. Pouliot rose to ask about a question which has stood in his name on the order paper since June 12. It asked information about the service age, origin and rank of army officers at Ottawa Defence Headquarters.

Mr. Pouliot said the Minister had declared much work was involved in answering the question. He expressed belief there should not be further delay in obtaining a reply.

Mr. Pouliot went on to speak of an editorial critical of himself which appeared in the Ottawa Journal and said it was evidently inspired by the defence department.

Col. Ralston rose to a point of order and said he had the right to discuss the question of whether the editorial had been inspired.

Mr. Pouliot said no other member had the right to interrupt him on a point of privilege, and Col. Ralston replied:—

"My honorable friend has no right to abuse people whose names are not on the record and who are not here to defend themselves."

"I am most dissatisfied when he calls me his friend," said Mr. Pouliot.

Col. Ralston started again with "my honorable friend," but Mr. Pouliot interrupted, "not."

"All right," said Col. Ralston. "I withdraw the charge. The honorable member for Temiscouata had no question of privilege. The question will be answered in the usual way and will take its turn."

The Minister said he did not regard the answer to the question as important as it had been inspired by anyone in the National Defence Department.

Robbery Trial

GRAND FALLS, N.B., July 30 (CP)—Preliminary hearing of Dams Beaulieu on a charge of robbery with violence was adjourned today until Saturday afternoon when the weakened condition of Louis Dube forced him to leave the witness stand. Dube, badly beaten by a robber Saturday night, returned to hospital after the adjournment.

Restaurant Fined

LONDON (CP)—In the first prosecution for infringement of rules regulating restaurant prices Mario Taborelli was fined $40 and costs because he raised his charge for a cup of coffee from about 15 cents to 30 cents and made a house (cover) charge when he had no licence to do so.

Government Urged To Hold Conference On Liquor Problem

OTTAWA, July 30 (CP)—Senator Iva Falls (Con. Ontario) tonight called on the Dominion Government to hold a conference of provincial liquor control authorities and launch a temperance campaign to reduce expenditures on alcoholic beverages.

Senator Falls, submitting a four-point program for reduced consumption of alcoholic drinks, launched a debate in which Senator F. P. Quinn (Con. Nova Scotia) said excessive drinking among members of the armed forces was a serious matter.

Senator J. H. King, Government Senate leader, suggested temperance organizations should reintroduce the organization of old-fashioned temperance lodges to carry on educational work.

Senator Falls spoke on second reading of a bill to amend the excise act increasing duties on liquor and malt. The bill was later given third reading and passed.

She said increasing sales of alcoholic beverages was a matter of growing concern. The Government had already acted to control the use of many commodities and she suggested the liquor industry had not been further controlled because of the revenue it produced for the Federal Treasury. It was becoming an accepted idea that Canada could drink her way to victory.

Senator Bruns (Lib. New Brunswick) endorsed the idea of an educational campaign but added it was difficult for the Dominion Government to invade what was primarily a provincial field.

Senator A. L. Beaubien (Lib. Manitoba) said unless people were educated to temperance any Government action would only create a new and more serious problem.

Senator W. E. Foster (Lib. New Brunswick) supported Senator Bruns' proposal for a provincial conference.

Senator Quinn said he was concerned about consumption of alcoholic beverages in the armed forces.

"It looks to me as though as soon as a man dons a uniform the first thing he must learn is how to drink a whisky and soda," he said.

On trains he had seen members of the armed forces in "drinking orgies."

Senator King said he doubted whether the Dominion Govern-

Poignant Term Becomes Title of Vivid Film

By ALAN RANDAL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, July 30 (CP)—"The Next of Kin" has been informed. Through the medium of movie film these words, made known by so many official war communiques, have been turned into Britain's most forceful warning against careless talk. From them came the title for the film, "The Next of Kin," acclaimed by critics as the best war film they have ever seen.

Originally intended only as a training movie for commando troops, "The Next of Kin" now is being released to the public after prolonged discussions between the War Office and the Ministry of Information.

The story is told with stark realism; somebody talked—just a word here, a word there; but it was enough to give the enemy advance information. Then, on the coast of France, hundreds of brave Britons died needlessly.

It is a full-length movie, dramatic but simply done, packed with action, and so realistic that one officer who saw it remarked, "Everyone who sees it knows in his heart that at some time or another he has talked too much—but never again."

No visitors were allowed on the set during production and everybody concerned from Producer Michael Balcon down, was sworn to secrecy. The pictures of the raid itself were filmed in Cornwall.

There'd be less anxiety among mature women about the competition of only youthful faces. However, certain deep lines do reveal age and also the fact that a woman is "old" before her time. If she has deep tracks from nose to mouth, she may have a third die beyond the years when wrinkles, crow's feet, and saggng caulis overtake careless people.

Lines are no unmitigated affliction; they do not all shut age. The face without a line, even face is hardly worth a second look, because it does tell something boring about the person.

It says its owner has had precious little experience of living, and hence possesses strictly limited human sympathies. If this fact were more widely appreciated,

CANADA CALLS HER WOMANHOOD

Immediate need of the Canadian Women's Army Corps for recruits to help release able-bodied soldiers for combatant duty is graphically portrayed in this picture of Private Isabel Smith, 204 Patterson Avenue, Ottawa, examining a poster showing a "Lady in Khaki" marching "shoulder to shoulder" alongside a "Gentleman in Battle Dress."

The story begins with the dispatch of two German agents to Britain to investigate special training of men for raids abroad. One is caught, but when the picture reveals age and also the fact that a woman is "old" before her time. LINES SHOW CHARACTER

The idea that life really begins at forty has been making a lot of headway in recent years, but still there's need to emphasize that women needn't "settle" when they're in middle age.

Nowadays a woman is as young as she feels and looks. She can feel young almost indefinitely! And if she really cares how she looks, she can do it.
