What is NOT Advertising
 Advertising is a definite part of the business.
 What is charged to the account should be real advertising—what the advertiser pays for is the service of the advertiser.
 A writer in former's ink has free goods, announcements in plain and basal programs, and donations to charitable, religious and fraternal organizations. The advertiser should be in the advertising business, count, although too frequently put there.

GRAND JURY ALARMED AT PREVALENCE OF HOME BREW

They Express Pleasure However at Report of Kings County Jail Conditions, There Being no Prisoners.

The February term of the Supreme Court closed at Georgetown this week, there being only one jury case on the docket, in addition to two non-contested cases and one appeal case. The report of the Grand Jury was as follows:
 To the Hon. Aubin E. Arsenault, Assistant Judge Supreme Court. May it please your Lordship: We, your Grand Jury are very much pleased indeed to learn from your Lordship of the absence of crime in our country and that there are at present no prisoners in our jail. This is a very pleasing fact, and makes us feel proud that we are citizens of King's County.

We have visited the Jail and find it to be in first class condition, a credit to the keeper. We are informed that the old Jail property consisting of six town lots owned by the Government is now being used by private parties. We would suggest that this property be utilized as a jail garden where prisoners may be employed during the summer months. We find on investigation that the roof of the Court House is in bad condition and needs immediate repair, otherwise great damage may be done to the building. We would also recommend that electric lighting be put in the Jail. This can be installed with very little cost and will be a great benefit, as well as being much safer than oil lamps.

Notwithstanding the absence of crime in this County referred to above we regret to say we view with alarm the prevalence of "Home Brewing" in defiance of the Excise and Prohibition regulations and the apparent lack of effort to enforce laws relating to this evil; and we hereby recommend greater vigilance on the part of those charged with their enforcement. We have as instructed appointed constables and fence viewers for the present year, a list of which is hereby annexed. Court House, Georgetown, Feb. 27th A. D., 1923.

An appeal case of A. J. Fraser vs. Alex. McLean from judgment of J. P. was adjourned to Queen's County Supreme Court sitting, Tuesday, March 6th. Two non-contested cases were set down for Wednesday. The Court adjourned sine die.

CANADA DOES NOT BENEFIT MATERIALLY BY NEW TREATY WITH FRANCE

Full Report of Discussion in the House of Commons. Mr. Meighen and Henry Drayton Show That Canada Loses Rather Than Gains by the Fielding-La-Pointe $20,000 Convention.

 Mr. FIELDING: Yes, my hon. friend complained that we are going to reduce the duty on woolen goods.

Mr. FIELDING: Does my hon. friend think we should have reduced the duty on woolen goods to a lower figure?

Mr. FIELDING: We are not dealing with the general rate at all; we are dealing with a treaty with France. I understand that my hon. friend is complaining that we reduce the rate on luxuries, and I say that unless you make some concession on those luxuries which France produces, you cannot make a treaty. My hon. friend says that is a fact, and that in fact, the duty on luxuries has been reduced. I should like him to face this question squarely—If he concedes that we have not reduced the duty on wool, does he think we should reduce the duty on wool to a lower rate?

Mr. FIELDING: We are not prepared to take today. The world has moved. In that respect my hon. friend had to admit that the minimum tariff could not be maintained in regard to some things, and we have had to make the same admission.

Mr. FIELDING: I am afraid my hon. friend's answer is not convincing; but if he wants a discussion on the question of destroying industries of this country; if he wants a comparison between the condition of Canada under a Liberal administration and the condition when the Conservatives were in power, he will take up the subject, although the comparison may not be to his liking as regards the story of the destroying the industries of the country. I do not want to go into the past; but my hon. friend almost tempts me. Has he forgotten the picture presented by Sir Charles Tupper when he spoke of the sorrowful wail of the manufacturers of Toronto and Montreal arising up to protest against the tariff? He is repeating these today about destroying the industries of the country.

Mr. FIELDING: I really must ask my hon. friend not to put words into my mouth. What I said to my hon. friend is this—and I want him to correct me at once if I am wrong—under his original British preference he put in a rate in connection with wool in favor of Great Britain, which rate he himself increased afterwards because he found that the woolen industry in this country was being hurt.

Mr. FIELDING: If my hon. friend means that if I find a defect in the tariff I am willing to correct it, I plead guilty at once.

Mr. FIELDING: And cover it up.

Mr. FIELDING: And cover it up all right. My hon. friend then pointed out that under the former treaty some articles were under the minimum tariff, and he said: "But the officials will now combine forces to suppress illegal liquor dealing."

Mr. FIELDING: I should like to ask my hon. friend a question and if he has not the information today, he can give it to us later. Can he say what countries under the "most favored nation" clause will secure the privileges that are

Mr. FIELDING: On luxuries.

Mr. FIELDING: By reducing the duty on articles which the Canadian people want to receive, I do not mind making a reduction of that kind when the revenue will stand it, and when it will not hurt our own industries. That is in line with the long declared policy of our government.

Mr. STEVENS: I should like to ask my hon. friend a question and if he has not the information today, he can give it to us later. Can he say what countries under the "most favored nation" clause will secure the privileges that are

MAN BADLY INJURED AT SCOTCHFORTH STATION

Mr. Jos. Bambrick of Montreal Victim of Bad Accident While Attempting to Cross Railway Track Ahead of Train. Remains Unconscious in City Hospital With Broken Leg and Other Severe Injuries.

A very bad accident occurred on the railway track at Scotchfort station last evening when in crossing the track before the approaching train, Mr. Joseph Bambrick, of Montreal, a mining engineer who was returning this morning to the mainland after a visit to relatives at Scotchfort, was struck by the engine and thrown unconscious upon the bank.

The train was slowing past the station at the time, which was about 5:15 p.m., and the accident occurred so quickly even to attempt a rescue. The train was immediately stopped and the unfortunate man, bleeding from several wounds and still unconscious was picked up.

The train, which was considerably late at Scotchfort, stopped for no freight, but made fast time to Charlottetown, arriving at 5:50 p.m. The injured man was at once conveyed in Mr. A. A. Hennessey's ambulance to the City Hospital, where prompt surgical attention was given.

At a late hour last night the condition of Mr. Bambrick remained very serious. He was still totally unconscious from the shock. He has a bad wound in the foot, one leg fractured near the knee joint, severe wounds about the head and a bad gash under the right eye.

Just how the accident occurred is not known, but it appears either he did not see or hear the approaching train, or miscalculated the distance. He had been waiting at the station to board the train, and had started to cross to the other side of the track when struck by the side of the engine.

Bad for the Creditors of Insolvent Winnipeg Concern

WINNIPEG, Mar. 2.—There were revelations for the 1,800 creditors of the insolvent Dominion Ticket and Financial Corporation, a private bank, yesterday, when a statement of its affairs was issued by the trustees. A total of $295,299 is due depositors, chief of whom are the St. Joseph's Catholic parish, Archbishop Alameda Sirooni, Jacob J. Dyck, of Plum Coulee, Man, and the Dominion Express Company, who took criminal action against the president, Augustine F. Schimowski, who is now out on $35,000 bail. This individual was present at the afternoon meeting, but his replies to questions were quite perfunctory and did not improve the very dark prospect for creditors. The statement of the official trustees, the Traders' Trust Company, was read and explained in English, Jewish, Ukrainian, Polish and German.

A committee of twenty was appointed whose duty it will be to examine with the trustees, the assets of the defunct corporation and report back to the general meeting called for March 13th.
