Clean, Sanitary Bedding
ESSENTIAL to Good Health

THE use of infected and unsanitary mattresses is a menace to health, and many prominent medical men state that infected mattresses should be either thoroughly sterilized or destroyed.

Every precaution should be taken to safeguard our health, particularly at this time, when so many homes have suffered from the recent Spanish influenza epidemic. Many people have considered it advisable to destroy their old mattresses and not risk any possibility of infection.

How important it is then, in view of the recent "flu" epidemic to say nothing of contagious disease always present, that a law prohibiting the use of materials from discarded mattresses and other equally questionable sources, should be promptly put into effect.

Until the passing of such a law, one effective precaution is to ask your dealer for Alaska Guaranteed Bedding which is manufactured under a self-maintained standard fully as high as the strict laws now in force in other countries.

At a largely attended meeting of representative citizens held in the Legislative Council Chamber yesterday afternoon Major Kennedy of the Aircraft Manufacturing Co. of London England, gave a lucid and most interesting talk on aircraft and its prospective benefits to Prince Edward Island if adopted here. Major Kennedy was perfectly at home on the subject being conversant with all styles and makes of aeroplanes, their use and their possibilities. He expressed unbounded faith in the future of the aeroplane as a commercial factor instancing a number of well established and successful air routes already in existence particularly in Europe. It is unquestionably the method of transport of the future. Germany already has three aerial routes in operation. Austria Hungary has several postal and express routes. France has three inland routes, one to Corcica and the recently inaugurated Paris—London Civil Aerial Post. Italy has a successful service. In the United States there are four aerial routes laid out across the country, while Great Britain has a number of routes in successful and regular operation. With the development of the system in the United States a business man can send a package or a document to the Pacific Coast and return in 56 hours.

Major Kennedy, after these preliminary remarks outlined a proposition which, if adopted, would be of immense benifit to Prince Edward Island. It would in the first place enable the Dominion Government to fulfill one of the principal terms of confederation —namely continuous communication with the mainland. With such an equipment as he proposed it was quite possible to go from Charlottetown to Elmira in 45 minutes, to Tignish in one hour and 30 minutes, to Moncton in one hour and 15 minutes, to Halifax in two hours and 30 minutes. The All Red Line from Newfoundland to Vancouver, completing the trans-Atlantic line from Great Brtain, crosses P. E. Island, and this province would be a stopping place if aerodromes and services are available.

After a general discussion and numerous questions, all of which were satisfactorily answered by Major Kennedy it was, on motion decided to organize a company with a subscribed capital of $250,000, about one half of which would be on immediate call. The following Provisional Directors were appointed: J. O. Hyndman, John Agnew, R. E. Mutch, J. A. Messervey Mayor Wright and Premier Arsenault By a standing vote the meeting unanimously agreed to support the proposition while Mr Donald Nicholson, M.P., to show his complete sympathy with and his faith in the proposition subscribed for one hundred shares in the undertaking the shares being placed at $10 each.

Premier Arsenault presided and both in opening and closing the meeting expressed the opinion that aircraft would be a strong factor in the trade of the not disant future. He fully endorsed the proposition and promised it his support.

The Provisional committee met at 3 o'clock in the office of His Worship the Mayor and completed their organization by appointing His Worship Mayor Wright President and Mr. J. A. Messervey Secretary.

Major Kennedy leaves this morning on return to Ottawa.

DEBATING SOCIETY.—The most interesting and lively debate of the St. Dunstan's University, Junior Debating Society took place Wednesday night, Dec. 11th with the vice-president in the chair. The subject up for discussion was "Resolved that the pen is mightier than the sword." The speeches made by the two leaders Mr. James Cabe and Mr. Thomas Stapelton were both forceful and to the point. As the debate was free many of the members took part in the discussion and many good arguments were brought forth both for and against the resolution. The speakers on the con side fought hard to win,but in vain for the vote taken in the end resulted in a glorious victory for the pro's—the vote being 44 for the resolution and 11 against it.

TO MEET RETURNING MEN — At a special meeting of the Knights of Columbus on Monday night Rev Maurice McDonald and Mr. P. S. Brown were appointed delegates from the Order to meet all returned soldiers at Sackville and to see that proper provision be made for them on the steamer crossing to the Island and upon their arrival in Summerside and Charlottetown. The League of the Cross Band, through their captain, also kindly offered their services free for all receptions to the returned soldiers, which offer was thankfully accepted.

beautiful and costly presents received is an indication of the popularity of the newly wedded couple. In the evening a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the friends of the contracting party assembled to offer their congratulations to the happy couple. The evening was very pleasantly spent in music, song and dancing. When all had thoroughly enjoyed themselves they retired to their homes wishing Mr. and Mrs. Hughes a long and happy wedded life.

THURSDAY

It was with a sense of profound regret that citizens learned yesterday morning of the death of Mr. Charles Lyons—one of the best citizens that Charlottetown ever had. His death occurred about 5 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Lyons had been in ill-health for a considerable time but it was only during the last ten days that his illness assumed the critical stages which culminated in his death.

The greatest of all virtues is charity and it is nothing more than the truth to say that the late Mr. Lyons possessed this blessed asset to a degree that was exceptional. The poor of Charlottetown have lost a friend indeed, for it was among them that his generosity was most known. His charity was of the genuine type—that kind which is aptly described as "not letting the left hand know what the right hand doeth." Wherever he knew of the existence of cold, hunger or want among our people Mr. Lyons never hesitated and hundreds of loads of coal and provisions found their way into the homes of the destitute of which nobody but those concerned knew anything. He shrunk from publicity in all such matters and when he contributed to worthy objects it was generally on the understanding that his name should not appear.

He was a man of his word in all things and when a promise had been made by him in anything he could be depended upon to carry it out to the last. Warm hearted, generous and friendly where friendship was deserved he made numerous friends and his life was an inspiration.

Mr. Lyons was born at Covehead sixty-five years ago. When but a youth he came to Charlottetown and entered the employ of Peake Bros & Co., and thirty-six years ago he started in business for himself establishing a coal business which he conducted with success.

The late Mr. Lyons took a deep interest in public affairs and was especially interested in the advancement of Charlottetown. In 1898 he was elected Councillor for Ward 1 and represented it continuously from that year until 1903. In 1912 yielding to the solicitations of numerous friends he consented to allow his name to go before the citizens as a candidate for the mayoralty and his election to the position of first magistrate of the city resulted, which office he held until the expiration of his term in 1914. As Mayor of the city Mr. Lyons upheld the position with credit to himself and the city and had he desired to accept the office for a second term there is little doubt but that he could easily have succeeded in again filling the chair.

Mr. Lyons was an able platform speaker and this, with his grasp of public questions caused him to be urged on more than one occasion to offer himself as a candidate for the House of Commons which honor however he always declined.

There are to mourn their loss and cherish his memory his widow, (who was Miss Nellie Murphy of England) and two daughters, Misses Louise and Nora; also two sisters, Mrs. Vogel of Quincey, Mass., and Mrs. Pierce of Milton, Mass., to whom the sincere sympathy of the community will be extended. The funeral takes place Friday morning at 8.45 from his late home, Fitzroy St.
