FINANCE

By Frederick Gardner
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—Buying in rails dominated the security markets today and set the example for a mild rally in stocks.

Small recessions among Canadian issues were registered by Dome and Lake Shore Mines and International Nickel. Walkers and Hollinger were steady.

Santa Fe extended previous gains nearly a point, closing at 23 7-8. Atlantic Coast Line was up 1 3-8 at 16 1-2. Southern Pacific rose 5-8 to 10 1-4.

United States recovered 1 1-4 to 66 3-4 as many traders, impressed by the action of the rails, climbed aboard for a general rally. Most prominent shares finished fractions to about a point higher, including Bethlehem, Du Pont, Phelps Dodge, Texas Corp., Chrysler, Consolidated Edison, Westinghouse and American Telephone.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks advanced .2 at 43.7, the first upturn after nine straight declines or unchanged figures. Transactions amounted to 529,790 shares against 577,990 the previous day.

"TIP-AND-RUN" RAIDS

MANCHESTER —(CP)—The Guardian, describing German raids on Britain, said "low-flying raiders carried out 'tip-and-run' raids."

Women and girls fainted and hundreds of London passengers were delayed when a fuse in an Oxford, Eng., subway train blew. Flashes and clouds of smoke rose from the train but there was no fire.

Currencies

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(CP)—The Canadian dollar weakened further on the free foreign exchange market today on the heels of yesterday's 1 1-2-cent break.

The Dominion unit closed 7-8 of a cent lower at 82 5-8 cents, the lowest price in months. Brokers said the decline was due largely to the sudden appearance of small selling orders in a thin market.

(Ottawa Foreign Exchange Control Board rate 9.09—9.91 per cent discount.)

The pound Sterling closed unchanged at $4.03 1-2 for open market cables.

Ancient Greece Lives Again

"Estia" (The Hearth), Greek-language monthly magazine, Montreal:

Every Greek soul is now experiencing a mental commotion, a shock which conjures ancient horizons, the epoch when the Creator of the Universe and the mother of civilization and liberty had established the only forces that were spreading splendid virtues and truths all over the world; the epoch in which God gave to Greece the flame of knowledge and the privileges of freedom, civilization and fortitude and self-sacrifice. And on bent knees we blessed the moment when it pleased God —the great God of Hellas — to decide that the Greek homeland should take part in the holy struggle for the freedom of nations and for the preservation of human civilization, the holy struggle which Great Britain and her people are pursuing with admirable heroism, the holy struggle which that glorious nation, the United States, is supporting in a spirit of sacrifice.

Ancient times have risen again. The old war cry of the fighters of Marathon now alternates with another call which re-echoes from one corner of the globe to the other: Long Live Greece.

NEW SOCIAL ORDER

"Budutchnist Natsiyi" (Future of the Nation), Ukrainian semi-monthly, Yorkton, Saskatchewan:

One thing is certain in the present war, namely that along with the military struggle a no less bitter struggle of ideas is going on in the world. On one side we see the pagan idea of materialism, of the brutal force of fists, with all the consequence of social injustice, as presented by the totalitarian nations; on the other side there is the democratic idea of Great Britain and the United States, announcing freedom of nations and social justice for all, leaning upon the Christian moral law as the corner-stone of the new social order of the world. And it will be the victory of one or the other idea and not that of arms that will decide the future shape of things.

We do not doubt for a moment that the present war will bring with it a new social order. No nation or country, including Canada and the United States, will be able to evade this problem.

FAITHFUL TO CANADA

"Der Courier," German language weekly, Regina, Saskatchewan:

We wish to be faithful to the land of our adoption. When we became citizens of Canada, we took an oath of loyalty to Canada's flag; and we wish to be loyal to this Canadian flag not only in fair weather and quiet days but in times of storm, of the greatest difficulty and of strife. Our loyalty ought to be no light of a moment, flaring up in good times then expiring in adversity and the necessities of war. Our loyalty must be firm and strong. It must be constant. In these grave days of war, we must, as loyal Canadian citizens, be ready for any contribution. If need be, we must sacrifice our life and our property in defence of our country which, by the side of Great Britain, is fighting so difficult a battle for the upholding of democracy and the maintenance of the freedom which we in Canada enjoy.

CANADA FINDS NEW WAR USES FOR PAINT

Canada has found new uses for paint in its national research council laboratories at Ottawa and among paint manufacturers. While most of the new war uses are secret and are not being divulged, it has been made known that a non-skid paint has been developed for field gun platforms, that a green paint has been developed which will turn a brilliant red when exposed to poisonous gas. This green paint is daubed on arm bands for wear by soldiers, on army trucks, on paper squares, wherever it may be used to detect poison gas when that is used in warfare.

At the Ottawa laboratories is a "weatherometer," a circular compass which subjects paint to ultra violet rays of the sun and to a constant stream of water. This machine speeds six-fold the ordinary testing of commercial paints used on war equipment.

Paint manufacture in Canada is a $25,000,000 industry, and its researchers are now engaged on improving paints now used for war industries, such as dope for airplane fabrics, as part of the war research effort of the Canadian government and Canadian industry.

Balaclava helmets and woollen gloves, scarves and waistcoats are among the southern idea of "comforts" for the troops at Darwin, Australia, where the winter temperature never falls below 80 degrees.

"Bomb sales" of materials damaged during air raids are held in London.

Attention Farmers Near Charlottetown

Arrangements have finally been reached whereupon the Potato shed on the Railway wharf will be kept open and heat applied for the duration of the cold weather. That means we will be buying daily Certified Seed, Table Stock and Turnips. In the past years during the severe cold weather, we could only accept from the farmers a limited amount of supplies in accordance with our limited space in the warehouse.

Due to severe cold weather and tie-up from snow, we are very short of Turnips and Potatoes. I strongly recommend growers near Charlottetown to take advantage of our present situation as I doubt very much, when weather conditions permit the usual flow of Potatoes, that prices will be as high as today's.

Kindly keep in touch with the office.

Police Find Elusive Radio Station on Wheels After Many Attempts

Built into the body of this old model car, which police have seized, was a radio transmitting station capable of transmitting over a radius of 1,000 miles. The car was traced to a Toronto garage after a month's work by city R.C.M.P. and provincial police.

Police are holding Allan B. Parsons, alias James Carlyle, an unemployed radio mechanic. When they raided his room in Toronto, he allegedly tried to fight his way through, striking one officer on the head with a flashlight. The transmitting box with controls (LOWER LEFT), was set up on the rear seat of the car, the set's special generator being fixed into the engine as shown in (LOWER CENTRE). The engine, police say, drove the generator. A short wave receiving set and large quantities of aerial wire and other radio supplies (LOWER RIGHT) were seized in the radio on the accused room.

Complaints from radio fans all over Ontario that a station, identifying itself as CPC, was broadcasting anti-British and Communist propaganda nightly, started police on the track. Tied about the rear bumper of the car were wires, and axe, shovel and other equipment allegedly used in setting up a broadcasting station in lonely country fields.

RADIO SUSPECT

Following the seizure of a travelling radio transmitting station ingeniously constructed in the body of an old model automobile, R.C.M.P. headquarters at Toronto announced that they are holding Allan B. Parsons, 26, alias James Carlyle. They described Parsons as an unemployed radio mechanic, a native of Toronto, who recently returned from Schumacher, Ont. He is charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations.

Lady Luck Two-Faced Wench To Lobstermen

Dame Fortune sometimse plays favourites among fishermen, as well as among other people. Take, for instance, the way she treated lobster fishermen recently in one western Nova Scotia county as contrasted with the behaviour toward others in a nearby district.

In both areas the lobster fishing season re-opened at the first of December. Here's what happened in the first week in the county where Lady Luck was smiling, as reported to the Dominion Department of Fisheries by its resident inspector:

"The lobster fishermen have landed more lobsters in one week than I have ever known. For example, one boat, with two men, fishing from Monday morning until 3 o'clock Saturday, landed 3,200 pounds. Price at 15 cents."

And here's what happened in the second area, not far away, when Fortune didn't smile, and again the information is taken from an inspector's report to the department: "The lobster boats had difficulty in getting their traps set and only a small percentage of the traps had been placed on the fishing grounds at the end of the week."

Perhaps, and indeed probably, there were just as many lobsters on the fishing grounds in the second area as there were in the first but the weather was good in the one district and unfavorable in the other. That's one of the gambles in the fishing industry, and a very big one. There is no industry more at the mercy of the Weather God's whims and tantrums. Fishermen's earnings, scarcity or abundance of supplies on the fish markets, price to consumers as supply fluctuates — all these things may depend in large measure upon how the weather behaves. It's a point for people outside the fishing industry to keep in mind. Indeed, they might also keep it in mind that sometimes it is not only the fishermen's earnings which are put in jeopardy by the weather; sometimes it is the fishermen's lives which are at risk.

Fisheries inspectors of the Dominion Department of Fisheries on the Atlantic coast made a total of 7,325 visits for inspections of fish and fish containers during 1939. The inspectors also made 4,635 visits for educational purposes imparting information to fishermen and fish processers.

FEEDING TREES

Try giving your shrubs and trees a little fertilizer this fall or early next spring. You will find it pays well in added vigor and more bloom. When applying plant food keep in mind the fact that 90 per cent of the feeding roots or most trees lie within the first 18 inches of the soil, and with most shrubs nearly all roots lie within the first 10 inches or so. Fertilizer should be raked in a few inches deep so that they will be more easily available.

Good manure is best if obtainable. For shrubs it may be spread around the bush out to the limit of the branches. For trees it should be spread about under the tips of the branches as it is here that the feeding roots of most trees are situated.

For deciduous shrubs and small trees, superphosphate at the rate of ten pounds per 100 square feet may be used alone or with the manure, which should be well rotted. For specimen shrubs two pounds may be used per plant. The quantity may also be divided and applied twice in a season.
