Miss Myrtle Pearson, who leaves here this morning with her parents for Vancouver, has just been graduated from the Shorthand department of the Charlottetown Business College. Miss Pearson is not only an expert shorthand writer and typist,—graduated with one hundred and twenty-five words per minute in shorthand, and thirty words per minute in extending her notes,—but she has also acquired a proficient knowledge of the science of accounts, being a short term graduate of the above named institution. For a young lady of scarcely fifteen summers this is a remarkable record, coming as it does from an institution where every mark must be earned. The Guardian extends congratulations, and wishes the brilliant young lady continued success.

An excellent concert was held in Craignap Hall, Thursday evening last under the auspices of St John's Church. The program was as follows: Quartette by Dr's Houston, Black, Boyer and Mr. Venning (encored); Reading by Leslie Adams; Solo by Elsie Howa; Reading by Miss Ruth Crosby; Duet by Miss McIntosh and Major McIntosh (encored); Solo by Miss Whynt, Chorus by members of St John's Choir. Duet by Miss Whynt and Major McIntosh. At the intermission a number of baskets were disposed of at a price that did credit alike to the abilities of auctioneer, David S. McQuarrie, and to the devotion of the young men at the shrine of beauty and worth. In the afternoon and evening the Ladies' Aid held a sale of needlework. In all the handsome sum of nearly $85 was realized.

 to have your eyes examined every little while. In olden times eye glasses had only one use—to assist the old folks in reading or seeing. Nowadays we lead more strenuous lives and the eyes suffer in consequence. Near-sightedness, Neuralgia, headaches and many other afflictions are promptly relieved by properly fitted glasses.—We test your eyes free and sell only such glasses as we can recommend.
